THREE BATS BROKE UP CHURCH OFFICIALS' MEETING

CHESTER, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Three bats tonight broke up an official meeting in the South Chester Methodist Episcopal church. There was a great deal of important business to be transacted by the officials and the pastor, the Rev. S. W. Smith. Parliamentary practice was forgotten and Samuel B. Pennington, one of the stewards, brought one of the bats down with a chair. When the third flew in the members gave up the fight, adjourned and turned out the lights.

SMOKE DROVE RESCUERS BACK

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

Paris, Aug. 11.—Paris is appalled. That is the only word that can describe the feeling among the population caused by the terrible catastrophe that happened on Monday night. About half past seven o'clock at night two trains traveling on the No. 2 line of the Metropolitan Underground railway, running from the Etoile to the Place de la Nation along the exterior boulevards, caught fire. They were each composed of eight cars crowded with passengers, but these managed to escape. Then a third train came along and dashed into the smoke. In endeavoring to escape more than four score were suffocated.

ENGINEER TO BLAME, SAYS ROAD DIRECTOR

PARIS, Aug. 11.—(Special Cable.)—M. Vignes, one of the directors of the Metropolitan, said:

"I regret to state that the catastrophe was entirely the fault of the driver, George Chauvin of train 43, one of our oldest and most devoted employes. At the Barber station a short circuit occurred in his motor. Instead of isolating the damaged motor, he merely employed an extinguisher, believing this would suffice to stop the conflagration."

Chauvin, who was badly burned, related to the police commissary a detail which shows that the motor of the cab that caught fire was defective. He said: "At noon my train was sidetracked because the compressor which works the compressed airbrake was out of order."

The portion of the underground line extending from Pere la Chaise to Belleville comprises two immediate stations, Menil Montant and Les Couronnes. Train No. 43, consisting of eight cars, coming from the Porte Dauphin and going toward the Place de la Nation, stopped at the Boulevard Barbes owing to a slight accident to a motor and the passengers alighted. Then No. 52 arrived. Its passengers were also landed. The two trains were then coupled and No. 52 pushed No. 53 along toward the workshops. No stops were made at Combat and Belleville, but at Les Couronnes the driver slowed down.

Fire Is Discovered.

The station master there noticed small jets of flame arising from beneath the carriages and catching the bottoms of the doors. He shouted to the driver. Stop. You will not have time to reach your destination."

"No," answered the drive, "we shall get there all right." The two trains then proceeded into the tunnel, the officials shutting the doors. Suddenly, as the first carriage was drawing into Menil Montant station, a violent explosion occurred. A blue fire flashed between the carriage containing the motors and the next one. In a few minutes the whole 16 carriages were a sheet of electric fire. The officials jumped on the rails and fled toward the station. They were just in time, as the flames already reached the roof and walls of the tunnel. The electric wires were fizzling and the tunnel, except for the flames, was in darkness. Thick smoke had also rolled toward the stations.

While the two trains were burning, a train approached from the Pere la Chaise station. The officials at Menil Montant warned the driver of the danger, and he at once reversed and went back as quickly as possible, escaping with all the passengers. Meanwhile another train, No. 48, came up from Belleville behind the burning trains and stopped at Les Couronnes just as the smoke began to enter the station from the tunnel. Then the catastrophe occurred.

On seeing the smoke the passengers jumped on the platform and tried to make their way to the staircase at the end.

THE PRINCESS RADZIWILL RELEASED FROM PRISON

Only Served Part of Her Term at Cape Town for Alleged Forgery of the Late Cecil Rhodes' Name to Notes—Her Career.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cape Town, South Africa, Aug. 11.—Princess Radziwill, who was sentenced to two years' imprisonment by the supreme court April 30, 1902, for forgery in connection with notes purporting to have been indorsed by the late Cecil Rhodes, has been liberated from prison and has started for England.

The princess is the daughter of the Austrian Count Dympski, formerly one of the great landed proprietors of Galicia, where he possessed several great castles. He sought to have his daughter marry a wealthy manufacturer, but she eloped with Prince Radziwill on the eve of the day set for her marriage to the manufacturer.

Three years ago she appeared in London, lived in luxurious style and was apparently possessed of much wealth. One day it was reported that she had been robbed of thousands of dollars worth of jewels and there was a deal of trouble over the matter until it was discovered that they were paste and that the real jewels were in a safe place.

Subsequently she went to South Africa and attempted to float evidences of credit purporting to have been signed by Cecil Rhodes, but which were repudiated by him, and which led to several suits at Cape Town, finally culminating in her conviction.

Commenting upon her remarkable career at the time of her sentence the London papers generally attributed Cecil Rhodes' death to the worry which she had caused him, obliging him to return to South Africa in the hottest weather to fight the case.

LITTAUER GLOVE OF GOOD QUALITY

War Department Officials Surprised at Statement Made by Timothy Keck.

PRICES WERE SATISFACTORY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Aug. 11.—So direct and positive are the statements made by Timothy Keck in regard to Representative Littauer's interest in the army glove contracts, entirely independent of the Lyon transaction, on which an opinion from the attorney general has been asked, that they have made a distinct impression on war department officials.

It is only fair to state, however, that Mr. Keck's charges of conspiracy to keep the bidding high in the matter of gloves is a surprise to the officials of the quartermaster's office. One of them stated today:

"So far as I can remember there has been little or no complaint either of the manner in which the glove contracts have been filled or the price. In fact, I might further say from my own observation the quality of gloves furnished, whether they were manufactured by Littauer or not, have always come up to the contract mark. The price, too, has been satisfactory, and in many cases surprisingly low—lower, in fact, than we could get gloves by going into the market. However, if such a conspiracy exists, as charged by Keck, it is safe to assume that it will be unearthed."

It seems to be altogether probable that when the investigation by the war department is begun again the contracts of Daniel Hayes & Co. of Gloversville will receive attention.

PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATES INSTRUCTED FOR ROOSEVELT

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 11.—The Republican county convention today named a ticket. Congressman H. W. Palmer of this city, and Albert C. The little ones will be taken to Sea Grove, Staten Island, on August 26.

OPTIMISTIC ON STEEL OUTLOOK

President of Republic Company Confident of Continued Prosperity.

ORDERS ARE PLENTY

Says It's Wrong to Suppose Country's Welfare Rests Solely on Iron Industry.

VALUE OF OTHER PRODUCTS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 11.

Before leaving for Chicago, Alexis W. Thompson, president of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, submitted to an interview on the present condition of the trade:

"Some of the rumors circulated in the financial district in respect to the iron and steel industry," said Mr. Thompson, "are too ridiculous to warrant comment. The steel and iron industry is all right. It is true that business is not as brisk as a year ago, but there is nothing startling in this. The mills of the country have been running to the utmost of their capacity for three years, and a reaction is natural.

"No, I do not look for a prolonged depression in the iron and steel industry. It is true that certain mills have closed, but not on account of the demoralized business conditions. The mills have been running under such high tension that repairs are absolutely necessary. As business is not as pressing as a year ago this is the time for repairs. The shutting down of certain mills will tend to improve rather than to injure the situation. The mills of the country still have hundreds of thousands of tons of unfilled business on their books.

"Wall street knows little about the iron and steel industry. Some of the people who are bearing the steel stocks would not know a billet from a block of wood. If stock market fluctuations were based on actual conditions the steel stocks would be selling higher than a year ago.

"Too much stress is laid upon the steel industry as a factor in the country's affairs. Why, from what you hear in certain quarters, one would think that the very prosperity of the country rested on the steel and iron industry.

"The United States Steel Corporation last year manufactured something like 8,000,000 tons of finished steel, or fifty per cent of all the steel produced in the United States. Other concerns produced an equal amount, making a total of, say, 16,000,000 tons. Taking $35 a ton as a basis for finished steel, the production of the country last year can be valued at between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000. The corn crop, the wheat crop or the cotton crop each have a similar valuation. To go a little further, you might place a valuation of $500,000,000 on the eggs produced in a single year.

"I do not believe that iron and steel prices are too high. As an illustration, take a building erected several years ago. The iron and steel in it can now be sold as scrap at say, 50 per cent of the price paid for it in its original state. The same applies to everything that contains iron or steel.

"It is a safe prediction that the tendency of iron prices for the next 10 years will be upward instead of downward, due to the position of raw material. Our ore deposits in the state are not inexhaustible, although there is no danger of a shortage in ore supplies for the next 50 or 60 years."

Ammon Goes to Sing Sing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Col. Robert A. Ammon, the former Pittsburgh attorney, recently convicted on charges of receiving moneys he knew to have been stolen in connection with the Miller get-rich-quick syndicate, was today taken from the Tombs to Sing Sing. He will serve a sentence of not less than four years and four months and not more than four years and six months.

MOB SCATTERED BY POLICE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.

With all the fury of a southern mob an enraged crowd of nearly 300 persons held up and surrounded a trolley car in front of the Passyunk square at Thirteenth and Wharton streets tonight in an effort to capture and lynch John Thompson, a negro who, it is said, assaulted a white man.

It was only through the bravery displayed by the crew of fire truck No. 11, at Twelfth and Wharton streets, that the negro was saved from the fury of the mob. The firemen ran in a body across the open square in front of their house and fought their way to the heart of the mob. Then, after they had closed in on the negro, they fought their way back again and succeeded in reaching the fire station and closing the door, just in time to prevent the place being taken by storm.

The arrival of a patrol wagon filled with policemen caused the mob to break up and scatter.

Thompson, it is said, knocked down and beat a white man at Thirteenth and Ellsworth streets. He ran, followed by a shouting crowd. At Dickinson street the negro boarded a northbound Thirteenth street car. The crowd headed off the car just as the firemen arrived and rescued the fugitive. Thompson was removed to the police station in the patrol wagon.

KNOX AND FRICK VISIT PRESIDENT

Glove Contract Cases Considered by Roosevelt and the Attorney General.

AN APPRAISER IS APPOINTED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Oyster Bay, Aug. 11.—Attorney General Knox made a flying trip to Oyster Bay today. He had an hour's talk with the president and hurried again to New York. He was accompanied by H. C. Frick of Pittsburgh.

The most important subject discussed was the Littauer case. Official attention was attracted today by the long interview with Timothy Keck of Johnstown, N. Y., in which Mr. Keck alleged that Littauer had an interest in nearly all the glove contracts which had been let by the war department since he became a member of congress, and that Littauer had paid him $400 not to bid.

Attorney General Knox said the president asked him if he had read the papers which had been submitted to him by the secretary of war in the Littauer scandal, on which he is to give an opinion as to whether the government can recover the money Mr. Littauer received on the contracts of 1898, and he said they had not yet reached him. "I will examine them just as soon as they get to me," said Mr. Knox.

Mr. Knox is going to his summer home at Beverly, Mass. This was taken to indicate that there is nothing pressing in the various criminal cases which the government is prosecuting requiring his presence in Washington.

The president today tendered to Charles P. McClelland of West Chester county, N. Y., a membership on the board of general appraisers. Mr. McClelland is a Democrat and a member of the New York state senate from the Twenty-second district. The office carries with it a salary of $7,000.

MAYOR LOW INTERRUPTS PRIVATE TELEPHONE GRAFT

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Mayor Low was shocked today to find that enterprising individuals have been dropping in to the office of the city recorder and 'phoning to friends in various parts of the country. One message to Milwaukee cost the city $31. An effort is being made to find out who sent the long-distance message.

JORDAN CAUGHT IN MURDERTRAP

Cantrell Gang Killed Cripple and Sold His Corpse to College.

WAS HIDDEN WITNESS

Horrible Crime Described to Indianapolis Police by Man Who Saw It from Concealment.

SAW BODIES IN THE CELLAR

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Aug. 11.—With the entire detective force working in an effort to find witnesses and discover the whereabouts of principals and accessories in the wholesale murders exposed by Rufus Cantrell, further facts were unfolded today. The police discovered a witness, whose name they withhold, who recites in detail how Cantrell and Martin and their confederates murdered a man in cold blood. This witness, speechless with fear, was crouched in concealment in the yard and observed every movement of the murderers and overheard their conversation. Ed. Cousins, transfer man, who carried Jordan's body from the cellar of the rendezvous to the Indiana Dental college, where Cantrell sold the corpse, has also been found. The transfer was made at noon.

This unknown witness says: "I had been suspicious of Rufus Cantrell, Samuel Martin and others of this organization. I had evidence that they were murderers. They then lived on West North street. I went to this house on the day before the murder of Richard Jordan. I went to investigate the cellar of the house. I was convinced it hid the secret of some terrible crime. I had seen Cantrell go to the cellar with lime and disinfecting fluids and I had seen him scatter these in the cellar. I knew a great deal about Cantrell and his associates, because once Cantrell tried to murder me, but I feared to inform the police. I was certain that the cellar contained the body of a victim and I knew well just who that victim was. It was about September when I determined to investigate this cellar.

"While I was visiting in the North street house I saw certain things that made me certain that Cantrell and Martin were planning some crime to be committed that night. Therefore I was determined to postpone my investigation and await developments.

"When darkness fell a one-legged man named Richard Jordan came to the house. He said he was Cantrell's friend and he asked permission to rest in the kitchen. He said that Cantrell had directed him to go to the kitchen and await him there. He sat down in the yard. About 11 o'clock Cantrell came round the house and looked at Jordan. Martin came round the house a moment later, carrying in his hand a club. Cantrell said: 'Are you ready?' Martin made no answer, but he lifted the club and it fell on Jordan's head with a thud that sounded terrible in the darkness. I thought I should faint. I had intended to prevent the murder, but it was all over before I fairly realized it.

"Jordan fell to the ground. His muscles twitched. He groaned and murmured. Martin hit him three or four times. Cantrell said: 'This won't do; get him down in the cellar.' He and Martin lifted the body and threw it down the stairway. When they had disappeared I ran from my hiding place and looked down the hole. I could plainly see Cantrell cut Jordan's throat.

"Then I hastened away. The next day I went back to the house. Neither Cantrell nor Martin was there. I got a candle and went to the cellar. There were two bodies in the cellar, one was that of Jordan and the other was that of Carrie Selvidge."

Ed. Cousins, the transferman, verifies the statement. This is Cousin's story:

"Cantrell came and engaged me. I went to where he directed and he and another negro were there. There were two other men standing around. Cantrell and another loaded a barrel into my wagon. I wanted to go down in the cellar where they got it to help them, but they would not let me. Cantrell directed me to drive to the Indiana Dental college with the barrel. I did so. Then the doctor bought the body and paid Cantrell."

CLARK TALKS WITH BIGELOW

Is Told That Democrats Cannot Have District Attorney Nomination.

BRENNEN ACTS TODAY

He Will Send Final Message to Thos. S. Bigelow at 3 O'Clock This Afternoon.

HAYS DOES SOME QUIET WORK

Thomas S. Bigelow expects to know at 3 o'clock this afternoon what the Democrats intend to do. Last night he held a conference with Commissioner James A. Clark, who was authorized to tell Col. James M. Guffey that the Citizens would not agree to the nomination of William J. Brennen for district attorney.

The final round-up of the Democrats is to occur this morning. Clark will make his report to Guffey and Brennen. It will then be necessary to decide whether Brennen will become a candidate in the face of the ultimatum from Bigelow. If he accepts the advice of Col. Guffey and Controller John B. Larkin, he will announce his candidacy and decline his intention of following the Democratic flag and the Democratic appropriation.

It will be the duty of Clark to carry the news to Bigelow at 3 o'clock this afternoon. If it is a declaration of war, negotiations between the Democrats and Citizens are supposed to end. If Brennen surrenders, the truce will probably continue, as it is stated on the authority of one of the Democratic conferees that at no time has there been any consideration given to the mode of procedure in the event of Brennen's refusal to stand as a candidate.

Brennen's Busy Day.

Yesterday was a busy day for Brennen. Two powerful influences were endeavoring to pull him in different directions. Early in the morning Mayor William B. Hays visited the prospective candidate. He urged him to quit the field and allow the Citizens to name a candidate for district attorney. When he left Brennen, it is understood that he had no promise to carry back to Bigelow.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon Guffey, Brennen and Clark met. For almost two hours the trio were together. Every phase of the situation was gone over. Shortly before 6 o'clock Clark was sent out to see Bigelow. His mission was to get a definite declaration from the head of the Citizens party in the question of whether or not he would agree to the nomination of Brennen. From Bigelow it was last night learned that he had agreed to see Clark again at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Clark was told that a Democrat could not be named by the Citizens. At 10 o'clock this morning he will make his report.

Clark Makes a Statement.

When Clark left the conference it was not known that he was on his way to see Bigelow, and he was able to evade certain questions. He announced that no agreement had been reached, and that a final meeting would be held this morning. He was asked whether it would be necessary for him to see Bigelow after the morning conference. This was his answer:

"If Brennen decides to be a candidate he will run as the Democratic nominee, whether there is fusion or not. In that event I cannot now see that there is anything to see Bigelow about. It will then be up to Bigelow to say whether he will accept Brennen. So far we have received no proposition from the Municipal league or like organizations on the question of fusion."

Guffey and Brennen were together for 15 minutes after Clark left. They both announced that no decision had been reached. Brennen was told that certain people were insisting that he would decline to be a candidate. He replied that no one had any authority or information which would allow them to make such a statement.

In some quarters, there appears to be doubt whether Bigelow really intends to nominate Harry L. Goehring. They say that if Goehring was his candidate, he would not have made the announcement of a campaign fund, and is credited with having another man under cover for the place. Goehring is becoming agitated over the situation.

ECHO OF THE FOURTH.

Philadelphia's Coroner Has Suit Entered Against Toy Pistol Dealers.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—An echo of the fatal consequences attending the sale of toy pistols to minors on the Fourth of July was heard in the Central police court today, when two wholesale and several retail dealers in these firearms were before Magistrate Cunningham to answer for violation of the law.

The action against the dealers was brought by District Attorney Bell and followed a communication received by him from Coroner Dugan, calling attention to the fact that two children had lost their lives from tetanus by the explosion of the toy pistol, which they had purchased from storekeepers in their neighborhoods.

PIUS X. FAINTS WHILE AT MASS

The New Pope Gives Way to the Strain of His Pontifical Duties.

ALL AUDIENCES POSTPONED

Dr. Leponni Says the Vatican Authorities Must Change Their System and That His Holiness Must Have Plenty of Fresh Air.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, Aug. 11.—Just one week has elapsed since the election of Pius X. and he has already been overcome by the unaccustomed strain of his potifical duties. This morning he fainted while at mass. His collapse is considered to be due to heart weakness aggravated by fatigue. It constitutes the first victory of his entourage, which has insisted that he should take the change from his previous life less strenuously. Even though he disappoint some people they urge him not to concede audiences to all comers and to render himself less accessible. Dr. Lapponi supported this view and recommended the pope to take a complete rest. The doctor has ordered all audiences postponed.

The pope retired earlier than usual tonight, saying that he felt quite recovered. His intimates say, however, that he is much changed since his election and seems to have grown years older. His sisters at Venice are much alarmed over the news of his indisposition and have decided to come to Rome to attend him.

Although the pope was much better this afternoon, Dr. Lapponi, who visited him again, thought it more prudent for his holiness not to leave his apartment and not to go into the garden of the vatican, as he desired.

The pontiff seems more docile to the doctor's wishes than his predecessor, although he insisted on transacting some current business, such as the appointment of Alberto Sili, the son of the dean of the grooms, as his personal valet, the place occupied by Pio under Pope Leo.

Dr. Lavenzi, speaking of the pope, said: "If they wish our Pius not to succumb the vatican authorities must change their system. They must not oblige him to follow the habits of Pope Leo. The present pontiff needs especially plenty of fresh air. He must not be shut up in a box in a vitiated atmosphere."

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Catholic Herald announces that Vincenzo Vannutelli will be papal secretary of state.

AMERICANS ALARMED ABOUT CARDINAL GIBBONS

Assurance Is Given in Rome, However, That His Grace Is Not Dangerously Ill.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, Aug. 11.—Letters and telegrams are coming daily from America and various parts of Europe asking about the health of Cardinal Gibbons, who has been reported seriously ill. An American priest who is close to Cardinal Gibbons said:

"Cardinal Gibbons is not dangerously ill, but his condition does require careful attention, which it is receiving. His grace was not in the best of health when he arrived here, and one not fully conversant with all that has gone on in Rome cannot form any idea of the tremendous strain under which he has labored. It must be remembered, too, that there was a strong personal love between the late pope and Cardinal Gibbons, beyond the ties which drew them together as churchmen. It is not strange, therefore, that when the tension was relaxed there should come a period of depression and exhaustion.

"For many years Cardinal Gibbons has suffered from ailments caused by imperfect digestion and was one of the first to try the Kneip cure for it. Cardinal Gibbons is somewhat like the late pope in his ability to triumph over physical ills and in his wonderful recuperative powers. He is resting at the summer retreat of the American college and we have no doubt but that he will soon be in his normal condition."

CLAIM OF FRAUD MADE.

Argument for the Receivership Brings to Light an Odd Condition of Affairs.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 11.—Vice Chancellor Pittey today heard argument to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the Universal Tobacco Company, of which William H. Butler is president. Affidavits were presented in support of the claim made that President Butler had placed men on the board who would do his bidding.

Julian F. Davies, for the complainants, declared the treasury fund of $700,000 had disappeared and that the company was $1,000,000 in debt. He said the common stock issued amounted to only $3,000,000 instead of $7,000,000, as alleged by the officials of the company.

DREW THE COLOR LINE.

Machinists' Union Quits Central Labor Body Because Negroes Are Admitted.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., Aug. 11.—The color line has been drawn by a union labor organization here. The machinists' union of Newport News, the local branch of the International Association of Machinists, tonight voted to sever its affiliation with the Central Trades and Labor council.

The latter organization recently admitted representatives of negro labor unions to its membership despite the protests of the machinists' union, which is the strongest and most influential labor body in the county. Other withdrawals from the central council may follow.

Lynchers Hot on His Trail.

MARSHALLTOWN, IA., Aug. 11.—The 7-year-old daughter of I. A. Macon, a prominent farmer of North Hudson, was assaulted today by a horse trader, who was a member of a camp near her home. The child will die and a large and excited mob is in pursuit of her assailant. He will be lynched if caught.

Mines Crippled by a Strike.

CRIPPLE CREEK, COL., Aug. 11.—Practically all the mines in this district, except the Portland and those operated by the Woods Investment Company, are closed down in consequence of the union miners' strike, which began yesterday. The number of miners on strike is estimated at 2,700.

Supt. T. A. McQuaide Saves Three Women.

Superintendent of Detectives Thomas A. McQuaide appeared in the role of a life-saver yesterday afternoon. He was standing at Sixth avenue and Smithfield street about 5 o'clock, when a Carson street car approached. The car stopped at the crossing and three women prepared to alight. Before they had reached the pavement the car started, and they were in danger of being badly urt. McQuaide rushed out and ized the women and managed to ep them on their feet. Mcaide took the number of the car will doubtless report the conor for carelessness. The cordially thanked the supendent before they departed.

FATAL PLUNGE OF MAN AND AUTO

H. S. Spaulding a Veteran Mobe Driver Was Drowned in the Erie Canal.

RESCUERS MISSED CHANCE

They Threw a Line, but Forgot to Hold the End—Wife and Mother-in-law Were Awaiting His Arrival at Another Town.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORT PLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Henry S. Spaulding, aged about 45 years, an expert enthusiastic automobilist from West Orange, N. J., rode to his death four miles east of this village this afternoon. He was on the towpath of the Erie canal. While turning out for a lineman's rig his auto swerved more than he intended, and man and machine plunged into the water.

Two linemen rushed to aid Spaulding, but in their excitement let go entirely of a rope, one end of which they had thrown to the drowning man. One of them then hastened to Spraker, a hamlet nearby, for assistance, but by the time help arrived Spaulding had gone down for the last time. The body was recovered badly entangled in the rope which had ben thrown to him. The machine uninjured, and with the brakes set, was also recovered.

Mr. Spaulding was en route to Chicago and met with an accident one week ago today that kept him in Amsterdam for repairs until this afternoon. Meantime his traveling companions, his wife and her mother, had gone to Syracuse, where they were waiting in order to continue the journey with him. The body was taken to Canajoarie.

Spaulding was a veteran automobilist, and at Amsterdam yesterday was advised by Dr. J. H. Jackson of this village, that owing to the dangerous condition of the roads he should at least ship his automobile to Syracuse. Mr. Spaulding replied that he considered himself equal to the difficulties before him, and continued his journey.

POLICE ARE PROMPT.

Livery Stable Thief Believed to Be in Custody—Vehicle Had Been Exchanged.

James Wright, a 25-year-old negro, was locked up in Central police station last night charged with robbery. Yesterday morning a valuable horse and wagon were stolen from the Kiel Livery Company's stables on Forbes street. No one was suspected, but the police got the telephone lines to the neighboring towns busy and they are sure that Wright is the man. The horse and a top buggy were returned to the stables last night at 11 o'clock. The runabout had evidently been traded for a top buggy. The halter and blankets also were not the ones taken with the rig yesterday morning.

Wright is little known about Oakland, having been in that vicinity only one week. He has loafed about the stables for the past few days, but was not suspected of breaking the place open yesterday. He drove the rig to Logans Ferry and on the way had tried to dispose of it. Late in the afternoon he returned to Pittsburgh and was recognized on the streets downtown last night by one of the employes of the Keil Livery Company. An officer was called and Wright was locked up.

Several people have already put in the claim for the $50 reward offered by Mr. Keil for the return of the horse and wagon.

STRUCK AN OFFICER.

Striking Lineman Landed in the County Jail After Some Difficulty.

Covered with blood from a blow in the face James Kenny, a striking lineman of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, was taken to the county jail yesterday by Constable Joseph Thompson, followed by a crowd of about 500 men, women and children. Kenny was charged with malicious mischief by Supt. E. C. McCarty of the telephone company, who alleges Kenny was implicated in the cutting of some of the company's cables.

A warrant was issued for his arrest by Alderman Charles C. McGovern of the West End, and Constable Thompson was sent after him. Kenny was found in the saloon of Dennis Boyle at Washington street and Bedford avenue. Constable Thompson approached the man and told him he was under arrest. For an answer Kenny is said to have thrown a beer glass in the officer's face.

Thompson went outside and waited for Kenny, and when he emerged from the saloon he struck him in the face, knocking him down and making a large gash in his face. In this way, with blood pouring down his face, he was taken to the jail, where he is held for a hearing.

ALLEGHENY WHARVES ARE TO BE KEPT CLEAR

The public safety committee of Allegheny councils last night decided that no private individuals or corporations be given privileges on the Allegheny wharves. This decision was governed by an opinion of the city solicitor, who asserts that city councils have no right to grant such privileges. The ordinance presented in councils by Director E. J. McIlvain regulating the city market, was ordered printed. The ordinance provides that in the event of the sale of a stall in the market the city get a rental of 20 per cent additional over the original lease price.

Mrs. Charles R. Smith Dead.

Mrs. Charles R. Smith, wife of the cashier of the Peoples National bank of Latrobe, died about midnight last night at the family home in Latrobe, Pa. Mrs. Smith was stricken on Monday with apoplexy and this caused her death. She was born in Greensburg, Pa., and was a daughter of the late Robert and Mrs. Sarah McKinley Black. She is survived by her husband and three small sons. Mrs. Smith was well known in Pittsburgh and Greensburg, having many relatives and friends in both places.

SOUTH SHARON HOTEL MAN FATALLY SHOOTS HIMSELF

SHARON, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—William Bowers, proprietor of the Bowers hotel in South Sharon, shot himself in the head twice with a 38-caliber revolver with suicidal intent tonight and will die. No cause is assigned for the act. Bowers came to South Sharon last December from McKeesport.

Merchants Took Bogus Checks.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—A swindler last night passed a bad check for $6 at the McKee drug store and a $5 check was cashed for him by John Fee. He goes into a confectionery store with a $50 bill and buys a box of bonbons. If the clerk cannot cash the bill, he offers to make payment in a check, which proves worthless.

Want Strike Ended.

William Strike and George Shaunt, of Ashland, Ky., called on President T. J. Shaffer yesterday in regard to the settlement of the Amalgamated association strike in that city against the Ashland Rolling Mills. J. J. McCullough, superintendent of the plant, accompanied them.

TWO INSANE MARKSMEN TRY TO BAG HUMAN GAME

Irresponsible men with guns terrorized Braddock and East Pittsburgh yesterday. An unknown man, supposed to be an insane Slav, concealed himself in a thick wood in Williams township, on the outskirts of East Pittsburgh, and with a revolver fired at every person who passed. Many of the men employed in the Westinghouse Electric Company's plant who live in Wilkins township, were obliged to walk half a mile around in order to avoid passing where the man was concealed. After firing nearly 50 shots the fellow escaped.

Harry Graham terrorized people living in the vicinity of Ninth street, Braddock, by flourishing a large revolver and threatening to shoot all who came near him. Two officers finally overpowered him. He is thought to be insane.

TWO MORE DISTRICTS REVOLT IN MACEDONIA

Committee Announces That the Revolution Against Turkey Is Spreading.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

SOFIA, BULGARIA, Aug. 11.—The representatives of the Macedonian revolutionary committee announce that the revolution broke out in the villayet of Uskub last Sunday and in the villayet of Adrianople on Monday. Telegraphic communication is interrupted. Adrianople forms the seventh revolutionary district.

The committee also publish a contradiction of the alleged atrocities committed by the Bulgarians and accuse the Turks of attempting to prepare the mind of Europe for the eventual massacres of innocent Christians.

General Tsoncheff, president of the Macedonian committee, has addressed an appeal to his adherents to assist the insurgents in Macedonia, even by revolutionary means. Prominent Macedonians here have formed a charitable committee for the purpose of obtaining help for the victims of the insurrection. Representatives of all political parties in Bulgaria have joined the committee and it is proposed to hold a public meeting to solicit contributions from all Bulgarians.

ROME, Aug. 11.—The minister of marine has directed that a squadron be kept in readiness to sail for the east should the complications in Macedonia make it necessary to protect Italian subjects there.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 11.—Dr. Mandelstam, acting Russian consul at Uskub, will replace the murdered consul, M. Rostkowiski, at Monastir.

PASSENGERS IN PANIC ON A DISABLED VESSEL

Crew Mutinied and for 12 Hours Lake Steamer Was at the Mercy of the Waves.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—One hundred and fifty passengers on the steamer Alice Stafford, which left this city for Grand Haven, Mich., Monday evening, had a most exciting experience on Lake Michigan about midnight. The vessel encountered a violent storm, and while it was at its height, the safety valve gave out, and there was imminent danger that the boat would be blown up.

The passengers were in a panic, rushing about the deck in their night clothes and the officers had great difficulty in controlling them. The stokers abandoned their posts and refused to return and rake the fires, declaring that the boilers might explode any minute.

Robert Manners, the assistant engineer, finally extinguished the fires, and then for 12 hours, the helpless vessel rolled in the trough of the sea, while the crew burned blankets soaked in kerosene to attract passing vessels. At noon today the Stafford was sighted by steamer H. W. Williams and towed into St. Joseph, Mich.

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The steamer R. B. Hayes of Sandusky, is aground on Eagle Island at the head of Sandusky Bay. On board are over 500 excursionists from Fremont, who attended the excursion given by the St. John's Lutheran church today. The prospects are the boat will be fast until morning.

Members of the crew reached land, and have telephoned to Fremont, Sandusky, and Port Clinton for aid. At the local dock tonight are assembled hundreds of anxious relatives and friends, many of whom are not acquainted with the facts and who fear some great disaster has befallen the large excursion.

CORNER STONE LAID.

Interesting Ceremonies at the New Nixon Theater.

Several hundred people yesterday attended the laying of the corner stone of the new Nixon theater in Sixth avenue. Shortly after noon S. F. Nixon and his son, Fred Nixon Nirdlinger, and other representatives of the management of the new playhouse, gathered at the temporary office of the contractor and proceeded to deposit the iron box in a coping stone at the southeastern corner of the new building. In the box were placed copies of the Pittsburgh newspapers, some coins, the personal cards of the owners and managers of the theater and Pittsburgh dramatic editors and a number of pictures, including photographs of Mr. Nixon and of the old United Presbyterian church, which formerly occupied the site of the theater.

The Rev. Charles Shea and the Rev. W. T. Davidson, assistant rectors of Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, conducted the religious ceremony and christened the building. Mr. Nixon said that every effort would be made to have the theater open on November 1.

CHARGED WITH MAKING THREATS ON POSTAL CARDS

CANTON, O., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—J. C. Art was arrested here tonight on a charge of misusing the mails, on a complaint originated in New Philadelphia, where he lived until recently. He is said to have sent threatening messages on postal cards. The arrest was made by United States Marshal Samuel of Cleveland, who will take his prisoner to Warren.

HOTEL CLERK DISAPPEARS AND $10,000 IS MISSING

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 11.—The police tonight had reported to them the disappearance of the night clerk at a Chelsea hotel, and with him disappeared some $10,000. The man got out Monday morning, but the robbery was kept a secret in hope he would return. Chelsea is a suburb of this resort.

PITTSBURGH VETERANS ESTEEM GEN. MILES

Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles has many admirers among the old soldiers of Allegheny county. The Union Veteran Legion of Pittsburgh, with 1,000 members, has sent him resolutions of esteem for and admiration of his illustrious career as a soldier, rising from the ranks to be commander of the army of the United States. They conclude with wishing him health and every happiness in private life. The comrades at the meeting, many of whom served in the civil war with Gen. Miles when he was brigade and division commander under Gen. Hancock in the army of the Potomac, paid tribute to his bravery on many battlefields, as well as to his successful campaigns against the Indians for years after the close of the civil war.

LIFE WIPED OUT BY FAST RAILROAD TRAIN

Machinist Is Killed at Wilkinsburg—Other Morgue Cases Yesterday.

Frank A. Ellis, 48 years old, of No. 611 Eckers way, Wilkinsburg, was struck by an eastbound train on the Pennsylvania railroad, near the Wilkinsburg station, yesterday evening, and received injuries which resulted in his death at the West Penn hospital at 9:30 o'clock last night. He was a machinist and was attempting to cross the tracks when run down.

Youise Francesco, an Italian girl, 5 years old, died at 6 o'clock last night at St. John's hospital, Allegheny. The girl was burning paper in the rear of her home in Langtry street, on Monday evening, when her clothing caught fire. She was badly burned all over the body.

Kizia Barr, aged 60 years, of No. 15 Jefferson street, Millvale, died at the St. Francis hospital yesterday of malarial fever. She had been ill for some time and while in bed at her home fell on the floor and bruised her cheek. When she died it was at first thought she had been struck, but her son, John C. Barr, assured the coroner she had fallen from her bed and no investigation will be made.

Frank Sekan, aged 42 years, of No. 4809 Butler street, died at the St. Francis hospital yesterday of injuries sustained August 9. Sekan was lying in bed puffing a cigar and the bed clothes caught fire. He was so badly burned he was removed to the hospital, where he expired.

William Page, 58 years old, of Van Meter, Pa., died yesterday at the McKeesport hospital of injuries received last Saturday while trying to jump a freight train at McKeesport. Both legs were cut off and he received internal injuries.

C. B. Bradley, 64 years old, died at his home, No. 613 West Robinson street, Allegheny, yesterday. Alcoholism is alleged to have caused death.

Antoine Steinmetz, aged 12 years, of Tarentum, was killed by a train on the West Penn railroad, near Tarentum, yesterday afternoon.

DEFAULTING CASHIER MAKES A CLEAN SWEEP

Expert Safe Openers Find but $400 of $75,000 in New Holland (O.) Bank.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HOLLAND, O., Aug. 11.—After being forced to wait 24 hours and sending to Cincinnati for an expert, the Union Banking Company today succeeded in opening their safe. The directors found a trifle over $400 in the vault and it was confidently expected that nearly $75,000 was safely stored away, and Cashier Brown's shortage will probably be about the same amount.

The bank is an incorporated concern, which, under the laws, makes each stockholder liable for double the amount of his shares up to the amount of any shortage that might occur.

Brown stood high in society and business circles of the little city. Brown came from Cincinnati 15 years ago. The Union bank was established 13 years ago, and has always been a prosperous institution.

BIRD MAKES PROMISE.

Gould System Will Give Milwaukee Better Service When Bridges Are Widened.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—"The moment the city of Milwaukee and the initial railroads here put into effect the promised system of wider bridge draws, that moment you will hear from me."

This statement was made this morning by A. C. Bird, traffic director of the Gould system and vice president of all the western Gould lines. Continuing, Mr. Bird, who spent Monday afternoon and evening and this morning in Milwaukee, said:

"Now, while I cannot give the names at this time, I can say that as soon as the city of Milwaukee gets in the wider draws, there will be established two and possibly three additional car ferries."

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Gen. Miles Says He Is Not Seeking G. A. R. Commandership.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—A special from Omaha says that when questioned about his being a candidate for commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. Gen. Nelson A. Miles said:

"I am not seeking it. Gen. John C. Black is a good man for the place. I know him well and regard him highly. For my part, I am just going as a visitor. I have always been greatly interested in the Grand Army and was one of its organizers, and, therefore, consider myself entitled to attend the encampment with the boys."

PATIENT IN A STABLE.

Health Officer Finds a Smallpox Victim and Sends Him to the Hospital.

Inspector William Shannon of the bureau of health yesterday discovered James Boyer, aged 40 years, in a stable at Forty-second and Sherman streets afflicted with the smallpox. The man had been sick with the disease for about a week and had refused medical attention. He was not an employe of the stable, but merely put in spare time there. He was removed to the pesthouse.

George Jenkins of No. 3510 Breaton street was removed from his home yesterday to the Municipal hospital with smallpox. The house in which he lived had been under quarantine for several days. It was reported yesterday that Michael Donovan, aged 35 years, of No. 2138 Wylie avenue, was stricken with smallpox.

JEALOUS WIFE SUES ALLEGED FORTUNE TELLER

Mme. Christina, also known as Mrs. L. Dinwiddie and Mrs. Bock, was held in $500 bail by Alderman David McKelvy of Allegheny yesterday on a charge of fortune-telling. The woman lives at the end of the Spring Garden street car line. Mrs. Lizzie Ritchey of No. 26 Spring Garden avenue, the prosecutrix, asserts that on several occasions the defendant had taken her husband away. Madame Christina declares she had Ritchey only as a coachman. She will get a hearing today.

75 DEAD LAY IN GHASTLY PILE IN ELECTRIC RAILWAY TUNNEL

They were driven back toward the other end of the platform, where there is a white brick wall. There they crowded, and there, later, 75 bodies were found in a heap. Two passengers tried to escape by a little stairway leading down from the side of the wall on the line. They soon fell on the rails in a state of suffocation and their bodies were found there. Three others perished while endeavoring to escape by the tunnel at the staircase end.

A shopkeeper gives the following account of the disaster: "It was exactly 7:58. There were some people on the street. Suddenly a cloud of smoke passed from the Metropolitan staircase. This became thicker in a few seconds and soon the black column rose to the height of the second story windows. People gathered from all quarters in front of the station and cries were raised of "lights, lights."

"Several inhabitants brought lighted candles and lamps. Attempts were made to enter the station but the bravest men were forced to beat a retreat for the smoke was becoming thicker and thicker. Meanwhile assistance was rendered to those passengers who succeeded in reaching and getting up the staircase.

Rescued Ones Knew Little.

"When these had somewhat recovered they were asked for information, but all they could say, that they had, on seeing the smoke, alighted and made the best of their way to the exit. The smoke continued to increase in thickness until it was a column of black soot. No one could approach the entrance to the station."

Heartrending scenes were witnessed among the crowd, many people being convinced that their relatives were down below. The police had great difficulty in controlling people, who were excited to an indescribable degree. Toward 9 o'clock a large detachment of the Republican guard marched up. These and the police formed cordons around the station. M. Lepine and other officers of the police were present and directed the maintenance of order.

As soon as the crowd had been cleared away from the entrance to the station firemen attempted to descend the stairway, torches being used. They only succeeded in going down two or three steps, when the torches were extinguished and the firemen, half suffocated, were obliged to return. This failure did not stop M. Lepine from making an attempt to descend. He tried twice but was on each occasion beaten back. The heat was terrible. The temperature was over 140 degrees.

An Entrance Effected.

All this time copious streams of water were being pumped into the station, but the smoke still kept rising. The crowd was intensely silent and the scene was impressive. The firemen were powerless. For hours the situation was unchanged. It was about 3 o'clock in the morning when the volume of smoke began to go down. Then the firemen made another effort to effect an entrance.

A lieutenant colonel and major of the guard penetrated to the platform. Two minutes later they came out again, saying they had seen two bodies. Ambulances were on the spot. Some firemen took a stretcher and entered the station. A few minutes later they brought out the two bodies which had been seen first by the officers. Then the sorrowful procession began. Bodies were brought out in rapid succession. They were mostly workingmen, but there was also several girls and children. One man was holding a little girl by the hand. She was carrying a doll in her hand. The man had a newspaper, which he had been reading in the train. None of the bodies were burnt, but their faces were blackened by smoke.

The chief guard of train No. 28, which was enveloped at the station by smoke, made the following statement:

"My train was packed. It contained 350 passengers. A few passengers got angry over the delay, but the majority regarded it as a laughing matter and cracked jokes about it. We begged the passengers to alight, but they refused.

Wanted Their Money Back.

"All this time the smoke was steadily approaching, becoming denser and denser. It was like an advancing wall. The passengers surrounded me and demanded that the cost of their tickets be refunded. I replied, 'The money will be refunded later on. Run waya.' But they would not heed me.

"Then the electric lights suddenly went out. A fearful crush followed in the darkness. Piercing shrieks resounded during a few seconds, but the suffocating smoke speedily silenced every voice."

He then describes how he escaped, dragging an unconscious passenger with him.

The receipts of the Metropolitan railway fell off enormously today as a result of the catastrophe. The train, which is usually crowded, leaving the Porte Maillot station shortly after 8 p. m., was practically empty tonight. As the train passed others going in an opposite direction, I noticed they were nearly empty instead of being densely crowded as usual at that hour.

Struggled Over the Fallen.

Eugene Olliver, one of the few survivors, describes the terrible panic which occurred in the darkness. The people, he says, rushed and fought with one another, madly seeking to get away. He was sick, but nerved to desperation by the situation, managed to get through the struggling mass. As he went he passed over the bodies of those who had fallen, but it was impossible to render them aid.

A survivor named Jules Boat describes the struggle during the panic in the tunnel as terrible. Women were screaming, "Save me! Save me!" An old man fell suffocated at his feet. The women screamed until they fell asphyxiated.

M. Gauthier, the magistrate for the district, says one of the main causes of the loss of life was that those escaping took the wrong exit, one passage letting out to the street, while the other was barred, as it was usually used for admitting passengers. Many of the victims sought the barred exit and were found massed against the wall where they had slowly suffocated.

M. Bienvenue, the chief engineer of the Metropolitan railroad, says from the technical point of view every precaution to avoid danger had been taken. He declares that many of the plans suggested for the ventilation or inundation of the tunnel are after thoughts. The chief misfortune was that the employes did not organize assistance with sufficient rapidity to permit the passengers being quickly drawn out.

At the American consulate it was learned that there were no Americans among the victims.

Premier Combes in the Tunnel.

Premier Combes descended into the tunnel today and made a personal lengthy inspection. He asked the chief of police for a speedy report on the causes of the disaster and a list of the victims, and announced his intention of proposing at a council of ministers measures for the relief of the poor families of the victims. The flag over the Hotel De Ville has been lowered to half-mast, as a sign of the city's mourning. At noon Col. Meaux St. Marc, on behalf of President Loubet, visited the morgue, and M. Hurteaux, procureur of the republic, and Judge Jolliet of the Seine tribunal have opened a judicial investigation into the affair.

The names and occupations of the victims gave pathetic evidence of their humble condition. The names are characteristic of the French working classes and occupations are given as painter, mason, plumber, tailor, seamstress, locksmith, etc. Outside the workmen, about every third name is that of a woman. Pitiful scenes were enacted at the morgue throughout the day as the relatives gathered seeking to identify the bodies, which were ranged in long lines on white marble slabs. The clothing of many of the victims is torn, showing the fierceness of the struggle.

ELECTRIC EQUIPMENT IS SOURCE OF DANGER

George Westinghouse Anticipated Some Disaster Like That in Paris.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—George Westinghouse, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, in a letter to the New York Times, dated January 11, 1902, practically prophesied the Paris disaster which occurred today. The letter was brought out by the accident on the Liverpool underground railway. Mr. Westinghouse said:

> With an electrically operated train the risk of accident will be increased rather than diminished because of the presence of the heavy electrical machinery which it is proposed to attach to the cars of each train. Already there have been many serious collisions with great loss of life between electric cars, while there have been numerous cases in New York and other places in which cars have been quickly destroyed by fire which have resulted from some derangement of the electrical apparatus or circuits, in some instances so quickly that passengers have had scarcely time to escape to the street.
>
> It should be borne in mind that the electric energy required to operate a heavy train is sufficient to melt a considerable bar of iron or to start a dangerous fire, if anything goes wrong upon a car of ordinary combustible construction, much more readily than the car stove, the use of which has been abolished by law. If a collision were to occur between two electrically fitted trains, each having several combustible cars fitted with electrical apparatus and carrying electrical circuits throughout, there could be an accident of so serious a character as to start an agitation having for its purpose the abolition of the use of electricity altogether, or, at least, to compel the railway companies to abandon the use of combustible cars fitted with electric motors.
>
> The destruction by fire of a car or train upon a street or upon a level is one thing, but such an occurrence upon an elevated railway or in a tunnel can have consequences the contemplation of which should lead to wise regulations governing the construction and use of electrically propelled trains and thereby insure to the public the rapid development of electric traction.

Mr. Westinghouse's letter of warning was opposed by many engineers and electricians and a controversy arose in which the discussion on both sides was bitter.

FRANK A. PARKER.

King Edward Sends Sympathy.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—King Edward, through the British embassy at Paris, has sent a message of sympathy to the French government on account of the Metropolitan railway disaster. The catastrophe has produced the deepest impression here and intense anxiety concerning the safety of the London underground roads.

COLORED KNIGHTS MEET.

Annual Convention of Grand Lodge Opened Yesterday.

The annual convention of the grand lodge of colored Knights of Pythias of Pennsylvania opened yesterday in the First National Bank building, Wilkinsburg. C. O. Hawkins of Wilkinsburg called the convention to order at 11 o'clock in the morning and delivered the address of welcome to the delegates. There were 26 delegates present.

Sir W. G. Miller of Pittsburgh was appointed assistant keeper of records and seals. After letters of regret from Sir H. L. Thomas and Supreme Chancellor S. W. Stark were read the following were appointed a committee on credentials: G. M. Medley, F. J. Brooks, W. H. Freeman, W. D. Garnes, I. H. Givens, Winston Austin, Don P. Johnson and W. D. Clinton. Twenty-six members were reported elegible for the "P. C." degree. C. W. West of Philadelphia addressed the delegates at last night's session. Officers will be elected today.

DETROIT, Aug. 11.—Frank Tilley of Rising Sun, Ind., one of the employes of Wallace Bros.' circus, who was brought here after the railroad accident at Durand, died this afternoon from his injuries. This is the 25th death caused by the wreck.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

BONES OF A MASTODON UNEARTHED AT ST. LOUIS

Workmen Digging Ditch for Sewer Found Them 40 Feet Below the Surface.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11.—Bones, which scientists agree are undoubtedly parts of the skeletons of mastodons, were unearthed today in the very heart of St. Louis. Workmen digging for a great overflow sewer to 40 feet below the surfaeNe found the bones.

Large pieces of trees almost turned into bituminous coal by the slow process of nature were unearthed, and then the picks of the laborers struck some hard white substance which puzzled them. Foreman Tait ordered the workers to stop while he descended into the ditch to investigate. By carefully dislodging the dirt on either side of the hole, he found several large bones embedded in the clay, composing the petrified jaw of some enormous prehistoric animal.

It is believed the place is rich in fossils, and a careful search will be made in the hope that an entire skeleton will be recovered. The spot where the bones were exposed is 100 yards south of the Tower Grove station.

ATTEMPTED TO WRECK A HARRISBURG TRAIN

LANCASTER, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—An attempt was made to wreck the Harrisburg express on the Pennsylvania railroad this evening a short distance east of Algion. When the train neared that place the engineer saw an obstruction on the tracks and at once put on the brakes. A few seconds later his train struck with considerable force three cross ties that had been laid on the track. Two of the ties were knocked from the rails and the third was wedged in the driving wheels of the engine. The sudden jar created a panic among the passengers, but no damage was done.

THIS SAND FILTER IN ACTUAL USE

Apollo Has the First One Established on a Large Scale in This Vicinity.

THE CONSUMERS BOAST OF IT

It Was Built by a Private Water Works Company and Has a Present Capacity of 1,000,000 Gallons a Day—Description of the Plant.

Ten new cases of typhoid fever were reported yesterday to the Pittsburgh bureau of health.

While Pittsburgh is in the throes of the filtration agitation and the mechanical filtration interests are pulling and hauling in an effort to wean the people from the predeliction to sand filtration, the enterprising town of Apollo has solved the question. The people of that borough and adjacent territory are enjoying a supply of filtered water. The original source is, of corse, not nearly so much polluted as the fount from which the water used by Pittsburgh comes, but it had more than enough of bacteria in it.

No recent analysis of the "raw" filtered water has been made, but the first analysis, before the filters had got down to proper working order, showed such an improvement that the people are drinking the water boldly, knowing that even if typhoid fever germs were swimming in Beaver run they could not get down through the sand and gravel which the water has to pass before it enters the mains.

A Private Undertaking.

Apollo gets its water supply through a private corporation, the Apollo Waterworks Company, of which W. C. Hawley of Wilkinsburg is engineer and general superintendent. Formerly the company pumped Kiskiminetas water, and everybody who has read of the pollution in that stream knows what the water is. At great expense the company constructed a filter of two beds. One bed has been in operation for some little time, the other has only recently begun to do business. The company has a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons of sand filtered water a day, more than enough to supply Apollo and several communities of that size.

In the bed of Beaver run the company has built a dam and impounded 70,000,000 gallons of water, an artificial lake of about 45 acres. The water is commonly of a beautiful blue, except, perhaps, after a freshet. Beaver run empties into the Kiskiminetas river on the side opposite Apollo and the lake is about a mile up the run from the confluence of the two streams.

Used as a Settling Basin.

The lake serves as a settling basin, always considered advisable in connection with a sand filtration system. From the lake the water runs by gravity through a pipe into the filtration basin. The filtered water is pumped into a 15,000,000 gallon reservoir in the hills two miles away, and from the reservoir it finds its way into the distributing mains.

There are two filter beds. Both can be used at the same time or separately, an arrangement that is handy when one of the beds is being cleaned. The bed of both basins is of concrete, in which is laid lengthwise a large drain, the drain of each basin having a separate outlet into the regulating weir at the end of the basin series. Crosswise in the basins is laid a number of half-pipes on top of the concrete, with the convex side up, emptying into the main drain, which ends in the regulating weir. From the weir the filtered water flows into a big well, whence it is pumped into the reservoir by a gas engine of 125-horse power. The pump is of 1,000,000 gallons capacity every 24 hours.

Composition of Filter Beds.

The superficial area of the two filter beds is half an acre each. Over the lateral drain pipes is placed coarse gravel to a depth of six inches; over that is a deposit of three inches of finer gravel, and then comes three inches of still finer gravel. On top of the gravel bed is three feet of sand, the kind that costs from $3 to $5 a cubic yard, being composed of crushed sandstone, so valuable that none of it is wasted.

The water is admitted into the filter beds through weirs, a separate one for each bed. The water percolates through the sand and gravel, falls into the drains at the bottom and passes through the regulating weir into the well. By means of the regulating weir the flow of filtered water from the drain can be stopped and the filtering process will cease for the time being, but as soon as the water reaches a certain level in the well the drains open and the filtering process recommences.

Effect of the Filter.

From the Pittsburgh viewpoint the filtering of Beaver Run water is a work of supererogation, for, compared with the Allegheny river fluid, it is wonderfully pure. When the Apollo waterworks had an alysis of the "raw" water made it was found that to every cubic centimeter of water there were 1,115 bacteria, a good showing, as compared with the contents of a centimeter of the water used in Pittsburgh, and the filtered water showed a count of 318 bacteria to the cubic centimeter, thus proving an efficiency of 71½ per cent. A still better efficiency is expected to be shown in the next analysis, the filters being now in much better working order.

Cleaning the filter beds is done whenever required, according to the condition of the water admitted to the filters. When one of the beds is to be cleaned the influent weir is shut off, the water drains away, and the surface of the filtering material is bared. Planks are laid on top of the sand and men skim off one-eighth of an inch of surface, a mixture of sand and silt.

Sand Is Carefully Saved.

That material is placed in hoppers and washed with filtered water. The clean sand is dried and put into bins. It is believed that the clean sand need be dedeposited back on the filter beds only once every twelve months, the bed of filtering sand being thinck enough to allow of many scrapings without impairing its efficiency.

The water is served through meters entirely. Engineer Hawley said yesterday that meters prevent waste and save the consumer money.

The Apollo plant is the first sand filtering works on a large scale established in this neighborhood. The company is well satisfied with the way it is working and the consumers boast of the superiority of their water supply over that of Pittsburgh and those neighboring boroughs which do not use filtered water.

IN MEMORIAM.

It is with feelings of keen regret and sorrow that the Board of Directors of the German American Savings and Trust Company records the death of Robert M. Hays, one of the first subscribers to this bank and a member of the first board. Mr. Hays was burned to death with his wife in the destruction of the Golden Gate hotel at Nome, Alaska, on July 5 last, on the eve of his departure for Pittsburgh, after having completed an important contract undertaking. He was one of the first to interest himself in the organization of this company, and by his wise counsel, enthusiasm and wide friendship assisted materially in the success of the institution. Mr. Hays was one of the successful business men of Pittsburgh. He struggled from humble beginnings, and by energy, sound judgment and perseverance he had accomplished much, although but in his 45th year at the time of his death. He was a man of few words, and his advice was prized by those whom he favored with it, for it was also in the direction of right and justice and was tempered by sound wisdom. Mr. Hays enjoyed wide popularity because of his sterling worth, his undoubted integrity and his many strong traits of character. His death means distinct loss to this board and to this institution. It is the wish of the directors that this minute of respect to the memory of Mr. Hays be spread upon the permanent records of this company and that the sympathy of officers and directors be extended to the relatives of the deceased, and that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased.

JOHN C. BROWN URGED TO RUN

Over 400 Lawyers Petition Him to Become a Candidate for Sheriff.

HE CAN SELECT HIS PARTY

He Has Not Decided Whether He Will Accept the Invitation—Men of All Political Creeds Pledge Their Hearty Support.

Over 400 members of the Allegheny County Bar association have signed a petition requesting John C. Brown to become a candidate for sheriff on any ticket he may select. He has not decided whether he will respond to the invitation. Mr. Brown has been a lifelong Republican.

For 21 years Mr. Brown has been connected with the sheriff's office, and for the greater part of the time has been the chief clerk. His uniform kindness and strict attendance to duty has made him the friend of almost every lawyer in the county. Some months ago some of the older members of the bar conceived the idea of petitioning him to become a candidate for sheriff. The movement was started without his knowledge. The scheme was well received, as the character of the signatures indicate. Men of all political faiths have subscribed to the testimonial to Mr. Brown and joined in the invitation that he become a candidate for sheriff.

Noah W. Shafer, Charles C. Dickey, E. W. Arthur and Charles A. Robb had charge of the circulation of the petition. In presenting the paper to Mr. Brown yesterday this letter, signed by the four men, was attached:

Words of Praise for Brown.

In presenting this petition the undersigned take pleasure in conveying to you the kindly expression of the members of the bar in regard to your efficiency in your department and of your uniform courtesy under all circumstances in the sheriff's office. Our duty in the premises would not be fully discharged did we not convey their expression to you. It was a pleasure to each of us to hear a public official so uniformly complimented by all whom we approached. Hoping that our fellow citizens of the county may second the efforts of the members of the bar, we are most heartily yours.

The following is the heading of the petition addressed to Mr. Brown:

The undersigned members of the Allegheny county bar earnestly request you to become a candidate for sheriff of Allegheny county at the next general election for that office.

We have had business relations with the office of the sheriff and have learned of your thorough knowledge, not only in your own department of special returns, deeds and sales, but in all the duties of the office.

Having knowledge, therefore, of your familiarity with all the duties required of a sheriff, your uniform courtesy in the discharge of your often unpleasant duties, we do hereby, unsolicited, certify to the whole people that you unqualifiedly possess all the elements needed to become an efficient and energetic sheriff.

Some of the Politicians.

All of the signers are well-known members of the bar. Nearly all of the prominent law firms in the city have subscribed to the testimonial. Among the petitioners are the following, and those familiar with politics will recognize that all parties and factions are represented:

D. T. Watson, Dalzell, Scott & Gordon, Patterson, Sterrett & Acheson, Chantler, McGill & Cunningham, Charles A. Fagan, Senator W. A. Magee, J. M. Shields, Morrow & McGirr, Whitechilds & Scott, John A. Murphy, Thomson & Thomson, Willis F. McCook, M. A. Woodward, E-Judge James Bredin, John S. Lambie, Edwin W. Smith, Samuel McClay, George E. Shaw, J. H. Beal, Charles F. McKenna, William R. Blair, United States District Attorney James W. Young, George C. Burgwin, George N. Munro, D. F. Patterson, Albert York Smith, William M. Hall, Charles A. O'Brien, William M. Watson, Robert H. Douglas, L. M. Plummer, Joseph Howley, John F. Cox, W. C. McEldowney, Edwin Z. Smith, H. L. Castle, J. M. Swearingen, W. K. Jennings, W. A. Sipe, Jesse T. Lazear.

Mr. Brown has always lived in the county. For the greater portion of his life his home was on the South Side. He is now a resident of the Nineteenth ward.

BANKER J. V. THOMPSON WEDS; SURPRISES MANY FRIENDS.

J. V. Thompson of Uniontown.

UNIONTOWN, PA., August 11.—(Special.)—The marriage of Josiah Van Kirk Thompson, president of the First National bank of Uniontown, and Mrs. B. F. Hawes, occurred last night at the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York. Mr. Thompson secured leave of absence for 11 months, and left here, presumably for a European trip, and his friends were taken by surprise by the marriage. The bride is not known in Uniontown, but is said to be from Scranton. The only guest from Uniontown at the wedding was John R. Thompson, son of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson sailed today on the Kronprinz Wilhelm for a trip throughout Europe, India, Egypt and other countries. They will remain a year or 15 months, the trip to be for rest and recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson upon their arrival in Uniontown will occupy the old homestead formerly owned by ex-Congressman C. E. Boyle, in North Union township, one of the finest homes in Western Pennsylvania, upon which costly improvements have already been started. At the age of 46 years, with a fortune of millions, Mr. Thompson has now announced his intention of retiring from active business, and to make his country home one of the most magnificent in this section.

BANKNOTES WERE GONE.

Valuable Package Disappears from an Express Wagon and a Man Is Arrested.

The bureau of detectives was actively engaged all yesterday in seeking to solve the mystery surrounding the disappearance of $1,180 from a wagon of the United States Express Company on Monday. E. J. Munze, an employe of the company, was arrested at the freight house of the company in Water street on suspicion.

Munze was on the wagon on Monday night with the driver, Charles Lemly, when he made a trip to the Pittsburgh & Western railroad depot. Among the articles was a package containing $1,180 in bank notes. It was consigned to the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and placed in the box under the seat of the driver.

Lemly and his assistant drove to the office in Wood street. When they arrived there the package was gone and the detective bureau was notified. Munze will have a hearing this morning.

Two Men Stricken With Paralysis.

Michael Paul of No. 35 Buchanan street, Allegheny, suffered a stroke of paralysis last night and is in a serious condition. Paul is well known in Allegheny, having formerly been lieutenant of police in that city. Joseph Laby was stricken with paralysis last evening while at work at the Edith furnace, and was taken to his home. He is 23 years old and lives at No. 78 Lecky avenue, Allegheny.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the Pittsburgh daily Gazette. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Comfort Powder does not "skin" through its work— it works through the skin.

On the petition requesting John C. Brown to become a candidate for sheriff, no ticket being specified, are the names of leading attorneys at the bar, business men and politicians of every party and faction. The paper is a strong testimonial of the esteem in which Mr. Brown is held by those who know him, and in its signatures is one of the most remarkable examples of harmony among warring political interests ever seen anywhere. It may be remarked in passing that Mr. Brown is a Republican and if he becomes a candidate will submit his name to the Republican primaries.

Apart altogether from the present troubles in the bindery department of the government printing office there are good reasons for a thorough investigation of the whole concern. Its cost is so inordinate as to indicate that the government would make a big saving by abolishing it and letting the work out on contract. The entire system of publishing public documents needs revision. President Roosevelt has already called attention to the wasteful profusion which now exists and which ought to be corrected. There is already talk of a congressional investigation and there is good occasion for one.

The strain of the exertion which Pope Pius X. has been undergoing culminated in a fainting fit yesterday morning and this will probably cause a radical change of method. It was by husbanding his strength and living a simple life that Pope Leo XIII. attained such extreme length of life. The new pope will find it necessary to restrict the demands that are being made upon his strength so as to be able to devote himself to the administrative duties of his office. Now that the coronation ceremonies are over the ceremonial obligations of the pope will be lightened and he will be able to obtain the rest he needs.

Owing to the reduction in cost of the maintenance of the water supply with metered service, Cleveland is able to fix the charge at 5 1-3 cents per 1,000 gallons, the rate being the same for all consumers. In Pittsburgh the meter rate ranges from 6 cents to 20 cents per 1,000 gallons, according to the quantity used, the small consumer paying the highest rate. Even at the rate of 20 cents a thousand gallons consumers are finding that it is cheaper to put in meters at their own expense. In Cleveland meters are put in at the expense of the city. Pittsburgh gives her people typhoid infected water to drink, charges them more for it than any other city and makes the mass of consumers pay for water wasted or used by others.

The underground railway disaster in Paris does not diminish in horror as details become known, and the occurrence makes an impressive revelation of the dreadful possibilities which an accident to a subterranean road may entail. The mass of the victims would have escaped uninjured had such a train wreck occurred above ground, but as it was they perished from the smoke which filled the tunnel. Many bodies were found massed about the ticket office, being evidently those of persons procuring their tickets before getting on the train. The accident is now found to have been due to a defective electrical motor, which set fire to the train and made the tunnel section in which it was like a blast furnace. More than a year ago Mr. George Westinghouse of this city pointed out the danger in heavy electrical traction making, particular mention of the fact that under certain circumstances the whole train would go up in smoke. It appears this case is similar to what he predicted in the event of high power and an overload.

According to the New York Sun the postoffice department is about to make an extension of service which will make nearly every railroad train a mail train. The establishment of the rural delivery service has caused a demand all over the country for more frequent railway mail service, but the department found it hard to respond to the demand until it hit upon an expedient suggested by the practice of newspaper publishers. It has been their custom to use ordinary trains by entrusting newspaper bundles to trainmen with instructions to throw them off at certain places. It is now proposed that the government commission such trainmen as postal agents and pay them for their services, thus assuming responsibility for the delivery of the mail matter. It is pointed out that the practical effect of the system will be to make most railroad trains mail trains, entitled to the immediate protection of the government in case of obstruction by riot or disorder. As the national government has control of interstate commerce it has authority to intervene in case of obstruction to interstate commerce, as was done under President Cleveland's administration in the case of the Chicago sympathetic strikes in aid of the Pullman strikers. The extension of the mail service will have a tendency to put local trains under the immediate protection of national authority, causing its intervention even in cases which may not amount to obstruction of interstate commerce.

Appeal from Macedonia.

The appeal of the Macedonian committee to the European powers is sensible in its statement of facts and moderate in its demands. The responsibility of the European powers for the Macedonian situation is indisputable. By the treaty between Russia and Turkey at the close of their last war, Macedonia was included in the territory delineated for the newly created principality of Bulgaria. The European powers at the congress of Berlin recognized the independence of Bulgaria, but cut away from it Roumelia and Macedonia, the first being made an autonomous province governed by a Christian governor general, and the latter being returned to Turkey. In 1885 there was a popular uprising in Roumelia in favor of annexation to Bulgaria and the union was accomplished, the European powers accepting the situation.

The demand now made with regard to Macedonia is that it shall be treated as Roumelia was formerly, namely, that it shall be made an autonomous province under a Christian governor general. Doubtless the expectation is that eventually Macedonia will follow the precedent set by Roumelia and become incorporated with Bulgaria, but it shows marked political sagacity to limit the present demand to just the same autonomy as was provided by the powers for Roumelia. Notwithstanding this prospect, which is not favorably regarded by some of the powers, it is probable that the solution of the problem proposed by the committee must in the end be adopted. The present state of anarchy cannot continue indefinitely, and the inability of Turkey to effect reform of any kind practically limits the choice to autonomy or annexation. As between the two autonomy will be preferred as postponing the difficulties that will present themselves when the question of annexation comes up.

There is a curious conflict of national tendencies in Macedonia arising from its past history. The country is famous in history as the seat of dominion over all Greece, and of the extension of Hellenism through the east by the conquests of Alexander the Great. Its population includes many Greeks and to acquire possession of it is the ardent desire of Greece. Her ambition in that direction was repulsed, but not destroyed by the crushing defeat of the Greek army in the war with Turkey in 1897. But in the tenth century most of Macedonia was included in the kingdom of Bulgaria, and the Bulgarians in in Macedonia are working for the restoration of their national rule over the country. Hence the present uprising in Macedonia is viewed with jealousy and disfavor by Greece. Moreover, the growth of Bulgaria is regarded with jealousy by other European governments, who fear that it may develop a strength that may disturb the balance of power. Bulgaria has displayed remarkable ability to manage its own affairs, and appears to contain the elements of national greatness provided she can secure opportunities of growth. This conflict of interests accounts for the delay and uncertainty in the action of the powers in dealing with the Macedonia problem, but events are fast reaching a stage when positive action of some kind will become compulsory.

Immigration in England.

A British royal commission, appointed to investigate immigration to the United Kingdom, has just submitted a report favoring exclusion of undesirable elements, patterned somewhat after the exclusion laws of the United States. Among others it enumerates convicted criminals, lunatics and persons likely to become a charge upon the public as fit subjects for exclusion.

The report is sensible and proper. Great Britain has been an asylum for the derelicts of Europe who have been unable to procure a passage to America. Along with its principles of civil and religious liberty and its policy of free trade, the United Kingdom has opened its doors wide to the oppressed of other lands. Through that ample portal have come rogues, murderers, lunatics and beggars. Tolerance has ceased to be a virtue. One-third of London is in poverty and the authorities have been only too slow about taking steps to close the doors against the worst elements of continental society. The report of the commission ought to be promptly adopted and the measures put in force. While it only follows the American restrictions it is a good beginning. Later both nations can build higher barriers upon that foundation. They are needed. Let the continental countries of Europe deal with their own defectives instead of dumping them upon nations which take better care of them.

Incidentally we may see in the movement to screen immigration the tendency of British thought to return to protective principles. There is no absolute connection between restriction of immigration and the collection of duties upon foreign products, but they fit together. This movement, then, is not less significant of changing British sentiment than the proposal of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain to establish a system of preferential tariffs.

Lynching and Law.

While Gov. Tyrrell of Georgia takes occasion to approve the wisdom of President Roosevelt's utterance upon mob law, John Temple Graves of the same state informs the cultured audience at Chautauqua that lynching will persist as long as certain crimes are committed. There is here a conflict of Georgia authority. Gov. Tyrrell's approval is specifically given to President Roosevelt's suggestion that all effort should be bent toward making the punishment of certain crimes swift and sure by the orderly process of the courts. Mr. Graves just as positively declares that the commission of those crimes will be followed by mob vengeance, regardless of the courts.

We think Gov. Tyrrell and President Roosevelt are right and that John Temple Graves is mistaken. But preliminary to all other reforms we suggest the elimination from our language of the word "law" in conjunction with the terms "mob" and "lynch." There is no such thing as "mob law" or "lynch law." The mob is opposed to the fundamental principle of law and lynching is utterly lawless. The familiar use of the terms corrupts public sentiment. It gives the impression that law in some way sanctions, or condones the acts of the mob in certain cases, particularly to the large element of population that has not yet fully acquired the use of the national language. A lynching is an exhibition of mob vengeance, nothing more or less. It is lawless and an outrage upon the orderly system of procedure provided by the guarantee of trial by jury. It is abhorrent to the American spirit of fair play and justice.

We grant freely there is need for the amendment of legal procedure to secure the swifter and more certain administration of justice. We believe that technicalities are given too much importance in the courts, which are sometimes so learned in the law as represented by points of practice that they ignore common sense and common justice. But we do not believe that lynching can be condoned, or that it bears any other relation to "law" than that of defiance.

American Practice Prized.

Despite more or less derogatory reports by Mosely commissions and others, the British mind is gradually being forced to the conclusion that industrial America is superior. The latest evidence is the employment of Alfred M. Mosscrop by Dorman, Long & Co., limited, of Middleborough, England, to "Americanize" the firm's mills and furnaces. The imposed condition was to "show results within two years." Mr. Mosscrop's comment was that if he did not get results in nine months he would be willing to have his contract cancelled. The young man has been connected with the United States Steel Corporation and he is expected to introduce in conservative Middleborough genuine American methods. If he is as successful as Contractor James W. Stewart of this city the regeneration of iron and steel manufacture in England will soon begin.

To accomplish what is expected of him Mr. Mosscrop will have difficulties to overcome. Principal among these is the hostility of British workmen to the American methods and machinery. Mr. Mosscrop will have no trouble about installing American machinery. He knows where to get it; he knows the best models; he knows how to place it. But after the machinery is there it must be operated and the British workman does not want to see it succeed. There are two ways, however, in which it may be operated successfully—by the importation of American workmen, or by the less expensive expedient of showing British workmen how they increase their earnings by one-half. Of course, they will resist at first, for their unions have taught them that limitation of individual output is the only means by which average wages can be maintained. Yet given the alternative of a persuasive extra piece of money, or displacement by American operatives they will yield. Once they yield all the unions in Great Britain cannot stop the complete reorganization of the industry.

American practice will be a good thing for British industry, but what will be the effect upon America? That cannot be accurately foretold, but we have faith that the men who found the way to supremacy for a young nation will find the way to keep it. The American workman and manager are no less resourceful than they have been during the quarter of a century that has sufficed to cut in two the cost of producing a ton of pig iron. England may run them a close race, once well started, for second place, but if so Germany will suffer. And it is only because Great Britain is falling into third place that it consents to swallow its pride and appeal to have its manufacturing plants "Americanized."

Steel Is All Right.

There is nothing the matter with the steel business is the way it is put by Mr. Alexis W. Thompson, president of the Republic Iron and Steel Company. Mr. Thompson is in a position to know. He knows the difference between a steel ingot and a Wall street bear and he estimates accurately the difference in their value. Steel mills are shutting down, Mr. Thompson admits, because for three years they have been driven by orders beyond the possibility of making proper repairs and they now have to close for that purpose. Orders are not pressing as hard this year as last and the steel manufacturers are glad of it, for they had reached the limit of endurance. They can stop this month for repairs and to catch their breath and they have orders booked to keep them going at full capacity for the remainder of the year.

Mr. Thompson states the situation fairly and conservatively. There is not a thing in the steel business to cause any one to be alarmed. The only visible trouble is in Wall street. Beyond that Mr. Thompson justly calls attention to the fact that the country has resources other than steel. Its steel output last year reached a total of about $500,000,000. Its wheat, its cotton, its corn, its poultry products were each about as large. He might have added that the hay crop was worth more than that, the fruit crop quite as much and the dairy industry not far behind. All of these things are in good condition now and if not a pound of steel was produced for two years they would keep the people from starving. Steel cannot be eaten anyway. It is very useful in its finished forms in the planting, cultivation, harvesting and transporting of the crops, and while the crops thrive there will be a pretty lively demand for steel for these purposes and others. Truly there is no cause for apprehension.

With reference to the prospective visit of Sir Thomas Lipton to Toronto after the yacht race, the Toronto Globe says: "Whether he visits us in triumph or in defeat his reception will be equally enthusiastic; but we all hope he will come as a victor. He deserves to win." Certainly he deserves to win. But so do his competitors. And as they expect to win they will be glad to know that the Toronto welcome to Sir Thomas will be no less enthusiastic than if they should lose. When, however, he starts for Toronto, whether as victor or vanquished, he will depart with a heartfelt American sendoff that will show appreciation of the man as he has been revealed by the yachtsman.

DREAMS AND REALITIES.

"Awhile ago, when the announcement was made in New York that automobiles might be driven by a wireless system, we all said: 'Tesla's dreaming again,'" said the Old Stager as he trotted in. "So he was. But while he was dreaming and talking others were working. Within a few days the cables have brought the information that M. Torres of Paris has been demonstrating to the French government his ability to propel and steer a torpedo carrier with Hertzian waves. If a boat can be run that way, why not a sulky or pneumatic-tired, ball-bearing carriage?

"Coincidentally the cables have brought the news that M. D. Le Bon, also of Paris, has succeeded, operating from a long distance, in exploding a charge of powder in a bomb-proof vault within a French fort by means of the same Hertz rays. M. Le Bon thinks he has made war well-nigh an impossibility. Just think of the possibility of blowing up an enemy's forts and battleships by exploding their own powder with a little machine 10 or 20 miles away! A Russian scientist, however, lately deceased from the effects of handling his dangerous chemical compounds, left papers indicating his discovery of a method by which he might blow up the arsenals in Constantinople without leaving St. Petersburg. Since the Chinese invented gunpowder a few centuries ago it has been the most effective means of aggression and defense. Now science proposes to make it a dangerous thing to keep in stock. But suppose some other scientist finds a means to counteract the Hertz waves?

"It has been noted that the presence of a very small quantity of radium renders powerful electrical currents inoperative. For example, a bit of radium near the Crookes tube prevents the current from exciting the tube to emit the Roentgen rays. M. and Mme. Curie announced that fact some months ago. It may be just as easy to annihilate the Hertz waves, thereby preventing the destruction of magazines and rendering inoperative the 'wireless' telegraph on warships. Tesla has not announced that possibility, but it is probable some plodding electrician with less imagination and more industry is working on it.

"Wizard Edison, who has given up experimenting with Roentgen rays after nearly losing an eye, advances the best theory yet offered to explain the radio-activity of metals without appreciable loss of weight. His idea is that radium, thorium, polnium and uranium are substances that fluoresce under the impact of a mysterious ray, carried by the universal ether, of which we know nothing; that is, a ray not yet discovered. Mr. Edison's experiments with Roentgen's X-rays were chiefly causing the fluorescence of tungstan of calcium. The impact of the mysterious ray from the cathode causes the tungstan to glow with a beautiful light. Mr. Edison thought it might be of commercial value, but he has concluded it would be murderous instead. Now he argues that tungstan of calcium is extracted from mineral substance related to pitchblende, from which radium, etc., are extracted, and he concludes they are sensitive to a natural ray, just as the tungstan is to the mysterious ray from the cathode pole. Why not?

"Surely this is the age of inquiry and accomplishment. Science is digging deep into the mysteries of nature. But science has another side. There are the faddists and the collectors. One of the Rothschilds in London offers $5,000 for a flea, and he doesn't want a bite, either. There are plenty of people in London in need of a bite—of something to eat, but Mr. Rothschilds' desire is to complete a valuable collection of fleas by the addition of one from the arctic fox. Different fleas bite different animals, and it is a rare flea that assists the arctic fox to forget that he is a fox or that the temperature is innumerable degrees below zero, as David Harum might say.

"Compared with the science that seeks to destroy magazines and warships, the science of fleas appears insignificant. But the difference will not be apparent to M. Le Bon and Mr. Rothschild a hundred years from now. In a thousand years the world may forget both of them and the flea will be dead. My old friend Bill Jukes, up in the mountains, became ambitious once. He dug a pit in search of gold. He didn't find any and in winter the pit filled with snow. When spring came the snow melted and the rains filled the pit with water. Bill went out one day to view the result of the previous year's labor, the frostbitten ground crumbled and he slid into the hole. When he got out he looked the worse for wear and was weary with exertion. When he sat on a log at a safe distance, he gasped: 'What's the use of anything? Nawthink.' Maybe so."

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Priscilla, when I gaze upon
The azure of your eyes,
I see the glory of the dawn
And peace of twilight skies.
Please note my blushes and my sigh,
And O, Priscilla, dear,
But say the word that you'll be my Domestic engineer.
—Chicago Tribune.

In one of the big educational institutions in Chicago, the Thomas S. Clarkson school of technology, they confer upon young women who complete the course in domestic science the degree of bachelor of science in domestic engineering.

Hence the lines quoted above.

Wonder how one of these engineers would compare with mother in the kitchen?

The chances are that mother could take a handful of red Neshannock potatoes, a head of cabbage, a hock of ham, some stale bread, one egg or two and a few scraps of one kind or other, and get up a boiled dinner, with pudding for dessert, that would put the domestic engineer to shame.

It is possible, however, that were mother placed in the engineer's cab, or laboratory, or culinary dispensary, or whatever they call it, she might not be able to scrape up anything fit to eat.

In order to appreciate the work of a domestic engineer one must have educated tastes.

There was a good mother who gave her best boy to the city, and he always kept her in mind, sending her high-class groceries and popular relishes. On one occasion he sent a package of choice olives, having acquired a taste for them himself, or claiming to have done so. In her next letter she told him that "he must have been cheated in them pickles, for they was nothing but little, runty, green things, and the brine was spoiled, being neither sour ner sweet nor spiced. Even the pigs turned up their noses at them."

And that is the way with many things besides the things we eat.

There are sermons, for instance, turned out by regular licensed theological engineers which to the cultivated taste are all right, but to the average taste they are spoiled, not even spiced with current events or flavored with common sense. To appreciate these you would have to first get a college education, take a course in a theological school and keep yourself well read up on higher criticism.

Nor is it good form to say you prefer the good old heart-to-heart talks preachers used to give us to the modern ethical disquisition. We must make believe we like olives whether we do or not, as did the Scotch women.

"Sir, I dinna ken a part of your sermon yesterday." "Indeed! What was it?" "You said the apostle used the figure of circumlocution, and I dinna ken what it means." "Is that all?" said the minister. "It's very plain. The figure of circumlocution is merely a periphrastic mode of diction." "Oh, oh, is that all?" said the good woman. "What a puir fool I were not to understand that!"

And we find the same thing in political and commercial affairs. An emperor tips his hat to a king, shakes his hand vigorously and jostles him familiarly—to see if he is loaded. A monarch gives presents to the powers that are stronger than the one he represents, and gives kicks to the others.

Nations, like children, try to bamboozle each other by feigning high admiration and pretending great fondness.

Not long since our minister to England while responding to a toast given at the lord mayor's banquet, perhaps, ventured to suggest that a statue of George Washington should be erected in one of the London parks, seeing that he was of English descent, and that he had done so much, indirectly, for merrie England. This was received with cries of "Hear! Hear!" and other signs of applause.

In commenting on this and cheap international courtesies generally, the Manchester Times says:

"It's a fine notion. Not that there are any liars in the metropolis; we don't want George to fancy he is going to instruct the men of Cockaigne in the eternal verities. No. The statue will serve to remind them of a time when a person who told the truth was as rare as a liar today. And let it be erected in Fleet street, where journalists most do congregate.

"One can imagine the statue being discussed by the 'Chicaleery Blokes.' As this:

"First C. B.—Oi sol, 'Erry, hoo's this ole josser?

"Second C. B.—Im? Whoy, thet's Jorge Washington.

"First C. B.—En hoo's the ole pot-'erb when 'e's at 'owm?

"Second C. B.—E's the cowve wot sed as 'ow 'e never tole a cremmer.

"First C. B.—'Orrid ole liar. Let's chuck stowns at 'im.

"(They do so.)"

But for faking, bluffing and hamboozling the matrimonial field wins, hands down.

Considering the fact that this business has been going on from the Lord only knows when, is popular in every land under the sun and altogether the most active and extensive business in the world, one would naturally suppose that nonsense, claptrap and cheating had been eliminated from it and that practical, common-sense methods prevailed generally.

Even the oldest and most picturesque object in the entire field, the old maid, is neither understood nor appreciated. However, she is growing in favor. More power to her!

Here is the way a modern philosopher and sociologist sizes her up:

"To the reflective it often seems strange that so many really nice girls are left to become what in times past was styled an old maid. One wonders why they have been overlooked by the members of the other sex, and perhaps one begins to think not too highly of the choice of the men who have entered the married state.

"Strange as it may seem, however, the fault as often as not lies with the girl herself. She is a nice girl, has been brought up to think that the man should seek the maid, and unfortunately carries the lesson too far.

"In men's company she is shy, even awkward, and most difficult from his point of view. Because she is afraid of appearing forward she leaves him all the work to do, and frequently leads him to believe that she takes no interest in him, when in reality she takes a great deal.

"From false modesty she goes out of her way to avoid him; puts all thought of love from her, thinking that she has no right until the man has declared his feelings, and finally, through carrying what is sometimes called her maidenliness too far, alters some good man's life, and dooms herself to a lonely and uncared-for old age.

"The spirit of her course of action is admirable, as all will agree, but 'tis a pity that it is not tempered with a little more reason, for many such girls would undoubtedly make the best of wives."

Then there is the old bachelor who has to be taken into account whenever you attempt any figuring on the social problem. While he is an odd stick, generally speaking, he is also a good fellow—none better and many worse, by a whole lot.

That the old bachelor is not doing his whole duty is known to all, and he himself manfully acknowledges it. Nor is he always able to account for his failure in fulfilling his mission here on earth. He claims that it is no fault of his, or rather that it is not all his fault, and would, no doubt, thank you or anybody for making him acquainted with himself.

But he is here—he has been here a long time and is liable to continue indefinitely, which isn't bad news for the world. There is talk of taxing him, but that won't eliminate him, for he would rather be taxed with cash dues than with a wife.

Anent the taxing of bachelors, an English paper gets off the following:

"Boston, U. S. A., is the hub of the universe, and in the hub, of course, the hubby is held in high esteem. But there are some men who will not become hubbies, and the authorities are aroused. In a great and free country it is held that one cannot seize the single man and marry him right off by force majeure, so that they are going to tax the brute. At a meeting in Boston it was agreed the other day that 'the bachelor of 30 is a disgrace to his country.' It should be remembered that the Mormon elders of Salt Lake City, Utah, are doing their best for the cause by marrying a dozen or so apiece, but in Boston there is a prejudice against the female population being 'Utahized' in this manner."

Prof. Ludwig Mond, the chemist, has joined with Mark Twain and several other prominent men the list of distinguished persons who have read their own death notices. The death of Prof. Mond was reported from Rome while he was enjoying the scenery about Montreux.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Pittsburghers are numerous in the lyrical and theatrical professions in New York. It would be possible to name a dozen well-known Pittsburgh young men and women who have gained fame as public entertainers who may be seen in Broadway these days. An interesting engagement of a Pittsburgher has just been made. It is that of "Toss" Weeden, son of the prominent Allegheny basso of 10 years ago, William C. Weeden. The son bears his father's name, William C., but he has always been known in Pittsburgh as "Toss." He has just been reengaged as leading tenor of the Bostonians. There is a popular opinion that Mr. Weeden is the best light opera tenor of today, which is indorsed by W. H. MacDonald of the company. Mr. Weeden will have an opportunity of singing all the tenor roles that have been made famous by the Bostonians, together with some new ones. An actor who has always been a favorite in Pittsburgh is Samuel B. Brobst. He was a member of the Grand Opera House stock company in its first and second seasons, and had a long train of admirers in that city. He played the juvenile roles which Thomas W. Ross afterward assumed in the organization. Mr. Brobst was a member of the "Ben Hur" company last season, and has just been engaged again for his old part. By the way, Thomas W. Ross is in New York at this time busily rehearsing the title role in "Checkers."

Keeping an Eye on the Glass.

New York mariners were worried today over the weather bulletin which forewarned them of a terrific hurricane approaching from the West Indies. It was not threatened that the hurricane—which actually is a tornado—would reach New York, but it would make things interesting for any ships sailing from this port for southern seas.

Pittsburgh Comes to the Front.

For the first time in the history of New York a song published by a Pittsburgh firm will be rendered in public tomorrow afternoon. It is, "When All Goes Wrong," published by the Walrus Company, and it will be sung by Charlotte George at the Duss concert in Madison Square garden. Musical men say that with the exception of Stephen C. Foster's ballads there have been no Pittsburgh songs sung in the present generation.

From a New York Point of View.

The Paris underground horror and the fact that New York has a rapid transit tunnel of the same pattern as that in Paris has given people here a shock from which they will not soon recover. The controversy on the possible digging up of Broadway for an extension to the subway has dropped out of sight for the present. What people want to know is whether such precautions will be taken in the New York subway that the burning up of a hundred passengers through a defective electric fuse will be practically impossible.

Nellie McHenry's Good Fortune.

Nellie McHenry has reversed the usual method of getting advertising in connection with lost jewels and money. She has found $50,000 which had been in the unknown since the death of her husband, jolly John Webster, about a year ago. It was always believed that Webster had a lot of money when he died mysteriously at Niagara Falls, but his widow had never been able to put her hands on it. She has just discovered $50,000 in two safe deposit vaults and now is prepared to begin her theatrical season with a light heart. Nellie McHenry is very well known in Pittsburgh.

Squabble About a Book.

Bibliophiles had a field day in what is known as the Tenderloin police court today. There was a squabble over the ownership of a first edition copy of "Legends of New England," which had been bought and sold and lost and regained, just as rare first editions have a habit of being. It was a measly-looking little book, and only the fact that the author was John G. Whittier and that the book was printed in public more than 70 years ago—that is, in 1831—could give it value. But the work is held at $50, and everybody in court, including the magistrate, seemed to think it was well worth the money.

Magistrate Evades the Issue.

That vexed question, whether bookmaking should be allowed on the racetracks and forbidden in poolrooms, came up in a Brooklyn police court today. Benjamin Steinhardt, who caused the arrest of a special officer at Brighton Beach because he refused to arrest a bookmaker at the request of a man who had made a bet, delivered a fervent philippic against betting at the track, but it did not seem to have much effect. The magistrate would not dismiss the case, but dodged the issue by adjourning it until September 1. Racing men, as well as those who bet occasionally on the "ponies," are deeply interested, but do not think the case can end in any but one way—the continued legalizing of racetrack betting.

Keeping a Watch for Yellow Jack.

Yellow fever will hardly get a foothold in New York if vigilance by the health authorities at the port can prevent it. Six men of the crew of the Ward line steamer Matanzas, from Tampico, Matanzas and Havana, were today taken to Swinburne island for observation. They had had fever since leaving Tampico and the ship's surgeon was a little doubtful as to what it might become in the way of disease. There is much yellow fever at Mexican ports, and Dr. Doty, the health officer here, is nervous.

Mr. Dyer's Other Side.

Those who saw Elisha Dyer, Jr., dashing about the floor of the New York stock exchange today were obliged to confess that the young man has more than one side to his life. He it was who led one of the cotillions at Mrs. Astor's ball last night, and according to all accounts he did it well. He had been in Wall street all day, but he turned up at Newport bright and active in time for the ball, and when he led the train of gorgeously-dressed young women and well-groomed men in Mrs. Astor's new ballroom there was no suggestion of the busy young man who had howled and fought with the rest in Wall street only a few hours before. He did not appear tired today, either, although he stayed in the street till the bell rang.

Roosevelt on Mob Law

President Roosevelt's letter to Gov. Durbin of Indiana is unusual, but it ought to serve a great public purpose, for it is direct, vigorous and convincing, and it voices to the world the better sentiment of the country. Defiance of the law by irresponsible mobs is rushing toward a national catastrophe. All sections are suffering from the new spirit of anarchy. It must be stopped. To allow it to increase is to turn back human progress.

The president declares, "The corner stone of this republic, as of all free governments, is respect for and obedience to the law." That fact must be held aloft and kept steadily in view. Before it all excuses for lynchings and mob rule are naught. The law must prevail or liberty will lose its power. All over the land there should be a crusade against the mob spirit, and the president's letter sounds the cry that all law-abiding citizens should heed and follow.—Baltimore Herald.

+ + + +

President Roosevelt, in his letter to Gov. Durbin, states a very serious case in befitting terms. As the chief officer of the law, he speaks for its majesty and enforcement. As a good citizen he denounces men who commit acts of violence and barbarism. As a man of thought and reading he points out the appalling and far-reaching consequences of the growth of the mob spirit. No man, indeed, can read the president's letter without agreeing, if he cares for the welfare of the country, to every sentiment therein proclaimed. It goes straight to the point, and the point is of the greatest consequence to the people of the United States.

It is a queer reply to say, as in all truth we can say, that these offenses are committed by a few men, and men who, as a rule, are the least worthy in the community. The question instantly follows, what are the majority of the people doing? Why are a small and disreputable minority permitted to run rough shod over the law in this way? If its execution is lax, those who are responsible should be rebuked. But, on every account, mobs should be put down.—Washington Star.

+ + + +

Mr. Roosevelt has boldly put his finger on the real motive of lynching. It is born in race prejudice and race hatred. It lays more emphasis upon the color of the criminal than upon his crime. Its prime assumption is that the negro is, as such, beyond the protection of the law. Therefore, the first duty of all who would set their faces against the torrent of lynching which threatens to sweep us all away, is to fight race discrimination in all of its manifestations. That is the only way to make those bitter waters sweet at the fountain. By seeing and saying this, and by standing up so manfully for the inviolability of justice and the supremacy of the law, President Roosevelt has put us all in his debt. From his letter to Gov. Durbin there might well date a new patriotic and civilizing impulse, leading honest men everywhere to unite, in word and deed, and with every instrument of persuasion and of power, to put down those lawless bands that are today our greatest national danger as they are our deepest disgrace.—New York Evening Post.

+ + + +

The fact which the president emphasizes, the fact which the governor has emphasized by his words and his acts, is that lynching is lawlessness, and lawlessness is anarchy, and it is absolutely certain that if the mob can override the courts in one class of cases it will override them in other classes also. The authority of the state must be maintained; the accused should be tried promptly and if guilty punished severely and promptly; but he must be tried, and tried fairly, or else no man is safe from a hue and cry that may be raised against him.—Philadelphia Record.

+ + + +

The president has done the nation a service in writing this letter because his words will go to every corner of the land, and make people stop and think. Stress is laid on the heavy responsibility resting on all officers of the law and on the courts to deal quickly and efficiently with criminals accused of rape and other heinous offenses. All the agencies for reaching and forming public opinion, he urges, should be put in action to help put down mob violence and to assert the supremacy of law under all circumstances. The contempt for law that breaks out in every outrage of this sort is a crime against the republic.—Buffalo Commercial.

+ + + +

The prompt and efficient action of Gov. Durbin, by which public order was restored in Evansville a month ago, had already gained for the Indiana executive the hearty commendation of the country, but all good citizens who see straight and think clearly must welcome President Roosevelt's authoritative tribute of praise for the service so rendered. If the president's letter to the governor had been merely an emphatic expression of approval for that performance of duty it would have been appropriate and useful, but the conditions to which it relates are becoming more serious from week to week, and it is well that public attention has been drawn to them in this unusual manner.—New York Tribune.

+ + + +

The tendency of mob law to breed a contempt for established law and a lack of reverence for its observance, a policy which, if carried to its logical conclusion, would result in anarchy first and tyranny afterward, makes the letter which President Roosevelt has written to Gov. Durbin of Indiana, congratulating him upon his stand in the matter, most timely. The tendency of men to take the law into their own hands during a moment of passion and excitement is most vicious and must at all times be antagonized, and calls for earnest denunciation from the leading men of the nation, for it is only through the upholding of the law that the government can stand.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

These earnest words of the president will not only be read all over this country, but they will redound to the credit of our government throughout the civilized world.—New York World.

ABOU T. LIPTON.

Abou T. Lipton (may his tribe increase!)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace
And saw an angel with a fountain pen
Scribbling upon a sheet of foolscap. Then,
Regaining his composure, Tom sat up
And asked the angelic one to have a cup
Of his best tea. The angel shook his head,
"I'm on the water wagon now," he said.
Abou T. Lipton waved his hand: "I see.
But, by the way, what writest thou?" said he.
The heavenly vision answered, "Well, I write
Here on this little sheet, in black and white,
The man whose boat will get the needed place—
The winner in the coming yachting race."
The gallant Lipton brightened up. "Pray tell,"
He queried, "does the name begin with L?"
"I'm sorry," said his guest. "It is a shame,
But as things stand, I cannot write your name."
T. Lipton made reply, "Would I were it,
But put me down as one who never quit!"
The angel wrote and vanished. The next night
He called on Tom again, but not to write.
Said he, "I have, on this large, handsome chart,
(A fine example of the engraver's art,)
The names of some true sportsmen—just the best."

RELIGION MIXED WITH POLITICS

Offer of $1,000 for a Scriptural Text Is Met With a Counter-Proposition.

NEW PHASE OF BLUE LAWS

Seventh-Day Adventists Asked to Make Good Their Assertion—No Action Taken to Collect Remitted Fines—Informations Made Against Druggists.

Wilkinsburg's blue law crusade is daily becoming more complex. With the religious discussion of Sabbath observance, the proposition to annex the borough to the city and the druggists' refusal to pay all the fines which had been remitted by Justice J. J. Walker, religion and politics are strangely mixed.

Yesterday there was a lull in the storm, so far as the political end is concerned. Attorney H. L. Castle, who is representing the auditor general's department in collecting the fines, took no steps in behalf of the commonwealth, and the annexationists rested on their oars, preparatory to the opening of their campaign later in the week. The committee of 12, representing the church workers, and the committee of five, which holds up the druggists' end, had nothing to report. Both bodies, however, have held several recent star chamber sessions.

In the religious camp there was more activity. The doctrines of the Seventh Day Adventists are now being generally discussed. There is nothing more popular in Wilkinsburg than theological debate and the advent of Evangelist C. S. Longacre, who has dipped into the Biblical side of the blue law crusade, is hailed by the people with eminent satisfaction.

The offer of $1,000, made by an unknown clergyman, to any person who can give a text from the Bible which commands Christians to keep the first day of the week, is met by a counter proposition from a reader of The Gazette, who is willing to give the same sum to any person who can find a scriptural injunction commanding Christians to keep the seventh day of the week.

Justice J. J. Walker says he will proceed to collect the fines which had been imposed in the hearings against the alleged violators of the blue laws as soon as he receives official notice from the auditor general, but declares that the committee of five will appeal from the decision of the attorney general and that he will be stopped in his collections.

Information was made against three Wilkinsburg druggists by J. J. Campbell, a member of the committee of 12, before Alderman E. C. Negley yesterday. The defendants are W. L. Smith of No. 700 Wood street, J. C. Pauley of No. 700 Trenton avenue and W. C. Covell of No. 612 Rebecca street. They are charged with selling soda water and tobacco on Sunday last. The hearing is set for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. It is believed that these druggists have already had hearings and that they will present transcripts.

ADRIAN FURNACE WAS LIGHTED AUSPICIOUSLY

Industrial Event at DuBois Last Monday Was Attended by Social Features.

The Adrian furnace of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal & Iron Company, was lighted at DuBois last Monday. The affair was attended by A. G. Yates, president of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railroad, and Mrs. Yates; Lucius W. Robinson, president and general manager of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal & Iron Company, and Mrs. Robinson; Senator and Mrs. Patton, Curwensville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Kennedy, Pittsburgh; James P. Welsh, general manager Fitzpatrick Glass Manufacturing Company, Falls Creek, Pa.; A. R. Van Tassel, president of the Union Banking and Trust Company, DuBois, and Mrs. Van Tassel; Mr. Hyde, of Hyde Bros. & Co., Clearfield and Pittsburgh; B. M. Marlin, secretary of the Union Banking and Trust Company, DuBois, and Mrs. Marlin; the Hon. and Mrs. S. M. Free, DuBois; Fred Lincoln, general manager of the Buffalo & Susquehanna interests, DuBois, Pa., and Mrs. Lincoln; Maj. Montrose Barnard, assistant general manager of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal & Iron Company, Punxsutawney; John Reed, assistant general manager of the Jefferson & Clearfield Coal & Iron Company, DuBois, and other prominent citizens of DuBois.

The furnace was lighted by Mrs. A. G. Yates. It was designed by Julian Kennedy. It is 12 feet at the hearth, 19 feet, 6 inches at the bosh, 13 feet at the throat and 80 feet high; is equipped with four hot blast stoves, 22x80 feet, of Julian Kennedy's design; three high-pressure blowing engines, built by the Morgan Engineering Company, Alliance, O.; 2,500-horse power, horizontal type boilers, built by the Aultman & Taylor Machinery Company, Mansfield, O.

Thomas W. Kennedy, until recently superintendent of the Isabella furnaces at Etna, is the superintendent in charge.

CHANCE FOR HOME TALENT.

Exposition Management Ready to Receive Works of Local Composers.

The exposition management is now ready to receive compositions for presentation on "Pittsburgh Composers'" night. The works submitted must be those of Pittsburghers; they should be arranged for a band of 50 pieces, and may be left with Manager T. J. Fitzpatrick at the Exposition office on Duquesne way.

As it is desired to make the programs for this occasion of such genuine artistic worth as to merit critical judgment and serious attention, even outside the city, local musicians are earnestly requested to subject their compositions to careful self-criticism and offer only the best of their creative efforts. While instrumental works of necessity will be in the majority, good songs will be accepted in limited number.

A Novel Effect in Black.

One of the quaintest and most artistic booklets recently produced, is entitled "Pommery Silhouettes." It is worth a postal card from anyone to get a copy of this charming little brochure, which has just been published by Charles Graef & Co., No. 32 Beaver street, New York.

The class of people who have learned to discriminate now insist on a particular brand of champagne and among the best judges Pommery is the choice, for of all champagnes imported into America now, none has a more exquisite flavor or is made with greater attention to the requisites to produce a delicious wine.

A copy of "Pommery Silhouettes" will be sent to any address on request, and those who do not send for it are missing the opportunity of securing one of the most novel booklets which has recently appeared.

THE DEATH ROLL

Alderman Joseph Mitchell.

Alderman Joseph Mitchell, 63 years old, a prominent worker in the Republican party in this county, under which he held a number of important offices during the past 25 years, died yesterday morning at his home, No. 242 Forty-fourth street, Lawrenceville. Mr. Mitchell had been in failing health for some time past, having been stricken with paralysis about two years ago. The immediate cause of death was peritonitis, which resulted from a severe attack of stomach trouble. Alderman Mitchell was a son of Joseph and Mrs. Agnes Johnson Mitchell, and was born in County Down, Ireland. He was brought to the United States by his parents when a child. The family came direct to Pittsburgh and the surviving members still reside in this city. Alderman Mitchell spent his youth in the Ninth ward, where he attended the public schools and later embarked in the livery business, with his brother for a partner. About 35 years ago he moved to Lawrenceville and since had lived in the house in which he died. Mr. Mitchell represented the Seventeenth ward in the central board of education for several years. In 1876 he was sent to the state legislature from the fifth legislative district of Allegheny county, serving two terms. For the last six years Mr. Mitchell had been alderman of the Seventeenth ward, succeeding A. H. Leslie in the office. He also served as a police magistrate for several years in Pittsburgh. Mr. Mitchell was prominent in fraternal circles. He was a member of the Masonic fraterity for many years; also past supreme commander of the Knights of the Mystic Chain, an honored member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and the Knights of Honor. He was also a member of the Seventh United Presbyterian church, Butler and Forty-fourth streets. Mr. Mitchell's wife died a little over a year ago. He is survived by five sons: H. W. Mitchell of the law firm of Lyon, McKee & Mitchell, D. E., J. C., F. W. and B. C. Mitchell, and two sisters, Mrs. Samuel Wilson and Mrs. John Johnson.

Alderman Joseph Mitchell.

Thomas Houston.

Thomas Houston, 78 years old, a member of a prominent family of Kittanning, Pa., where he was born, died yesterday of heart failure at his home, No. 4901 Butler street, Lawrenceville. He had been a resident of Pittsburgh for the last 25 years. Mr. Houston is survived by his wife and six children: R. P. and A. C. Houston of the firm of Houston Bros. Company, dealers in builders' supplies; F. G., S. M. and the Misses Margaret K. and Charlotte Houston, all of Pittsburgh, and two sisters, Mrs. M. A. Craig of Sewickley and Mrs. Charlotte Morgan of Kittanning. The funeral will be held from the home of his son, R. P. Houston, No. 448 Graham street, East End, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Jonas Crowthers.

Jonas Crowthers, 87 years old, and perhaps the oldest pioneer in the coal business of the Monongahela river, died at Coal Center, Pa., yesterday. He had been in poor health for several years and had practically retired from active business a decade ago. Previous to that time he was the active partner of Crowthers, Musgrave & Co. for about 15 years. He is survived by the following children: Joseph B., a real estate man of Monessen, Pa.; John J., Roscoe, Pa.; Thomas A., Coal Center; R. Coulter Crowthers, Cincinnati, and Jonas F. and Lee, Fredericktown, Pa.

Mrs. Sophia Clark.

Mrs. Sophia Clark, aged 68 years, died early yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Tomlinson, No. 517 Pitcairn street, Braddock, of Brights disease, from which she suffered many years. She was born in England and came to America, settling in Braddock 15 years ago. She was a member of the Congregational church. Beside her husband she is survived by one son, Issachar Clark of Hazelwood, and three daughters: Mrs. William Webb of Youngstown; Mrs. William Mills of Oil City, and Mrs. Tomlinson of Braddock.

Mrs. Maria Garahy Fox.

Mrs. Maria Garahy Fox, mother of Mrs. M. C. Byrnes of Chartiers street, Allegheny; Mrs. P. Hoctor of Grafton, O.; Mrs. R. P. Doyle and Miss Cecelia Fox of Climax street, Allentown, South Side; James G. Fox of Louisiana and Jerome M. Fox of Mexico, died yesterday in Pittsburgh. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at Carlisle, O.

Louisa Bellamy Culver.

Louisa Bellamy Culver is dead at Denver, Col., of heart failure. She was a well-known artist and an exhibitor at the national academy for many years. She was a great grand niece of Roger Sherman, who wrote the Declaration of Independence with Thomas Jefferson. She was also a great granddaughter of the Rev. Ezra Stiles, who was president of Yale college during the revolution, and also a great granddaughter of the Rev. Joseph Bellamy, at whose divinity school, in Richfield, Conn., Henry Ward Beecher's father and Aaron Burr were educated for the ministry.

Funeral of James Little.

Funeral services over the remains of James Little, one of the oldest and best-known retired business men of the hill district, who died Monday evening at his home, No. 1547 Wylie avenue, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, at his late home. Mr. Little for many years was identified with the United Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh, and for years served as an elder in the old Fifth church and later in the Third church. Mr. Little retired from active business life about 20 years ago, after accumulating considerable wealth in the contracting business.

James Little.

Martin Fleck.

Funeral services over the remains of Martin Fleck, a cousin of Charles M. Schwab, will be held at St. Michael's Roman Catholic church, Loretto, Pa., tomorrow at 9 o'clock, when solemn high mass of requiem will be offered. Mr. Fleck, who was 85 years old, died on Monday while visiting at the home of his son, Louis Fleck, No. 808 Estella street, Knoxville. Mr. Fleck was a native of Loretto and had resided there all his life. He was a farmer by occupation.

Obituary Notes.

Henry McCandless, 67 years old, died last night at his home, No. 77 Grace street, Mt. Washington.

Dr. R. K. Rhea, one of the leading business men of Knoxville, Tenn., a member of the wholesale drygoods firm of Cowan, Ewan & Co., died suddenly yesterday.

Samuel McQuigg, aged 66, is dead at Wooster, O., of heart disease. He is survived by four children. The eldest son is Maj. John R. McQuigg, a prominent attorney of Cleveland.

Margaret Blakeley, 41 years old, died yesterday at the family home, No. 4731 Blair street, Hazelwood. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her late home.

Samuel A. Campbell, formerly of Avalon, will be buried tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Thomas M. Boyd, No. 1244 Resaca street, Allegheny. His death occurred on Monday at Buvard, N. C.

Mrs. Mary C. Fischer, widow of John G. Fischer, one of the oldest German settlers of Butler county, Pa., is dead at her home in Summit township, 72 years old. She was a member of the Catholic church.

Mrs. Annie Mary Hohman, 85 years old, died yesterday at the home of her son, Frank Helbling, No. 5144 Keystone street. Requiem high mass will be offered over her remains at St. Augustine's Catholic church tomorrow at 8:30 o'clock.

John L. Rogan died yesterday at Dungannon, O., aged 38. He is survived by his widow and three children; his father, Patrick Rogan of Salineville, a brother, T. J. Rogan of Summitville, and two sisters, Mrs. James Dougherty of Salineville, and Mrs. John McIntyre of Cleveland.

John F. Hodges of Morgantown, W. Va., died yesterday after a long illness of Bright's disease, aged 58. He is survived by a widow and seven children: Miss Olive, a missionary in Japan; Mrs. J. R. Barnes of Harrisville, Misses Pearl and Grace Hodges and William, Alexander and Coleman Hodges.

mohairs

Made in Bradford, England, where the best are made.

This is a great Mohair season and one of the best makers in Bradford has had the greatest American business in 1903 ever with this country.

His New York agent had about 200 pieces of fine goods over, and as the Bradford maker had sold so many at a fair profit—he ordered the balance of the stock sold—to end up the season with a clean sheet.

We bought the stock and bought it right.

They're now to be sold and as much under price as they were bought.

The goods will show anyone that it's a better deal than the plain statement above indicates.

If you want fine handsome Mohairs for now or later, take advantage of the opportunity.

Lot of $2.00 Navy Blues—group line stripes of white—56 inches wide, $1.25.

Lot of $1.50 Navy Blue neat white figured Mohair, 54 inch, $1.00.

Lot of 75c Navy Blue Picote stripe Mohairs, 44 inch, 50c—these make the most useful and prettiest Shirtwaist Suits—good the year round—of any goods ever bought for as little money.

Lot $1.50 Medium and Dark Gray and Brown Glace Mohairs, 54 inches wide, $1.00.

What makes this Mohair deal so interesting—is that it's fine, wide, handsome goods under price.

Lot $1.25 Elegant fine black pure Mohair Sicilians, 54 inches wide, $1.00—if you see these and the bright lustrous goods they are you'll realize it's fine goods we're advertising—and goods that justify advertising.

Lot of 54 and 56 inch Black Mohairs, with grouped line stripes and neat white figures at $1.00 and $1.25—exact same styles and qualities as the Navys above.

Lot Black and White 44 inch—with white picote striped spots at 50c—same as the Navys above.

Lot regular Black Mohairs and Brilliantines—54 inches wide, 50c, 75c, $1.00 to $2.00 a yard.

Lot $1.00 White ground neat black striped broche effect Mohairs, 42 inches wide, 60c—for gowns now or for waists for Fall these are superb.

White ground $1.50 Mohairs—with neat black broche effects, 54 inches wide, $1.00.

$1.75 White Mohairs with group line black stripes, 54 inch, $1.25.

Plain White and plain Black Mohairs and Brilliantines, 50c to $2.00.

POLICEMEN ARE CALLED TO QUELL CONVENTION

County Ticket Nominated at Cumberland Amid Great Disorder.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 11.—The Republican county nominating convention was called to order this morning by County Chairman F. Gibson Cowden. The result of the convention's work today is an anti-McComas victory. The convention was in absolute disorder throughout and it was necessary at one time for the chairman to call in the police to restore order. The bluecoats were kept busy patroling the stage and aisles and ejecting obstreperous individuals. While the committee on credentials was out a delegate moved that Congressman Pearce be invited to address the convention. Ex-Senator Wellington was on his feet in an instant, objecting, and the motion was voted down.

Dr. W. F. Twigg of Cumberland was nominated for temporary chairman by the McComas people and Charles H. Holtzman by the anti-McComas people. Chairman Cowden decided the temporary chairman should be elected by districts instead of by numeral strength of districts, as in selecting candidates, and when the vote was taken Dr. Twigg was elected by 14 districts to 12 for Mr. Holtzman. The numeral voting strength of Dr. Twigg's 14 districts was 52 votes, while the 12 districts for Mr. Holtzman showed 71 votes.

Ex-Senator Wellington, who was in the convention on a proxy from No. 6 district, appealed from the chair's decision, but the appeal was overlooked, or at least never came to a vote. The credential and resolution committees were then appointed and retired. The temporary officers were made permanent and balloting began for sheriff, resulting in the nomination of James Gilchrist, Lonaconing, with 70 votes, to 53 votes for J. G. Nickel, Cumberland. For the legislature, John J. Stump and William J. Feaga of Cumberland; John H. Loar of Vale Summit, Mathew Longridge of Barton and William H. Jenkins of Midland, were nominated. The four latter were on the slate nominated by the anti-McComas people last night and are claimed by Wellington as anti-McComas men.

Benjamin A. Richmond, McComas' lieutenant, stated tonight that their nomination is a victory for McComas, and that the anti-McComas men were tricked into nominating them. Mr. Holtzman states, however, that Feaga, Loar, Jenkins and Longridge are pledged against McComas.

The anti-McComas men also nominated Wellington's candidate, James Schuyler of Lonaconing, for county treasurer, and Lowndes' candidate, F. Brooke Whiting, for state's attorney. The three candidates for county commissioners, Adam Rice of Mt. Savage, Adam Leibeck of Westernport, and Martin V. Rice of Twiggtown, are also of the anti-McComas forces. After the nomination of state's attorney, which ended almost in a riot, many left the convention, and the three judges of the orphan's court, James Dando of Frostburg, J. M. Brasnears of Cumberland and J. M. Dicken of Flintstone, were quickly nominated, as also were Reuben Reid of Frostburg, for clerk of the county commissioners, and George Phillips of Frostburg for county surveyor.

Jury Justified Fatal Shooting.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The coroner's jury investigated the killing of Lewis Cortez, the Italian who was killed in a battle at O'Neil's mine yesterday, and brought in a verdict that Cortez came to his death by shotguns fired by Clay Swiger, Clyde Rowland, John Freeman or Edward Rader. The jury further found that the shooting was justifiable as a matter of self-defense, and the prisoners were released.

New Well in Old Pit Hole.

TITUSVILLE, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Farrell & Davidson have just completed their No. 1 well on the Nelson Farrell farm three miles from Pleasantville, and have a natural pumper that during the 24 hours ending tonight placed 40 barrels to its credit. This well is a half mile northeast of Pithole, near the famous producers.

Mrs. Arnold Is Prostrated.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Mrs. Effie Arnold of Redstone township, charged, together with her husband, with the murder of their infant child, is prostrated in jail here. An application for bail will be made tomorrow.

More Profit Promised For Frog-Leg Industry

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Local speculators are considering the problem of attempting to start a species of six-legged frogs, founding them with a frog with six legs that was captured in Big Run yesterday. As frogs command a good price only because of their legs, the profits, say the local projectors, would be doubled if they could raise frogs with an additional pair each.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

ERIE, PA.—John W. Forney, flagman at the Myrtle street intersection of the Bessemer railroad, was killed by a street car.

ASHTABULA, O.—The Rev. J. W. Ely, for five years pastor of the Baptist church in Conneaut, has tendered his resignation.

GREENSBURG, PA.—The First Reformed church of Youngwood has decided to purchase a lot and erect a parsonage adjoining the church.

GREENSBURG, PA.—The annual convention of the Westmoreland County Sunday School association, will be held at Mt. Pleasant on August 27 and 28.

SHARON, PA.—Officials of the Cherry Valley Iron Company selected a location for a furnace stack at West Middlesex. Other improvements are to be made.

COSHOCTON, O.—The annual reunion of Ohio's first call troops of the civil war will convene in Coshocton next Wednesday. Judge Voorhees of this city will preside.

MONONGAHELA, PA.—Through a switch having been left open, D. L. Pryor, a brakeman, received injuries that resulted in his death. Pryor was single and lived in Pittsburgh.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—The new continuous 10-inch mill at the Union works of the Carnegie Steel Company will be placed in operation next Tuesday. Its capacity is 250 tons per day.

CANONSBURG, PA.—A dog suffering from rabies attacked several horses belonging to J. E. McCabe and Morgan Fife, near here, and three of the animals had to be shot. The dog is still at large.

COSHOCTON, O.—E. M. Rabford of Zanesville is negotiating with local capitalists to locate a plant for the manufacture of jasper and art pottery. It is probable that a $75,000 plant will be erected.

GREENSBURG, PA.—Miss Martha Sloan of Blairsville has sold 25 acres adjoining Cokeville to the Rev. N. G. Miller of Ligonier, who, it is stated, represents a company of Pittsburgh capitalists, who will erect a manufacturing plant.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—Garrie LeVan of Youngstown, assumed his duties as superintendent of the Atlantic furnace here of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, succeeding George L. Pearson, who had been superintendent for 21 years.

WARREN, O.—Incendiaries destroyed the station of the Pennsylvania & Mahoning Valley Electric Railway Company, fired the midway pavilion and caused other damage at DeForest. It is thought the motive was robbery of houses of people who ran to the fire.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—The city government received a demand from foreigners on Atlantic avenue that the Atlantic furnace be either removed or closed down, as its noise prevented them from sleeping or even talking. The delegation was informed that there is no law to force the removal of the furnace.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA.—S. C. Denham and V. L. Highland announce that work will commence on a new six-story bank and office building here September 1, to cost $100,000. The first floor will be occupied by a new national bank with a capital of $200,000. Senator Elkins is said to be interested in the bank.

WOOSTER, O.—Miss Jennie Geiselman, 18 years old, of Wooster, and Charles McQueery, a Pittsburgh telegrapher, were married in Youngstown, O., April 30, by the Rev. G. W. Williams. Because of the age of the bride parental objections to her marriage were feared and it has just been announced.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 11.—Officer George Orr of the Cumberland police force, returned from Richmond, Va., with his daughter, Bertha Orr, who was arrested in company with J. C. Gates of Charleston, W. Va., while the couple were in Richmond. The girl is under 16 years of age. Gates was arrested on a charge of abduction.

TOWN IS SURROUNDED BY ARMED GUARDS

RIDGWAY, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Posses are still searching for the assailant of Miss Dora Singer. The only clue that they obtained since the search began leads them to think that the man lives in Hilton, and that place is practically surrounded by armed men. Miss Singer had one of her ribs broken. Her throat and neck are lacerated and swollen. She has been able to tell little beyond giving a good description of her assailant.

Sending Work to Pittsburgh.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Foundrymen of this city are sending their work to Pittsburgh and Wheeling on account of the strike of the molders here. The Scholl-Semple-Jordan company has abandoned its foundry. The molders have refused all propositions to return to work, and ask for a joint conference.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN WELCOMED TO LATROBE

Officers Are Nominated and Connellsville Leads for Next Convention.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LATROBE, PA., Aug. 11.—The firemen's convention was formally opened this morning at the Hotel Miller, where a large number of delegates had assembled to receive final instructions regarding the initial session, which came to order in Doherty's hall this afternoon. Mayor Edward J. Perry of Greensburg, held the gavel.

Mayor E. W. Blackburn spoke in part as follows: "To me as burgess and a member of the Latrobe fire department falls one of the most pleasant duties of my life, that of welcoming you to the convention. The history of the achievements of this band of brave men who in the past decade have protected the lives and properties of the residents of Western Pennsylvania, are no less worthy of praise than those brave boys in blue who went forth to protect the country's honor and the flag. Appreciating your worth I welcome you to Latrobe and give you the open door. All pleasures are open to your enjoyment; even the lockup is open, its cells being so constructed that it does not require a key to get in. Sincerely trusting that you may be benefited by having come to us, and that we may be benefited by having you with us, I again welcome you."

The report of the president of the preceding year was read by Secretary W. N. Sharah, and the question of the place for holding the convention next year came up. In all probability this honor will fall to Connellsville, as it has a majority on the committee.

The following officers were nominated for the ensuing year: John R. Musser of Barnesboro, for president; W. H. Sharah of Braddock, for secretary, and James H. Steele of Wilkinsburg, for treasurer. The delegates were entertained by the Jeannette firemen at a banquet at their headquarters in Grand Army of the Republic park. Richard Brinker, one of the best-known residents, was robbed of his gold watch and chain, while standing in Ligonier avenue, watching the crowds.

Wants $2,000 for Dog Bite.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Emmanuel Brunswick has brought suit against Mrs. Caroline Diebel for $2,000 damages, alleging that that much is due him as a result of his being bitten by a bulldog owned by the woman. He called at the house on the invitation of Mrs. Diebel's husband, and was met at the gate by the dog.

No excuse for not buying laces today

BECAUSE from one-third to one-half have been removed from the prices. And then, too, there are so many yards of new and beautiful patterns to select from. If your decision has been made as to how much you intend to pay for laces, it will indeed be shattered at today's sale, and you'll be glad of it, because you won't spend near as much as you expected. The low prices we have made will remove every foundation for any excuse for not buying today.

We ferreted out all the odd widths, short lengths and discontinued patterns from our entire lace and embroidery stock and you'll find fine platt Val. laces and insertions, point de Paris laces and insertions, Venise lace, black lace, Chantilly laces and edgings, Cluny lace bands, fine linen torchon and medici laces, also embroidery edgings, insertions and flouncings—choice, yd.,

5c, 10c, 15c and 25c

Real Cluny laces—genuine hand-made linen cluny lace bands, in new designs, 2 to 4 in. wide. It will incite your wonderment how these goods could be made by hand and sold for such insignificant prices as, yd., 75c, 48c, 35c and 25c

Continuation of $1.90 shoe sale

Continuation of last week's great offer. And the word "sale" has greater significance today than ever before—it means that your money will purchase more and better shoe leather than ever before in the history of shoe selling.

THE accumulation of odd lots of shoes is the inevitable accompaniment of a great shoe business. They pile up despite every method prudent merchandising allows for their disposal. We've used a fine meshed net to gather all the small lots—none escaped the price-cutter's seine—and we made a heavy haul. Found more than we expected. Fishermen usually throw back the small fry, but we sell 'em. The measure of our desire to be rid of these small lots is shown in the big reductions we make. We've done our part; we've given you all the profit and a big slice of the original cost of these shoes—it remains for you to do yours. We must pull together. Let's give the shoe man another lift today. It will help us both.

The kinds, styles and makes included in this sale are too many to bear description. Suffice it to say that we will give you $3 and $3.50 shoes today for 1.90

Put this statement to the test.

White goods and flannels

TODAY'S prices are attractive—doubly so when the qualities of the goods are examined. Every yard offered today sustains our established high standard and the prices give further evidence of our power to save you money.

White goods—plain and fancy striped oxfords, 50 pcs. offered today at, yard 50c

Basket weaves—also oxford plaids, very latest vesting material—$1.00 quality, at, yd. 75c

Plain oxfords, usual 35c quality, yard 25c

Manchester lawns—plain and white, 10c quality, offered today at, at, yd. 6¼c

Remainder of our lines of imported embroidered swiss and dotted swiss; some have sold earlier in the season for up to 75c, choice today, yd. 29c

Printed flannels—for house dresses, kimonas, waists, etc., 36 in. goods at yd. 15c

Fleeced backed flannels—fancy printed stripes, 35c quality, at yard 25c

Plain white flannel—for underwear making, usually sold at 35c, today, yard 25c

Clearing sale of wash goods—comprising about 4,000 yards of printed lawns, batistes and dimities—usual 12½c qualities, choice, yard 6¼c

Wash goods and dress goods

WHAT a fine thing it is to buy enough for two dresses at the ordinary cost of one. Of course, this is unusual, but so is the cause. If we were not closing out our remaining lines of summer wash goods and dress goods, there would be no cause for our assuming such a loss as these prices entail.

Our entire stock of D. & J. Anderson fine zephyrs and madras—sold all season for up to 35c, reduced now to, yd. 17c

Oxford suiting—closely resembles silk, favorite shades—sold earlier at 45c, now reduced to, yard 25c

Miscellaneous imported wash goods—including sheer embroidered batiste, lace and grenadine striped leno, French percale and Madras, Scotch zephyr, etc.—worth to 35c, choice yard 15c

Seasonable dress goods—including cheviots, camel's hair, etamines, knickerbockers, tweeds, serges, voiles, silk and wool jacquards and sicilian in black, plain colors and mixtures, worth to 75c, choice, yd. 44c

Imported black and colored dress goods—including voiles, etamines, canvas, granite, melrose, sicilians, broadcloths, venetians, cheviots, etc., fashionable weaves, leading colors and black, former prices up to $1.50, choice, yard 89c

RIVAL FIGHTERS FINISH HARD WORK BEFORE MILL

Corbett Has Lively Bouts With Training Partners and Is Cautioned by Ryan.

JEFFRIES EVADES THE SCALES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Jim Corbett did his last hard work today. He cut loose at top speed, and when the 12 rounds of fighting were over, both of his trainers and sparring partners were badly scarred. Corbett mixed matters and fought as if in the battle itself. Tommy Ryan had to interfere when the fighting was at its hardest to keep Corbett from risking an injury to his hands. The training started at the usual hour, about 10 o'clock. Corbett asked that the watch be held during the boxing and insisted that each round must go three minutes. Sam Berger was the first victim and he had not been in the ring more than a few seconds before he knew there was something new on the program. Corbett went at him like a tiger. Berger fought as hard as he could, but he could not stand off Corbett's blows. At the end of each round Berger was distressed. Corbett spent the rests walking around the ring, side stepping and keeping in constant motion. Tommy Ryan was at the ringside. Several times when the blows were going fast and hard Ryan yelled a warning. Near the end of the fifth round Ryan jumped up to the ropes and persuaded Corbett to stop for a moment. Jim was fighting viciously. Berger was all out. Corbett seemed unwilling to stop and called for Kenny to take Berger's place in the ring.

Kenny was in for the same dose that Berger got. Corbett soon drove in blows that made the giant's ribs assume a crimson hue. At the end of the seventh round Kenny was in a bad way, and Jim jumped through the ropes and went into the gymnasium to finish up. The boxing had all been done outside in the open ring. The big tackling dummy in the gymnasium was hanging near, and Corbett punched it with vigor and vim for two rounds. He finished fast and strong. His wind is in great condition.

The boxing wound up Jim's work for the day. In the afternoon he rested. He expressed himself well satisfied with his condition after the trial gallop, and says from now on he will not indulge in any hard work. He will do a few jogs on the road and a little light boxing and bag punching to keep himself in the condition that he enjoys now.

Jeff Hunts Deer.

Over the telephone today Delaney said Jeffries had also finished all his hard work. This morning he went out for a run and took the road to Middletown, four miles away. Jeff covered the distance and the return trip in quick time. That was all the work he cared for.

Later in the day he went out for a ride on muleback over the hills. He took a rifle along and told his training staff that he would bring back a deer. Jeff claims to have come down in weight, but still keeps away from the scales, unless he goes out and weighs in during the small hours of the night.

Fitz has mysteriously disappeared from his hotel in San Francisco, bag and baggage, but when told of it over the telephone Jeff confidentially stated that Fitz would be in his corner on the night of the fight.

Billy Delaney's Opinion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Billy Delaney, Jeffries' manager, has sent the following letter to friends here, concerning the battle which will be fought Friday night:

"I wish to state for the benefit of my friends that Jim Jeffries will enter the ring with Corbett in fine condition. He will be heavier than before, weighing in the night before at 230 pounds. Despite this weight I feel certain he will beat Corbett in much quicker time than it took him to dispose of him at Coney Island. I will not state the number of rounds I think it will take "Jeff" to win in, owing to the fact that Corbett is one of the shiftiest men in the ring and hard to catch. If Corbett tries to fight Jeff the fight will end quickly and result in Corbett's downfall. Jeff will fight him much differently than he did at Coney Island. He will start right in at the sound of the gong. If Jeff does not beat Corbett I will give the public my word I will never again attempt to pick the winner of a fight. As to Tommy Ryan picking Corbett to beat Jeff, we take not stock in what he says. He picked both Ruhlin and Fitz to beat "Jeff" and both times he was wrong. He will be wrong this time, too. Sincerely yours,

"BILLY DELANEY."

Harbin Springs, August 5, 1903.

BETTING IS LIVELY; JEFF. STILL FAVORITE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Eddie Burke, a strong Jeffries man, has bet George Considine $2,000 to $1,000. Considine was manager of Corbett when the latter fought Jeffries in his last battle at Coney Island, but the two men parted after the McCoy fiasco at Madison Square garden and have never been friends since. Joe Vendig has sent a small commission on from Saratoga to be placed on Jeffries. Dan O'Rourke says he will wager any part of $5,000 that Jeffries will defeat Corbett. Kid McCoy is betting on Jeffries.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Betting on the big fight has been with 2 to 1 in favor of Jeff. But this afternoon a sudden change found Corbett's adherents getting 10 to 8. At Harry Corbett's, Fitzsimmons placed $10,000 against an $8,000 check signed by George P. Webster of the Central theater on the decision of the referee.

POLICE PREVENTED BIG COCKING MAIN

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Morgantown was the objective point last night for 50 sports who came from Fairmont and Uniontown to hold one of the biggest cocking mains which has been heard of in this section. Forty birds were brought along for the affair and bets to the amount of $8,000 had been laid on the result. Shortly after reaching town some of the sports loaded up with speakeasy booze and gave the secret away. The police stopped the main. All the participants left for a point in Greene county, Pa., this morning, and it is their intention to hold the fight there.

TARENTUM A. C. TO PLAY AT MILLVALE

The fast Tarentum team, with Brucker, the old Our Boys' pitcher, who was in the Cotton Belt league last year, will play at Millvale Saturday. Captain Ed Hickey will have Lew Maren on the rubber to oppose Brucker.

FRED CLARKE.
Pittsburgh Manager, Who Is to Go to Philadelphia, According to Rumor.

ATLANTIC CITY GAME CALLED OFF BY CLARKE

Would Not Allow the Players to Work on Wet Field—Pirates Seeing the Sights.

GAMES TODAY.

Pittsburgh at Brooklyn.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia.
Chicago at Boston.
St. Louis at New York.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 11.—Owing to the wet condition of the grounds here today, Manager Clarke of the Pittsburgh national team refused to allow his men to go on the field and the players were permitted to take in the sights of the board walk instead.

The Cincinnati team is here tonight and the Pirates are showing them the town. All of the Pittsburgh boys are in good condition and are confident of winning the series starting tomorrow with Brooklyn. Clarke says the boys are bound to make a good showing, and he fully expects to win all of the games to be played in the City of Churches.

The Pittsburgh visitors here are vieing with each other in trying to show the boys a royal time, and they are succeeding.

There are 20 men occupying the finest rooms in a fine hotel, and they can have anything they want for the asking. One man hired double rolling chairs and had the men wheeled up and down the boardwalk. They were headed and followed by a jolly crowd of Pittsburghers, who blowed horns and in other ways introduced their favorites to the throngs of promenaders. The team will leave early tomorrow for New York.

GIANTS BEATEN.

Virgil Garvin Turns Trick for the Brooklyn Club.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 11.—In the final game of the interborough series played here today, the local team beat New York 2 to 1. It was a pitchers' battle, in which Garvin got the better of McGinnity. Score:

WILL QUIT WASHINGTON.

Senators to Leave American League for Place in Minor Next Year.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—The attorney of the Washington American league club stated today that next year there would be no club in Washington representing the American league, but the franchise for this city, which was recently bought in by Ban Johnson, president of the American league, would be transferred to the Eastern league.

Washington will be replaced in the ranks of the American league by some good baseball city, probably Buffalo. The Washington club now owes $15,000 in outstanding debts, with no hope of making good this year, as the team is hopelessly distanced in the pennant race.

RUMORED THAT FRED. CLARKE WOULD MANAGE THE PHILLIES

Story Comes from Philadelphia, New York and Wheeling, but Denied Most Emphatically. Wagner Slated as His Successor.

A rumor from Philadelphia by the way of Wheeling yesterday which had Fred Clarke quitting the Pittsburgh champions at the close of the season to assume the management of the Phillies next spring, he being succeeded by Hans Wagner, caused no little amount of talk and excitement among Pittsburgh followers of the Pirates. The rumor was nailed as a "fake" by some, but still it is thought that there is something more than smoke behind the tale.

The story originated in New York, where President Dreyfuss is supposed to have said that Wagner is a good leader and could get good results out of a team. Then it was thought that Dreyfuss had in mind sending Clarke to Philadelphia. Jack McFetridge, a pitcher recently released by Philadelphia, was in Wheeling Monday night, and while there is reported to have said that Clarke was going to the Phillies, he having the word of Dreyfuss to that effect. A special telegram to The Gazette from Atlantic City last night, where the Pirates are, said:

"There is no truth in the rumor circulated all over the country today that Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh team, would manage the Philadelphia club next year. When the story was repeated to Clarke he laughed at it and said that, though his contract with the Pittsburgh club expired this year, there was not the slightest probability of his being with any other club next year. In fact, he intimated that this had already been arranged between himself and Dreyfuss. Dreyfuss seemed amused at the rumor and stated that Clarke would remain with his club next year."

A Philadelphia special to The Gazette last night said:

President James Potter of the Philadelphia National league club, speaking today of the report, said: "The report is absolutely untrue. We have never even considered such a proposition, much less entered into an agreement with Clarke. Manager Zimmer has given entire satisfaction and there is no reason nor desire to displace him. How such a rumor became current is more than I can say."

AMERICANS LEAD IN THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Mahoney Is Only Englishman of Trio That Won Davis Cup, at Southampton.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 11.—With rain threatening play was started today in the tennis tournament on the courts of the Meadow club.

Only one of the trio of Englishmen who won the Davis international challenge cup went up on the courts for actual competition. This was Harold S. Mahoney, and he was unable to finish his match against H. H. Whitman of Harvard.

The American took the first set by lobbing before the rain stopped play, as Mahoney drove many of his returns into the net or out of court. R. F. Doherty defaulted to A. Torrence in the first round. This is because he wishes to favor his injured shoulder.

The English champion, H. L. Doherty, won his match by the default of Oliver Campbell, the former American title holder. In all of the other matches the man won on form, the work of William A. Larned being very spirited and dashing. Summary of the morning follows:

Men's singles, preliminary round—William A. aLrned, Orange Tennis club, defeated S. Van Renssaler Kennedy, eMadow club, 6-1, 6-2; Ford Huntington, Meadow club, defeated D. Humphrey, eMadow club, 6-1, 6-1; Edwin P. Larned, Princeton university, defeated Theodore Roosevelt Peil, West Side Tennis club, New York, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; Harry F. Allen, Belmont Cricket club, Philadelphia, defeated George A. Atterbury, Harvard university, 7-5, 6-0; Louis E. Mahan, Columbia university, defeated F. Derham, Meadow club, 6-3, 6-0; C. F. Watson, Jr., Orange Tennis club, defeated Benjamin Prentice, Meadow club, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3; Russell Sard, Harvard university, defeated Richard Stevens, St. George Tennis club, by default; A. W. Post, Yale university, defeated Guy Livingston, Harvard university, 6-1, 6-0; H. L. Doherty, England, defeated Oliver S. Campbell, Meadow club, by default; Edgar Leonard, Harvard university, defeated George W. Howard, Harvard university, 6-2, 6-0.

First round—Albert Torrence, St. Louis Tennis club, defeated Reginald F. Doherty by default; Harold S. Mahoney, England, vs. H. H. Whitman, Harvard university, 4-6, 3-all, unfinished; H. P. Huntington, Meadow club, vs. Henry Torrence, Jr., St. Louis Tennis club, 6-2, 4-6, 3-all, unfinished.

KEENE'S GIMCRACK LANDS THE DELEWARE HANDICAP

Under Wire First, Leading Hunter Raine by Three-Quarters of a Length.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Another dark day and heavy going marked but failed to mar today's racing at the Spa. As compared with yesterday there were not many withdrawals and some of the finishes were so close as to be very exciting. The Delaware, a handicap for 3-year-olds and upwards, at one mile, was the stake feature and was won by James R. Keene's chestnut colt, Gimcrack, by Ornament-Joppa, Gannon up, by three-quarters of a length from Hunter Raine, which beat Highlander for place by half a length in the stretch. James R. Keene's Pen Rush filly, Birch Broom, won the third, a selling race, from Flara by a neck. This event was run on the turf, a course that is popular just at present. The summaries:

First race, handicap, 6 furlongs—Ada Nay, 113, Fuller, 4½ to 1 and even, won; Yardarm, 111, Odom, 4 to 5 and out, second; Futurita, 104, Gannon, 20 to 1 and 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:18 2-5.

Second race, 5½ furlongs—Jim Kelly, 110, Bullman, 6 to 5 and out, won; Gay Lothario, 104, H. Michaels, 50 to 1 and 8 to 1, second; Adnell, 104, O'Neill, 4 to 5 and out, third. Time, 1:22.

Third race, 8½ furlongs on turf—Burch Broom, 103, Gannon, 6 to 5 and 2 to 5, won; Flara, 101, Creamer, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Nevermore, 105, T. Burns, 1 to 5 and 7 to 10, third. Time, 1:32 4-5.

Fourth race, the Delaware, mile—Gimcrack, 102, Gannon, 5 to 1 and 8 to 5, won; Hunter Raine, 111, Odom, 5 to 1 and 8 to 5, second; Highlander, 111, O'Neill, 5 to 2 and even, third. Time, 1:46 3-5.

Fifth race, 6½ furlongs—The Buck, 107, Hicks, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, won; Redman, 109, Creamer, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, second; Excentral, 104, Wedderstrand, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 2-5.

Sixth race, mile—Tam O'Shanter, 107, Gannon, even and 2 to 5, won; Albany Girl, 105, Fuller, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Pass Book, 107, Larson, 50 to 1 and 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:47.

LONG SHOTS AHEAD.

The Ledaean, 40 to 1, Captures Last Race at Harlem.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Bessie McCarthy, the outsider in the betting, proved an easy winner of the 1¼ miles handicap at Harlem today. Three long shots finished in the money in the fifth race. The Ledaean at 40 to 1, captured the last race in a gallop. Weather clear and cool; track fast. Summaries:

First race, 5 furlongs—J. W. O'Neill, 109, Helgeson, 8 to 5, won; Banwell, 99, Adkins, 4 to 1, second; Shaitan, 103, W. Robbins, 50 to 1, third. Time, 1:01⅘.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Miss Manners, 110, S. Bonner, 15 to 1, won; Ocean Dream, 105, Pollak, 11 to 5, second; Lady Charlot, 110, H. Phillips, 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 2-5.

Third race, 1¼ miles—Bessie McCarthy, 96, S. Bonner, 5 to 2, won; Bondage, 102, Robbins, 12 to 5, second; John McGurk, 108, J. Woods, 7 to 5, third. Time, 2:08 2-5.

DR. MADARA WINS THE BRONX STAKE

Elastic Pointer Is Favorite in $5,000 Event for 2:10 Pacers, but Fails Backers.

ATTENDANCE IS CUT DOWN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Threatening weather kept the attendance down on the second day of the Empire City grand circuit meeting. The track was fast and speculation brisk.

In the Westchester stake for 3-year-olds Tireless sold for $30 to $50 for the field, but Ethel's Pride took the lead and held it to the wire, with Mary Gage a close second. In the next heat Ethel's Pride broke at the top turn and Tireless won. The Bronx stake of $5,000 for 2:10 pacers was a most exciting event. Elastic Pointer sold for $100 to $60 for the field. He led to the quarter, broke and was passed by Onoto, who won by a neck from Miss Willamont. Dr. Madora won the next two heats in very close finishes with Onoto and Miss Willamont only heads apart. Merry D. was the choice in the 2:13 trot and he won in straight heats by a neck each time. Summaries:

PERSONALS

Miss Gertrude Clare Duffey, the Washington, Pa., society belle, who was billed to sing the part of "Hebe" at the Duquesne Garden this week, disappointed a good many friends who had come from various parts of Western Pennsylvania to hear her. That they were disappointed was not Miss Duffey's fault, for she is unable to take a stage part on account of an injury she received last week. Miss Duffey was at her father's country home in Butler county, and was driven to the railroad station to take the train for Pittsburgh to rehearse at the Duquesne Garden for a week. Her father's negro man drove the buggy. At the station the horse took fright at a train, reared and plunged, and the young girl was thrown and was dragged some distance by the lines, which caught about her feet. Miss Duffey was so badly injured that she had to be taken back home and receive medical attention. That was a week ago. She came to Pittsburgh yesterday and alarmed some of her friends who met her taking the air, supporting herself with a cane and limping painfully. "I had looked forward to my appearance at the Duquesne Garden," said Miss Duffey, "and I am much disappointed that I am unable to sing. My knee was badly hurt and the physicians fear that a serious complication may set in, affecting the joint. I also injured the hearing in my left ear slightly." Miss Duffey is with her father, a well-known oil operator.

Col. B. F. Bond of Baltimore, district passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was in Pittsburgh yesterday on his way home from Chicago, whither he had accompanied Gen. Nelson A. Miles and the party of old soldiers going with Miles to San Francisco, where the general expects to be elected national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, now in encampment there. "I predict that Gen. Miles will be the Democratic candidate for vice president on the ticket with Arthur Pue Gorman, the presidential candidate," said Col. Bond. "Gorman is the logical candidate of the Democracy and the way things are going it seems to me that Gen. Miles will be his running mate."

Fritz R. Frank of Scranton, a dealer in machinery, was at the Hotel Lincoln yesterday, just after his return from a 18-months' trip around the world.

The Rev. F. F. Flewelling, his wife and child were at the Seventh Avenue hotel. They had returned from San Juan, Porto Rico, where Mr. Flewelling is located. Mr. Flewelling took a trolley ride last night, but, being tired from the long journey from San Juan, retired early.

The Pennsylvania railroad authorities expect to take out big excursions tomorrow to Atlantic City. Already enough berths and seats have been engaged to require 15 parlor cars and 35 sleeping cars.

J. W. Cloud of London, England, registered at the Hotel Schenley last evening.

Robert D. Layton, the local immigrant inspector, has returned from Boston, where he went last week with an immigrant for deportation. While in Boston Inspector Layton inspected the old frigate Constitution. He said the historic old ship, which was the premier of her class in her day, looks like a section of Yellow row. Her armament and construction, he said, is the best illustration to be had of the progress made in war vessels and guns.

Lincoln A. Wagenhals of Wagenhals & Kemper, theatrical managers of New York, is in the city searching for material for a big musical show, which will require 100 show girls or more. A lot of chorus girls will also be used in the Blanche Walsh production, "Resurrection," and for the production of "Alexander the Great," in which Louis James and Frederick Warde are to be starred. While in Pittsburgh Mr. Wagenhals is the guest of John R. Reynolds, the manager of the Duquesne Garden. Mr. Wagenhals comes here especially for good bright chorus girls, as he wants them principally for the two big musical productions which they will put on the road the coming season. In a search through the cities of the east he has found that territory well-nigh depleted.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

Among those from towns nearby at the local hotels yesterday were:

Duquesne—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. F. Rinehart, Waynesburg; Mrs. H. J. McAteer and daughter, Alexandria; R. Miller and wife, Wellsville, O.; A. C. Hawkins, Bradford.

Seventh Avenue—G. R. Gray, Falls Creek; F. M. Gildersleeve, Ridgway; D. A. Mulherin, Glen Lyon.

Henry—Charles W. Schafer, Youngstown, O.; James T. Miller, Uniontown; L. P. Gallagher, Coshocton, O.; G. S. Ramsey, St. Mary's.

Monongahela—E. I. Dill, Uniontown; J. N. Vance, Wheeling, W. Va.; H. A. Meyer, Davis, W. Va.

Lincoln—F. D. Duncan, Akron, O.; J. W. Tedford, Sharon.

Victoria—H. A. MacDonald, Altoona.

Anderson—C. R. Hall, Reynoldsville; L. C. Wick, Butler.

Newell's—William Mills, DuBois; Joseph Slep, Titusville; W. D. Alexander, Moundsville, W. VA.; Thomas Kennedy and S. L. Goldmann, Bariford; E. J. Graff, Greensburg.

COMMITTEE IS ENLARGED TO DRAFT AGREEMENT

JOHN ("HANS") WAGNER,
Who Is to Manager Pittsburgh Next Year, If Current Rumor Is True.

Big League Presidents Hold Important Meeting and Agree to Formulate New Pact.

JOHNSON CLAIMS A VICTORY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Presidents of the three largest baseball leagues held an informal meeting today. The next meeting will be at Saratoga August 25. The agreement reached to appoint a committee of three of the different leagues to formulate a national agreement is looked upon in some quarters as a victory for Ban Johnson.

The president of the American league has contended since the peace conference last spring that a committee to consist of more than the presidents of the leagues should be appointed to draft the national agreement.

Those present today were Ban Johnson of the American league, Harry C. Pulliam of the National league and "Pat" Powers, representing the minor leagues. The meeting was one of the most important so far held regarding the agreement, as President Johnson has steadfastly held aloof from all meetings heretofore.

Phillies May Transfer Games.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The Cincinnati ball team, which was to have played at the Philadelphia ball park this week, arrived this afternoon and is quartered at the Majestic in Virginia avenue. The games in Philadelphia, which were called off because of the accident at the ball grounds there, may be played in this city. An effort is being made to make this arrangement.

YANKEE BOAT TURNS TABLES ON CANADIAN

With Hamnan in Command Irondequoit Beats Strathcona With Ease.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

TORONTO, ONT., Aug. 11.—The dissatisfaction over the manner in which the American challenger for the Canada cup has been sailed in the first two races led to the summoning from New York of A. Hannan to take charge of the Irondequoit. Hannan went aboard the yacht today and the Irondequoit turned the tables on the Strathcona. He was in full command. Skipper James Barr acted as helmsman. Weather and course favored the American yacht.

There were 14 miles of reaching and plenty of wind, never less than 12 miles an hour. The official time was as follows:

Name.	Start.	First Buoy.	Second Buoy.	Finish.
Irondequoit	11:30:18	11:50:46	1:19:22	2:15:56
Strathcona	11:30:25	11:52:21	1:23:34	2:29:19

It surprised no one that the American boat should show the way to the first buoy. After her performance in a reach on Saturday, it seemed the most natural thing in the world that she should draw away from the Strathcona. Her lead at the first mark was a minute and a half. The Strathcona supporters felt confident that in the windward work on the next seven miles she would more than make up the difference, but the surprise was general when Irondequoit close hauled on the wind, stretched away like a greyhound.

The American boat found the crisp, choppy seas and freshening breeze decidedly to her liking. She fooled faster than the Canadian and pointed quite as high with the result that she drew away on every tack. Irondequoit had steadily increased her lead until she had a half mile to the good when she squared away for the run home.

After rounding the buoy the Irondequoit set a balloon jibtopsail and the Strathcona set a balloon jibtopsail as the wind hauled more and more west and northwest the big loose sails would not do their work. The Irondequoit took in her big jibtopsail at 1:37 p. m. and stood along under two head sails, footing at a great pace, and bearing away from all the steamboats. Skipper Jarvis carried every possible sail and overhauled Irondequoit just a trifle, but he was at least three quarters of a mile astern at the finish.

AMERICAN GOLFERS BEHIND.

English Collegians Victorious in Four-Balled Contest, 3 to 2.

HAMILTON, MASS., Aug. 11.—The British college golfers began their American tour auspiciously today by defeating a team of American college players in a four-ball contest on the links of the Myopia Hunt club, by a score of 3 points to 2, each match counting for one point. Scored by the American method the visitors won six holes to five. Three of the five matches were well fought out, and the large gallery which followed the first quartet made up of J. L. Lowe, Cambridge, the captain of the English team, and T. M. Hunter, Oxford, playing against J. F. D. Alsop, Yale, and N. S. Campbell, Yale, saw a match extended to the twenty-second hole before the young Americans finally won it.

The feature today was the ease with which a majority of the American players held their opponents on the tees, while the British players were in several instances weak in their short game. They all showed, however, great familiarity with their irons and their strength in this department enabled them to win the initial contest of their tour. The results of today's play were as follows:

English—Points, holes: J. A. Low, Oxford, and T. M. Hunter, Oxford, 0-0; J. A. T. Bramston, Oxford, and N. F. Hunter, Cambridge, 1-4; H. G. Ellis, Oxford, and P. W. Leathart, Cambridge, 0-0; G. E. Barns, Oxford, and H. W. Beveridge, Oxford, 1-1; D. F. Ranson, Cambridge, and C. N. Day, Oxford, 1-1. Totals, 3-6.

American—F. J. O. Alsop, Yale, and N. S. Campbell, Yale, 1-1; L. H. Conklin, Princeton, and F. O. Reinhart, Princeton, 0-0; P. H. Jennings, Yale, and Bruce Smith, Yale, 1-4; U. A. Murdock, Harvard, and G. O. Winston, Harvard, 0-0; W. C. Chick, Harvard, and H. W. Baker, Yale, 0-0. Totals, 2-5.

NEW ATTRACTION AT THE SEASHORE

Noted Artist Entertains Visitors to The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.

IS A FAMOUS GLOBE-TROTTER

Makes Rapid Sketches of Scenes Encountered on Record Breaking Tour of the Globe—Started With Five Cents Given Him by Admiral Dewey.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 11.

A new attraction has been added to the many attractive features of the Gazette bureau on Young's ocean pier. Ferno Churchill, the noted sketch artist and globe trotter, has been engaged to entertain the visitors to the bureau every afternoon and evening with exhibitions of lightning sketches in pastel. A platform and easel were erected for Mr. Churchill and he began his work last night, having an audience of over 200, most of them Pittsburghers. His sketches were illustrative of his record-breaking tour around the world in 1901, when he started from New York with a capital of five cents, furnished by Admiral Dewey, who had just returned from the Philippines.

The trip was made in 60 days, and the record stands as the best ever made. It was filled with hardships and incidents enough to fill a book, but to Mr. Churchill the trip was a valuable one, for he brought back with him the memory of scenes that no tourist had seen before. Part of his route was through Siberia, away from the railroads and along thoroughfares that had never been visited by American tourists. He is a wonderful artist in pastels, and in half an hour can produce in detail a picture showing some place of landscape he saw on his rush around the globe.

Churchill is about to start on another tour around the world, not to break the record, but he proposes to go across the North American, the Asiatic and European continents in an automobile, starting from the Pittsburgh Gazette bureau on Young's pier on August 30. The automobile is now being constructed for him from his own designs. He intends to circle the earth, and to arrive in St. Louis on his return, in time for the opening of the exposition. The tour will thus be more than an ordinary trip around the world, as he will go half way across the United States after his arrival in New York.

Baseball Fans Disappointed.

Hundreds of Pittsburghers, who are here were keenly disappointed in not seeing a ball game this afternoon. The Pittsburgh club got here this morning to play an exhibition game with the Atlantic City team, which by the way, has been playing good ball this season. The players were driven to the Wiltshire, to where the more enthusiastic baseball admirers among the visitors flocked. About 11 o'clock there was a thunder shower that made a lake of the grounds and it continued to rain all day. The club will leave here for Brooklyn in the morning.

PURE FOOD CRUSADE HAS APPROVAL OF THE CHIEF

Secretary Critchfield Says Politics Have Been Excluded from the Work.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—Secretary of Agriculture Critchfield said today, that he was heartily in favor of the work that Dairy and Food Commissioner Warren has been doing in the direction of protecting the purity of the food supply of the state. Mr. Critchfield said that Dr. Warren was proceeding with the prosecutions for food adulterations in a business-like way and that politics had been rigidly excluded from the calculations of the department.

He thought the result of the crusade that is now being made by the pure food department will have a wholesome effect in breaking up the widespread adulteration of food.

Dr. Warren today sent a commission to Thaddeus L. Vanderslice as attorney for the dairy and food department in Philadelphia so that Mr. Vanderslice can immediately take up the work of prosecuting the cases which have been brought by the department in Philadelphia for adulterations of beer, lard and other commodities. Mr. Vanderslice takes the place of Charles E. Bartlett, who has been notified that his connection with the bureau will cease as soon as he closes up the cases in his hands.

FATHER CARL CHOSEN.

He Is Now Provincial of the Capuchin Friars in Five States.

Twelve Capuchin friars, representing the Capuchin order in the Pennsylvania province, met yesterday in triennial conclave in St. Augustine's monastery, Thirty-seventh street, and elected a provincial and other officers. The conclave will continue today and close tomorrow.

The chief business before the conclave was the election of officers. The Rev. Father Carl Speckert, pastor of St. Augustine's church, was chosen provincial to succeed Father Hyacinth.

The following were elected provincial counsellors: Father Joseph Anthony, superior of the hospice at Wheeling; Father Benedict of Cumberland, Md.; Father Hermann Joseph, guardian of St. Augustine's monastery in Pittsburgh, and Father Constantine of Wheeling, W. Va.

The province of Pennsylvania includes the Capuchins in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland and Kansas, about 110 in number. The order was first introduced in America in the '70s. There is also a province with headquarters in Milwaukee. The Pennsylvania provincial resides in Pittsburgh.

The Capuchin order was founded at Montefalco, Umbria, Italy, by Matteo di Bassi, an Observatine Franciscan, about 1525. It grew rapidly, so that in 1875 it had 64 provinces, with 31,000 members. To Americans the best-known Capuchin is the late Father Theobald Mathew, the Irish apostle of total abstinence.

The Pennsylvania railroad will run their fourth seashore excursion to Atlantic City, Sea Isle City, Cape May, Anglesea, Wildwood, Ocean City, etc., on Thursday, August 13, 1903.

Special train of Day coaches and Pullman parlor cars will leave Union station at 8:55 a. m. Rate, ten dollars for round trip in coaches, or twelve dollars in parlor and sleeping cars, when accompanied by usual Pullman tickets. Evening trains leave at 4:50 and 9 o'clock, with coaches and sleeping cars to Philadelphia, and at 10 p. m., with sleeping cars through to Atlantic City without change.

IN THE REALM OF SOCIETY

A VERY pretty wedding took place last evening when Miss Edna Moller Young became the bride of John T. Ablett. The Rev. Charles S. McClelland of the Mt. Washington Presbyterian church performed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruce Young, in Olympia street, Duquesne Heights. The bride's only attendant was Miss Ruth Young, a sister. White silk mousseline over white taffeta, formed the bridal gown, elaborately trimmed. The maid of honor wore pink of the same material and carried pink roses, the bridal bouquet being white roses. Pink also appeared in the decorative scheme, the centerpiece on the bride's table being of carnations in pink and white. The dining room mantel was banked with the same blossoms. In the parlor the decorations were in green and white. Mr. and Mrs. Ablett left last evening for a brief wedding journey, which will include Niagara Falls. On their return the young couple will make their home at Grandview avenue and Augusta street.

Another pretty event of yesterday was the wedding of Miss Kate H. Swinkbank and Albert Morton, the marriage being solemnized at the home of the bride, in Wyoming street, Mt. Washington. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Swinkbank. The officiating clergyman at this event was the Rev. J. W. Norris, pastor of the Mt. Washington Pentecostal church, who performed the ceremony in the presence of about 75 friends of the principals. The appointments were exceedingly dainty, although simple. The bride and bridegroom left after the wedding supper for a Canadian trip. The bride appeared in a modish gown of blue foulard silk with trimmings of blue velvet. Her flowers were white roses.

Gossip of Oakmont.

Cards are out for the usual number of informal entertainments this week in Oakmont society. Miss Emma Johnston entertains at cards this afternoon, the affair to be very informally conducted. Tomorrow Mrs. Orlando Metcalf will be hostess at breakfast and cards. Her honor guests will be Mrs. Wade and Mrs. Thayer, visitors in Oakmont. Mrs. Harry Kier and her two daughters, Mrs. Harry Budd and Mrs. Harry Rowand, have issued invitations for a card party Friday afternoon. Mrs. H. S. Paul entertains at luncheon Saturday morning, and in the afternoon Miss Mary Lee and Miss Sue Paul, her daughters, give a small card party. Mrs. Laurens McLure entertains this afternoon at "The Rectory," her guests to be the members of the Woman's auxiliary of St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal church, Oakmont. Miss Bessie Wade is president of the Auxiliary and Mrs. McLure vice president.

Highland park was the scene of a merry little gathering yesterday afternoon. Miss Catherine Cooper, the small daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Cooper of Oakmont, was hostess to a few of her friends. Miss Cooper gave a picnic at the park, the children spending the afternoon at the zoo in charge of Dr. and Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Cooper's sister, Miss Gertrude Bettes. Little Miss Cooper's guests included Miss Ruth Swartwood, Miss Margaret Monroe, Miss Edith and Miss Jean Armstrong, children of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Armstrong, and the brother of the hostess, Charles Cooper. Miss Alice Cooper, who has been visiting in Oakmont for some time, has returned to her home in Allentown.

Pretty Home Wedding.

In the presence of many friends Miss Jeanette Romanoff was married last evening at the home of her parents, No. 73 Elm street, to Mr. Charles Gessner, a merchant of Allentown. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Grafman of the Washington street synagogue. The couple will leave this morning for an extended trip through the northwest and the Great Lakes. The bride was dressed in a gown of crepe de chene over white taffeta. Her veil was caught with a diamond sunburst, a gift of the groom. The bride was attended by Misses Marie Romanoff, a sister, who acted as maid of honor; Emma Gessner, a sister of the groom; Sarah Romanoff of Toledo, a cousin, and Bessie Romanoff, another of the pretty sisters. The attendants and maid of honor were dressed in plain white. After the marriage a supper was served to about 100 guests. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gessner and Mr. William Goldberg, Washington, Pa.; Harry Romanoff, Tiffin, O., an uncle of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Berkman, New Castle, and Mr. and Mrs. Simon Berkman, Beaver Falls.

Dinner at Chautauqua.

Mrs. Arthur E. Sheets of Forbes street was hostess at a daintily appointed dinner last evening. Mrs. Sheets is established in her beautiful summer home on Lake Chautauqua and has been entertaining quite extensively since her arrival at the lake. The honor guests at last evening's entertainment were Miss Rodgers, Miss Montgomery, Mrs. F. B. Hager of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Samuel Drexel Seintsburg of Philadelphia. Covers were placed for ten, the decorations being garden flowers artistically arranged. Mrs. Sheets will again be hostess during the latter part of the week. She will entertain at bridge and will give a yachting party. Her honor guests will be the same as last evening.

In Honor of a Sister.

The musicale given last evening by Mrs. C. W. Reese, living in Winterburn avenue, was a most delightful affair. Miss Mary Bostock, a sister of the hostess and a daughter of the Hon. H. W. Bostock of Mannington, W. Va., was honor guest. Miss Bostock came on to Pittsburgh to attend the birthday celebration of Mr. Reese last week, and while she is in the city a number of informal affairs are being planned for her. On Thursday evening Mrs. Reese entertains at luncheon for her sister and invitations will be issued later for several other events of the near future.

Weddings of the Day.

Invitations were issued some time ago for the marriage today of Miss Madeline de Forest of Fairchance and George K. Ferral of Pittsburgh. The wedding is to be a quiet affair at the home of the bride. Only a few intimate friends and the relatives of the bride and bridegroom have been invited to attend.

The wedding of Miss Clara Elizabeth Rutherford, the daughter of Mrs. John Rutherford, and Joseph Theron Randel will be a home event of today.

Fishing Club's Departure.

A number of well-known people of East Liberty composed a party leaving last night for the Chesapeake bay. The party was made up of the members of the East Liberty Hunting and Fishing club, one of the many popular organizations of the city. The club left over the Pennsylvania for Cambridge, Md., where they have rented a house for the month of August.

Came to Pittsburgh to Wed.

Miss Agnes Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fletcher of Greensburg, and George S. Getty, a young business man of Greensburg, were married at the Seventh Avenue hotel this city, yesterday, by the Rev. John A. Marquis, D. D., of Redlands, Cal., formerly pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Greensburg.

A Recent Engagement.

The engagement of Miss Anna Blanch Henderson of South St. Clair street and Theodore A. McDowell of East End avenue, Wilkinsburg, has been made public. The marriage will be an event of the early fall, taking place quietly at the home of the bride.

Skyes-Forsythe Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sykes of Alwine avenue, Greensburg, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Alice, to John W. Forsythe of Latrobe, the wedding to be an early fall event.

Social Events at Sewickley.

A box social was given in Leetsdale last evening by the women of the Leetsdale Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. James McKillips of Elmhurst Inn returned last evening from Atlantic City, where they have been for two weeks.

Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Albrecht gave a party on their lawn in Thorn street yesterday afternoon for their small daughter, Margaret.

Edwin Coffin, proprietor of the Park Place hotel, Sewickley, gave the first of a series of dances at the hotel last evening for the guests and their friends.

Social Notes.

Mrs. William Stevenson and Miss Ida Schreiber of Locust street, Allegheny, left this week for Atlantic City and the east.

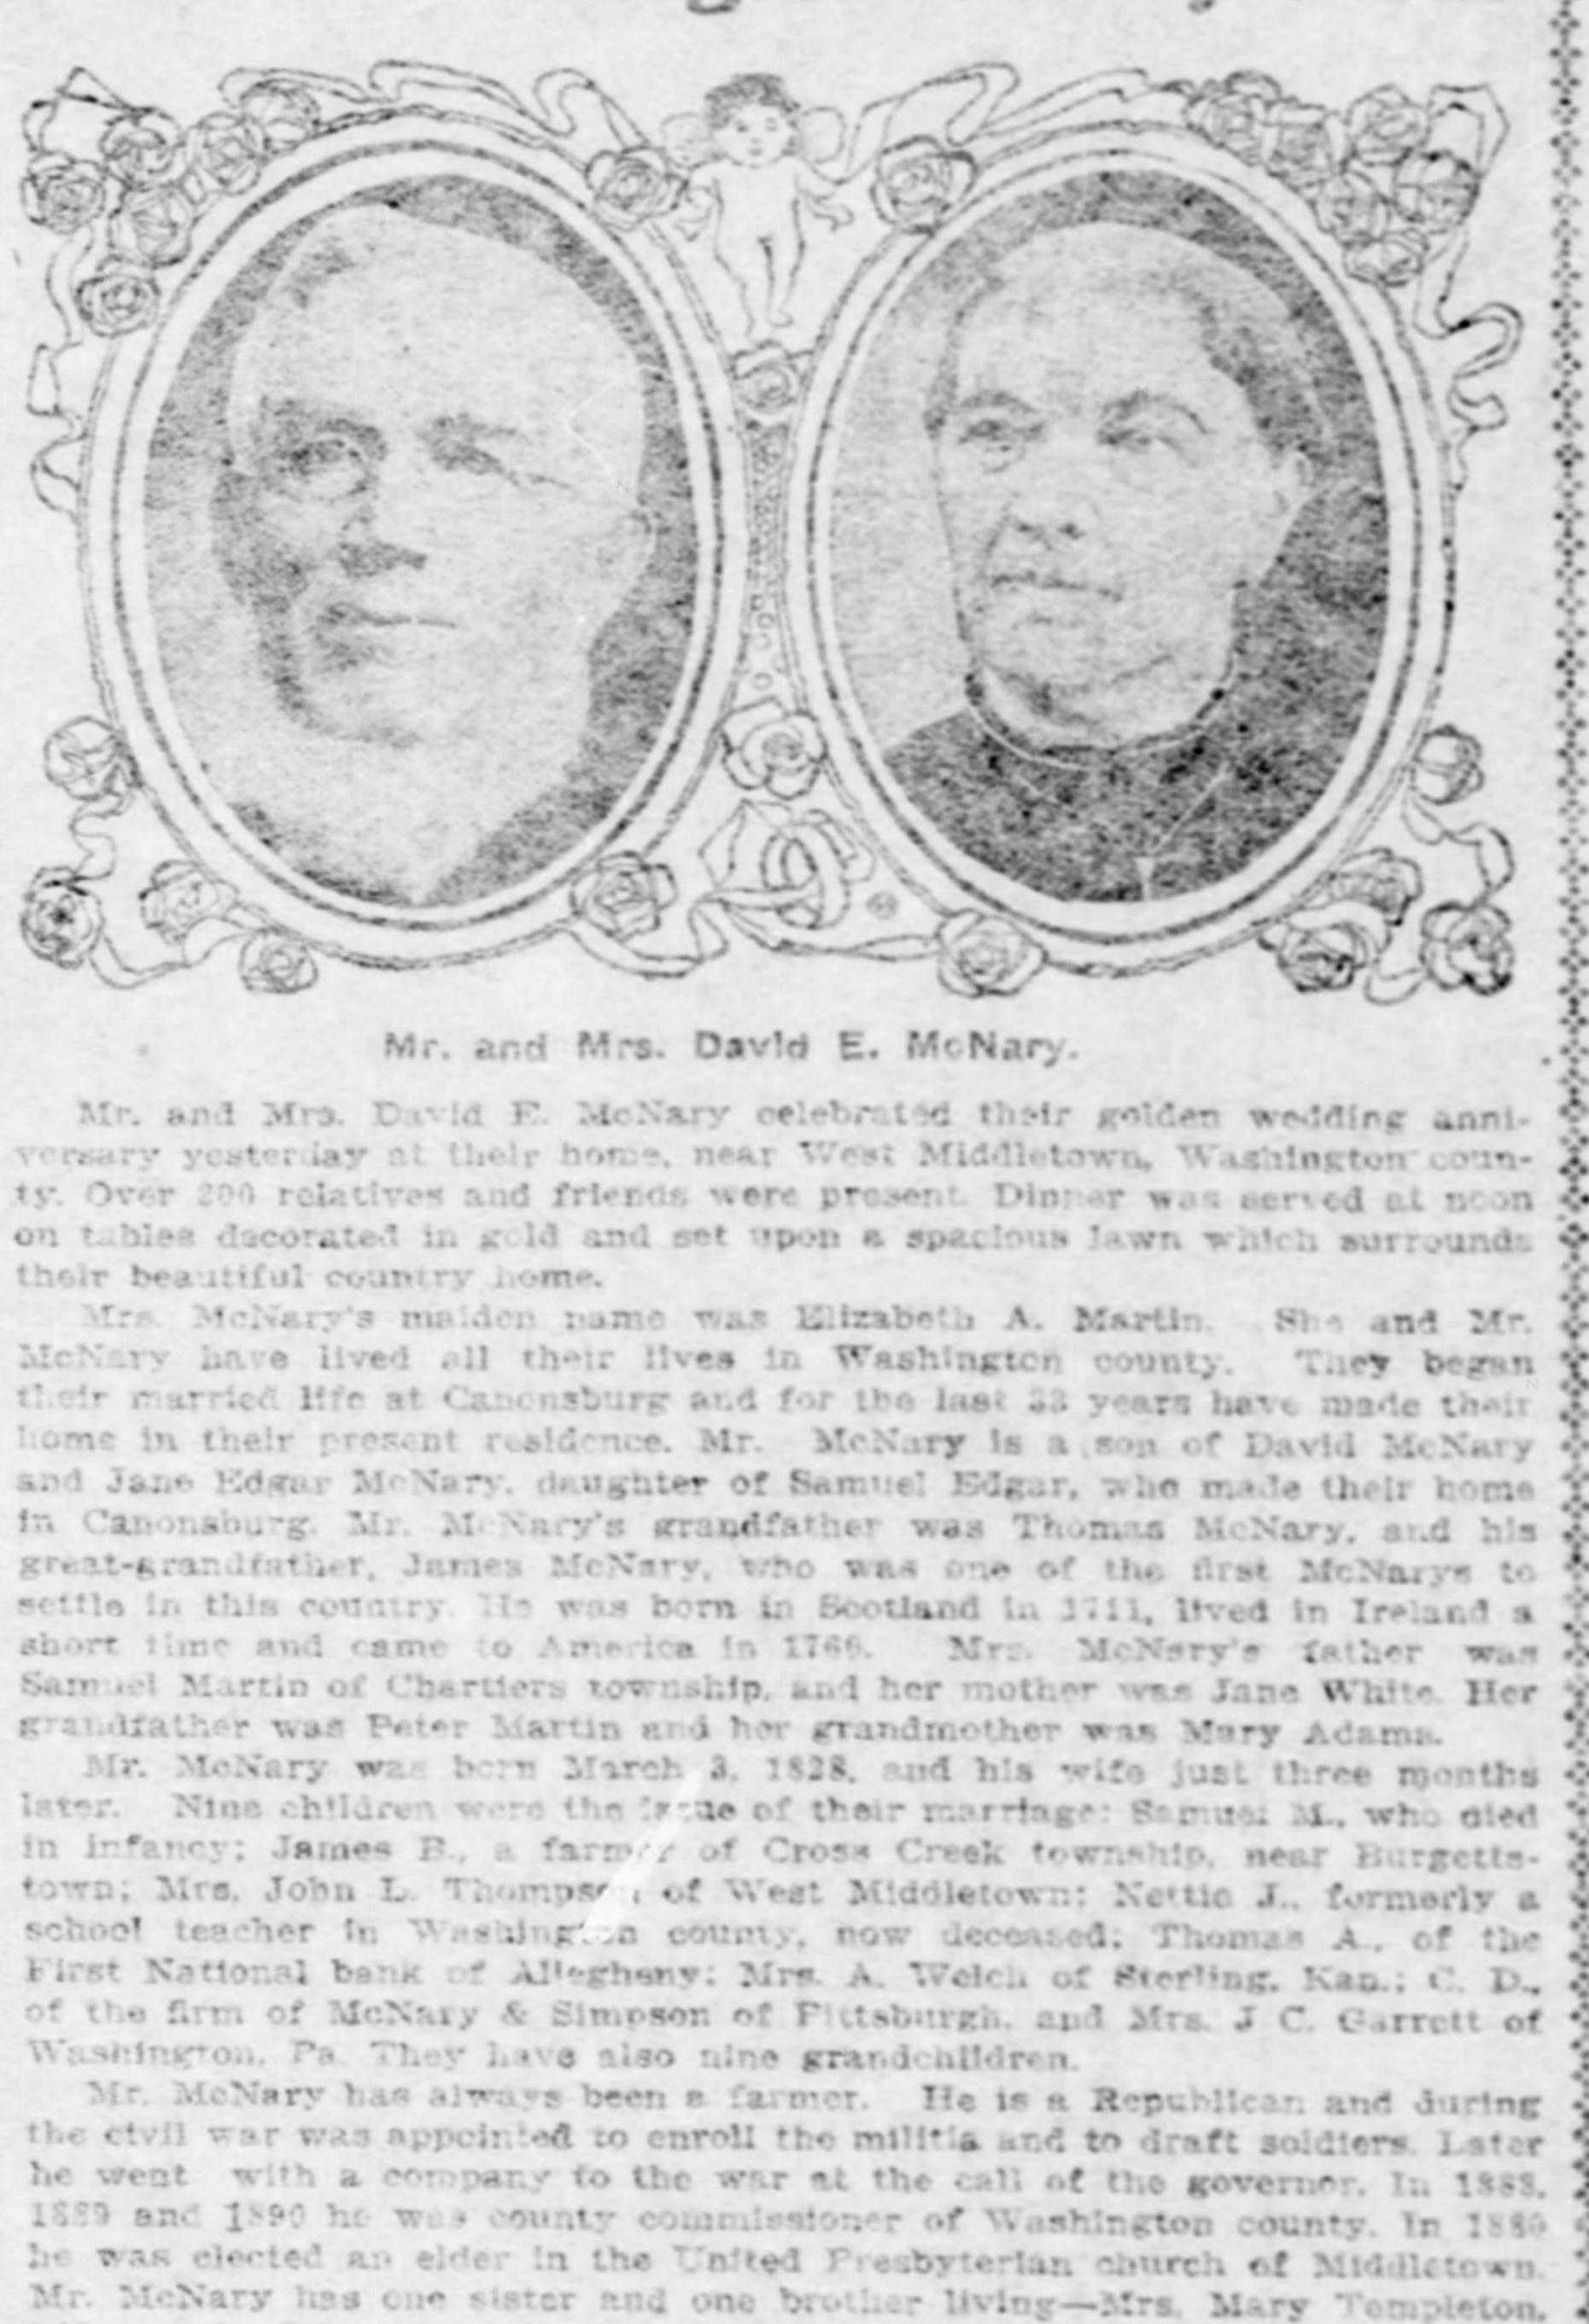
Miss Clara Coulson of Penn avenue, East End, left last evening for a two weeks' trip in the East. Miss Coulson will visit in Atlantic City and Philadelphia before returning home.

The Pittsburgh district council of the Young Men's Institute, held their annual outing at Calhoun park yesterday. The various committees in charge of the affair spared no effort to make it successful.

Miss Maud Kuhn of College avenue went to Paterson, N. J., yesterday for a week's visit with the Misses Clark of Paterson, who have been spending some weeks with friends in Pittsburgh and Bellevue.

Miss Delia Snyder of Greenfield avenue was also among the Pittsburghers to leave the city yesterday. Miss Snyder was accompanied by Miss Mayme Boyd of Wilkinsburg, and together they will visit Buffalo and Niagara Falls, going from there to Mammoth Cave, Ky.

Golden Wedding Anniversary on a Washington County Farm



Mr. and Mrs. David E. McNary.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. McNary celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday at their home, near West Middletown, Washington county. Over 200 relatives and friends were present. Dinner was served at noon on tables decorated in gold and set upon a spacious lawn which surrounds their beautiful country home.

Mrs. McNary's maiden name was Elizabeth A. Martin. She and Mr. McNary have lived all their lives in Washington county. They began their married life at Canonsburg and for the last 33 years have made their home in their present residence. Mr. McNary is a son of David McNary and Jane Edgar McNary, daughter of Samuel Edgar, who made their home in Canonsburg. Mr. McNary's grandfather was Thomas McNary, and his great-grandfather, James McNary, who was one of the first McNarys to settle in this country. He was born in Scotland in 1711, lived in Ireland a short time and came to America in 1769. Mrs. McNary's father was Samuel Martin of Chartiers township, and her mother was Jane White. Her grandfather was Peter Martin and her grandmother was Mary Adams.

Mr. McNary was born March 3, 1828, and his wife just three months later. Nine children were the issue of their marriage: Samuel M., who died in infancy; James B., a farmer of Cross Creek township, near Burgettstown; Mrs. John L. Thompson of West Middletown; Nettie J., formerly a school teacher in Washington county, now deceased; Thomas A., of the First National bank of Allegheny; Mrs. A. Welch of Sterling, Kan.; C. D., of the firm of McNary & Simpson of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. J. C. Garrett of Washington, Pa. They have also nine grandchildren.

Mr. McNary has always been a farmer. He is a Republican and during the civil war was appointed to enroll the militia and to draft soldiers. Later he went with a company to the war at the call of the governor. In 1888, 1889 and 1890 he was county commissioner of Washington county. In 1880 he was elected an elder in the United Presbyterian church of Middletown. Mr. McNary has one sister and one brother living—Mrs. Mary Templeton, widow of John Templeton of North Strabane township and Joseph D. McNary of Washington, Pa. Mrs. McNary has one brother and one sister living—Peter Martin of Houston, Pa., and Mrs. John Morgan of Washington, Pa.

Mr. McNary's present residence has always been noted for having the finest barn of any Washington county farm. It is well-known throughout this section of the state and frequently visited. The new Wabash railroad, which is now being built into Pittsburgh, passes through the farm, which is but 30 miles from the city. By the time he celebrates his 75th wedding anniversary Mr. McNary expects to see the city of Pittsburgh built out to his place. The health of the aged couple is remarkably good.

THESE CIPHERS COUNTED.

Philadelphia Police Magistrate Aided Prisoner in the Rule of Three.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Magistrate Cunningham asked William Treadwell what two threes were today at the central police court and when Treadwell replied "six" the magistrate put on two ciphers. Treadwell is an Englishman by birth and was accused by his wife, Fannie, of No. 1844 Lehigh avenue, of deserting her. When the husband was asked to explain he replied:

"Well, judge, it's just this way; six on one side and two threes on the other."

"What's two threes?" asked the magistrate, looking seriously. "Six," said Treadwell. "Well, I'll even matters up a little," said the court. "I'll hold you in two threes for court."

"What's that?" asked the defendant.

ABY FLINN WILL WANDER NO MORE

Homeless Three-Year-Old Traveler Worms His Way Into Couple's Heart.

TAGGED TO MASSACHUSETTS

Robert A. George Left Large Estate to His Family—One Woman Cut Daughter Off With $5—Equity Suit on an Assignment.

An order was made in common pleas court No. 1, granting permission to John J. and Ada Bauman, to adopt Frank William Flinn, 3 years old. Since the death of the child's parents, a year ago, the child has traveled to Massachusetts and back, alone, with a tag attached to his clothing.

The petition of Mr. and Mrs. Bauman shows that after the death of the boy's parents he was sent to his only uncle, George Sheppardson, of Cambridge, Mass., who cared for the boy until July 20, last, when the uncle sent the boy, with a tag attached to him, to the address of a neighbor of the child's late father, also a letter to the neighbor, saying he did not want him any more. Since July 29 last, the child has lived with the petitioners, and hereafter will be known as Frank William Bauman.

The will of Robert A. George, late of Sewickley, was filed. He died in Pasadena, Cal., on July 6, last. The value of the estate is not given. William D. George, a brother, and the decedent's widow, are made executors. The testator bequeathes $10,000 to his mother and $5,000 to his sister, Elizabeth G. Rohrbacher. To a sister-in-law, Grace C. George, is left $5,000 and an aunt, Nancy Shaw, is given a like amount. All of the decedent's interest in his grandfather's estate is left to his mother and the residue of the estate goes to the decedent's widow.

By the will of Mrs. Mary J. Madden, late of Oakmont, her daughter, Birdie Madden, is cut off with a bequest of $5. In leaving $500 in trust for Clara Madden, another daughter, the testatrix wrote: "I desire that my said daughter, Clara Madden, shall not at any time hereafter reside with my daughter Birdie Madden, and the executor is directed to see that this order is complied with. A daughter, Mrs. Anna Keisler, is bequeathed $600 and another daughter, Mrs. Eleanor J. Morris, gets $400. A son, William B. Madden, is left $600 and another son, Charles E. Madden, is left property at Oakmont.

By the will of Charles F. Schopfer, late of Shaler township, an estate worth $19,600, is left to the decedent's widow.

William J. Ritchey has filed a bill in equity against Thomas E. McCausland, asking the court to enforce the assignment to the plaintiff of certain stock, or that property in the Thirty-fifth ward, conveyed to the defendant by the plaintiff be returned again to the latter. The plaintiff sets forth that he transferred the property to the defendant in consideration of 100 shares of the capital stock of the Planters' Development and Manufacturing Company, said to be worth $5,000, being assigned by the defendant to the plaintiff. The plaintiff avers that the company refused to assign the stock to him, alleging that $4,000 was still due on it.

DUTY SPOILS ROMANCE.

Two Brothers Long Absent Sailed Before Seeing Third Brother, Who Was Late.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—With the sailing today of the Norwegian steamship Alf, Capt. Elfrid Hansen, for Waubana, New Foundland, an unusual bit of family romance came to light.

Yesterday the Norwegian steamship Urd, Capt. P. A. Hansen, left for Havana, Cuba. Both vessels took with them happy skippers, for during their brief stay at this port the two men, who are brothers, met for the first time in 20 years. Each, could they have waited until the Norwegian steamship Florida, now due at Delaware breakwater, arrives, they would have met another brother whom neither has seen in years.

PAID TWENTY DOLLARS TO BOGUS CONSTABLE

Assistant Superintendent of Police John Glenn of Allegheny was notified last night that John Bischitch, a Pole of East Ohio street, had been defrauded of $20 by a man who claimed to be a constable from Alderman Humphrey Lynch's office. According to Bischitch he was called upon yesterday afternoon by a man who said he was a constable and was informed that he was under arrest and would have to put up $20 pending a hearing before Alderman Lynch. He paid the $20 and got a receipt from the man, who signed his name W. Williams. The police think they know the man and expect to arrest him today.

STOLE THE TIN CUPS, THEN STOLE THE BEER

Elmer Yeager, a boy, was sent to jail last evening. Yeager, with four companions, it is claimed, broke into a sealed freight car on the Junction railroad near Schenley park yesterday and stole several kegs of beer. On of the kegs was opened and the contents drank, and when the second keg was tapped the railroad officers appeared and all but Yeager escaped. The boys drank the beer from tin cups said to have been taken from Schenley park.

ONE MAN MAY DIE; TWO MEN ARE IN JAIL

Fred Trump, Jr., is lying in his boarding house in Mendelsshon with a bullet in his right lung and Mariano Rock and Antonio Eatino are in jail charged with felonious shooting. All are employes of the West Side Belt Line railroad. The men were celebrating Monday night when a fight started. The result is told above. Trump may die.

Sullivan Takes Charge.

M. O'Sullivan, second vice president of the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' International Alliance, went to Baltimore last night to investigate the strike of about 40 members of the union against the contractors of the Belvidere hotel in that city. The strike was ordered yesterday and affects the Rassner & Dinger Company of Pittsburgh. The trouble was caused over the misunderstanding as to jurisdiction between the metal workers and painters.

Charged With Cutting Wires.

F. J. Willenpart of Carnegie was held yesterday in $300 bail on a charge of malicious mischief. E. D. Warde, assistant superintendent of maintenance of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company alleges that he instructed W. G. Frey and A. W. Belle to repair wires in Carnegie. Willenpart threatened personal injury to them if they did not desist and also threatened to destroy the work. Frey and Belle did the repairing and it is alleged that Willenpart cut the wires after the men left.

Dead Outlaws Identified.

GUTHRIE, OKLA., Aug. 11.—Deputy Marshals Bennett, Willetts and Jacobson arrived today from Pawhuska, Osage nation, with the bodies of two members of the Martin gang of outlaws killed in the fight on Saturday. They have been identified as Will and Sam Martin. Rewards aggregating $12,000 had been offered for the men dead or alive.

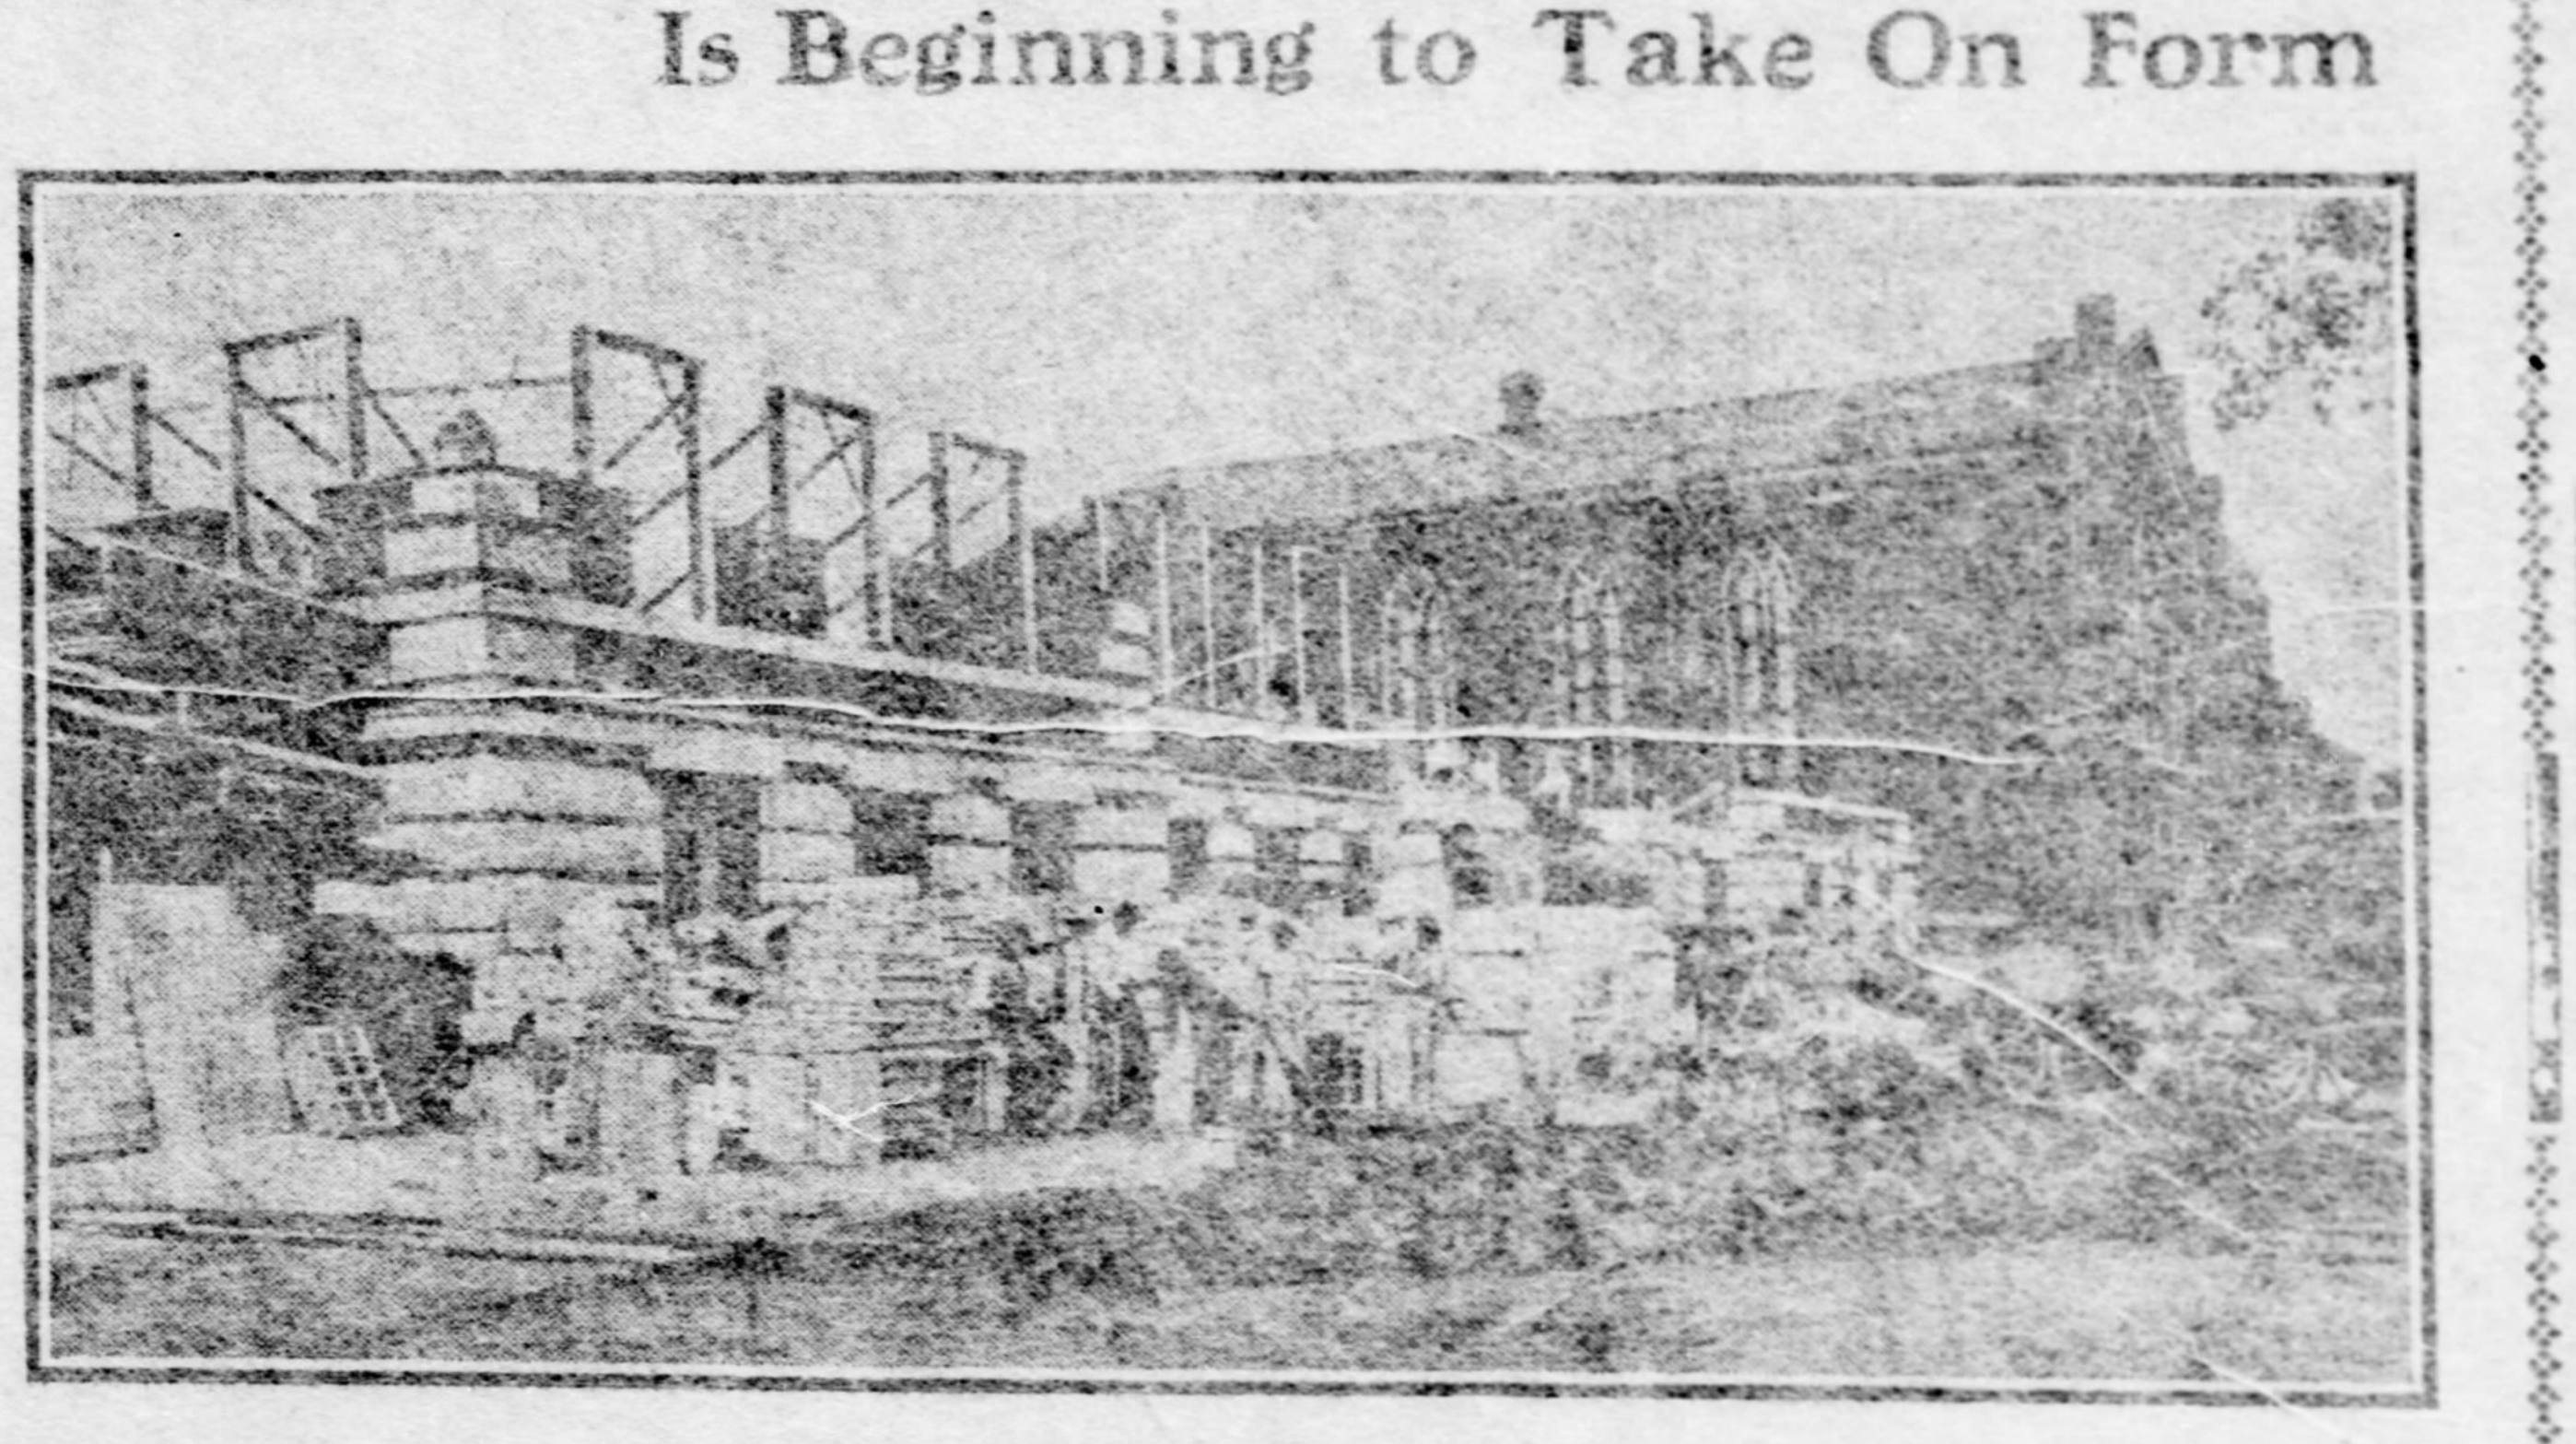
Allegheny General Hospital Is Beginning to Take On Form



Stockton Avenue Front of the New Main Building.

In a few weeks at most, the officials of the Allegheny General hospital will have the pleasure of seeing several departments of that institution moved from the present cramped quarters in Sandusky street to the new buildings erected for them in Park way. The buildings for the laundry, contagious department, ambulance department and the power house, are ready for finishing. The boilers are in place and the workmen are now waiting for the laundry machinery. As soon as this arrives the present laundry building, an old frame structure in the center of the hospital site, will be torn down, as it is delaying the foundations of the larger building. The buildings along Park way are only two and three stories high and will be ready for occupancy by September 20.

Work on the front of the hospital, in Stockton avenue, is progressing rapidly under the direction of the general contractors, J. E. & A. L. Pennock. Over 100 men are now employed and the job thus far has been remarkably free from strikes and delays caused by lack of materials. The terra cotta work is up to the second story. Nearly 3,000,000 brick will be used in the construction of the seven-story building. A feature of its construction is that all the inside partitions will be of tile.

ROOT WILL RESIGN BEFORE SAILING

President Will Hold Question Under Advisement Until Action Is Necessary.

CAN ACCEPT IT AT ANY TIME

Governor Taft Will Then Be Summoned Home from the Philippines to Assume the Duties of Secretary of War—Root Family Dislike Washington.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Before Secretary of War Root sails for England to take up his work with the Alaska boundary commission, he will hand his resignation to President Roosevelt, who will not act upon it at once. If, however, Mr. Root is delayed in London, the president can accept it at any time and send for Gov. Taft of the Philippines to take the place of secretary of war.

Mr. Root has been talked of as a probable candidate for governor of New York. It is well known that Mr. Root and Mr. Odell are friendly. The point, however, is made that Mr. Odell will at the conclusion of this term have served two terms and it is believed that Secretary Root would be an agreeable candidate. That there are some important moves on the Republican checkerboard there is no room for doubt.

Mr. Root, it is argued, will not be obliged to defer his actual stepping out by reason of his failure to have prepared his annual report. The reports of the heads of divisions will be sent to him in London. If there is any need of a secretary of war earlier than October, the place can be filled by Gen. Oliver, the new assistant secretary of war.

Mr. Odell, it is understood, will take the railroad position at a high salary offered him by E. H. Harriman prior to his nomination the last time.

Secretary Root's desire to leave public life is based largely on personal grounds. His family does not like the life in Washington and the secretary desires also to return to his law practice in New York.

WANTS FIRST DEGREE.

States Attorney Byrd Makes a Strong Plea Against Jett and White.

CYNTHIANA, KY., Aug. 11.—State's Attorney Byrd addressed the jury today in the Jett-White murder case. He closely followed the evidence and in a masterly way at the close demanded for the commonwealth of Kentucky that the defendants be hanged.

He begged the jury in the name of the widow and children of James B. Marcum to fix the death penalty. His address occupied four and one-half hours. Tomorrow morning James D. Black and L. P. Fryer will address the jury. It is thought the case will reach the jury some time tomorrow morning.

WANT AMERICAN AID.

Germans Seeking Co-Operation in Experiments on Electric Railways.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—A statement is published here today, evidently from information given by Privy Councillor Rathenau, managing director of the Allegemeine Elektricitaets Company, regarding the object of his forthcoming visit to the United States. According to the statement he will conduct negotiations for delimitation of the spheres of interest of the Allegemeine Elektricitaets Company and the General Electric Company in neutral countries, thus avoiding mutual competition. His visit also has reference to the exchange of experience, designs and patents.

The statement intimates that American capitalists are ready to undertake a board gauge long-distance electric road with the co-operaton of the great Berlin companies and that the latter are more than ready to place the results of their experiments at the disposal of the American exploiters, since it is considered that such a course would be the quickest way of inducing the government authorities here to undertake the application of the same system on German soil.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—[illegible] the royal commission on alien immigra[illegible] recommends that the immigration of certa[illegible] aliens into the United Kingdom be su[illegible] state control and proposes a number of [illegible] tions and the establishment of a department of immigration. The recommendations are similar to the provisions of the United States immigration law.

BRIEFS OFF THE CABLE.

MALTA.—A violent shock of earthquake lasting a minute was felt here.

LONDON.—The house of lords passed the third reading of the Irish land bill.

PARIS.—The marriage took place in the church of St. Pierre de Chaillot of Charles Knight, an architect of Philadelphia, and son of Ridgeway Knight, the artist, and Alice Boucherie, daughter of Baron Boucherie de Cuzieux.

LONDON.—The appeal court reversed the decision of Justice Bigham, who on August 8, 1902, in a case where the Welsh Coal Owners association sued the Miners Federation for $500,000 for ordering stop-days without consulting the owners, decided in favor of the defendants on the ground that there was no malice in the action of the men who believed that a reduction of the output would benefit both parties.

HURRICANE IS NEARING THE COAST OF FLORIDA

Foretaste Is Felt at Havana. Martinique Suffers from Another Disaster.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The hurricane which yesterday passed over San Domingo and Martinique, probably is approaching the south Cuban coast, with indication of recurving, but at what angle the weather bureau officials are unable to state. A report from Havana at 7 o'clock tonight said that the wind was blowing 36 miles and hour and was from the northeast.

The hurricane probably will continue in its course northward somewhere close to the Florida peninsula. Hurricane warnings have been sent to points from Port Eads, on the gulf coast, around the Florida coast up as far as Jupiter Inlet, and storm warnings to Atlantic coast points from Jackson to Charleston, S. C. The weather bureau regards it as extremely unwise for vessels to sail for gulf or Cuban ports or the Bahamas just now. The storm was central this morning at Kingston, Jamaica.

The state department today received a dispatch from Consul Jewet at Ft. De France, Martinique, dated yesterday, confirming the press report of the disastrous cyclone in that island. The dispatch says: "Terrific cyclone visited entire island midnight Saturday. Great damage to crops and fruits. Many houses in Ft. De France unroofed, trees two feet thick uprooted. One killed. Consulate intact. At Trinite seven killed, many houses destroyed. Smaller towns damaged. New villages Tivoli, Fand, LaHaye, Fourniols and Regulee destroyed, rendering 5,000 sufferers in last year's catastrophe again homeless. Reports from the interior of the island are indefinite. Great discouragement."

IS WILLING TO HELP.

A Chicago Lawyer Offers Funds for State Exhibit at St. Louis Expo.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Orvill G. Wales, a Chicago lawyer, is willing to help pay out if the state has not sufficient money to make a good exhibit at the St. Louis exposition. Mr. Wales writes the secretary of the Pennsylvania commission to the St. Louis exposition and asks what the state has appropriated, adding:

"Are you in need of any money with which to make your exhibit? If so, I think I can furnish it." The generous proposition will be referred to the commission.

SHOT AT STRIKERS.

Alleged Westinghouse Employe Uses Gun to Get Peace.

Objecting to being called names, Charles Most, an employe of the Westinghouse Machine Company at East Pittsburgh, Monday afternoon is alleged to have fired in the direction of a number of striking machinists and children. Information was made against the man by John Boyle of local No. 574, of the Machinists, for felonious shooting and yesterday afternoon 'Squire Sullivan of East Pittsburgh held the defendant in $50 bail. Bail was furnished.

Most, when the strike started several weeks ago, is said to have come out although he does not belong to the local. Recently he returned to work and this action subjected him to much criticism.

BARRED DOORS OF NO AVAIL.

"The" Allen's Pool Room Raided for the 88th Time by New York Police.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The alleged pool room conducted by "The" Allen, in Sixth avenue, was raided tonight for the 88th time. Four hundred men, whites and negroes, were caught, but only four were placed under arrest.

The place was heavily fortified with iron bars at all the doors and windows, but a squad of detectives succeeded in catching the lookouts off their guard and dashed through the front door when it was left open.

Boy Mourned as Dead Was Stolen.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Thirteen years ago Xavier Moreu, 5 years old, disappeared. His clothes were found on the river bank and he was believed to have been drowned. The grief of his mother resulted in the temporary loss of her reason. Word was received today that the boy is living in Illinois and will return home at once. He was carried off by a band of gypsies from whom he escaped.

Wanted for Horse Stealing.

Chief of Police W. F. Turner of Salem, O., was in Pittsburgh yesterday trying to locate two horses, a wagon and a set of harness. The two men for whom search is being made under the supposition that they are the thieves, before leaving Salem collected a lot of scrap iron and sold it for $34.50. They are charged with horse stealing and grand larceny. They got away from Salem under the pretense that they were going out into the country to buy more scrap iron and then failed to return.

Waiting for Charters.

Local No. 1, Stone Masons, met last night at No. 1119 Penn avenue, to consider plans for merging with the bricklayers. The six stone masons' locals of Pittsburgh and Allegheny have applied for charters from the Bricklayers' International union and until these are received the amalgamation will not be completed.

Labor Day Colors.

The executive committee in charge of the Labor day celebration, met last night at their headquarters in Diamond street to discuss plans for the parade. Practically nothing definite was determined. Colors for the various divisions formed a part of the discussion.

WHIPPING WAS AN ACT OF REVENGE

Woman Convict Tells Investigators of Her Sufferings at Allagood's Hands.

HE MADE ADVANCES TO HER

When They Were Rejected He Trumped Up a Charge and Whipped Her in Brutal Manner—She Suffered Greatly from Bruises.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MILLEDGVILLE, GA., Aug. 11.—On oath and replying to questions by Jake Moore, the warden of the state penitentiary, sent to investigate officially the whipping of Mamie Decris, the "Diamond Queen," Miss Decris answered today that she had not been whipped because of impertinence to the wife of Superintendent Allagood, but because she had declined improper proposals made by Capt. Allagood. Feeling that she was no longer at the mercy of Allagood, she dropped the restraint she has heretofore shown and told her story to Warden Moore and his stenographer calmly and deliberately. The statement made by Miss Decris to Warden Moore is in part as follows:

MAMIE DE GRIS.

The Woman Whose Whipping at the Georgia State Farm Has Aroused the Country.

At first I was treated as though a member of the Allagood family. Then this man became too friendly. I scorned him with all the vehemence and earnestness of my soul. From that moment his treatment from that of a gentleman changed to one of brutality impossible to describe. He told me that if I ever repeated what he had done or said he would make it hot for me. He certainly has. He told me he could whip me. He did.

Mrs. Allagood had been treating me so coldly that I went to her and asked her what I had done and what in the world was the matter with her. She told me that I was no better than other convicts and deserved no better treatment. I was without a friend in the world to whom I could go.

He made the announcement in the dining room that he would whip me. He said: "I have a crow to pick with Mamie and she can hold the feathers. She has broken prison rules and insulted my wife." Then, turning to me, he said: "You told Mary Taylor that I insulted you." I denied his charges, but he would not listen. He went after Dr. Adams and made him examine me to see if I were able to undergo the whipping. The doctor said he thought I could stand it.

Allagood made me lie across the bed. He then whipped me with the leather strap. I do not know how many licks he struck. I know the lashes left great bruises. For week these bruises and welts were on my body and for a long time I could not sit down. I was forced to work in the field in the sun for two weeks after the Sunday on which I was whipped.

Miss Decris declared that since the whipping has been made public she has been treated with every kindness possible.

OMAHA BRIDGE OPENED TO COMMON CARRIERS

Chicago Great Western Wins Important Victory, Gaining Entrance to Omaha.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OMAHA, Aug. 11.—A decision of importance to the railroad world was rendered today by the United States circuit court, when it was announced that the Chicago Great Western had the right in common with other roads of using the Union Pacific bridge over the Missouri river at Omaha, on payment of rental.

The Chicago Great Western has planned extensive improvements reaching across the Missouri by way of the Omaha bridge, invading the territory of the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific. It is taking contracts for 30 per cent of the packing business of South Omaha at cut rates. The Union Pacific made a desperate fight to block the extension but now that the bridge is declared a common carrier for all roads, further objections to the Great Western's aggressive policy will be useless.

TOUR OF INSPECTION.

Several Pennsy Officials to Examine Road Between Here and Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Second Vice President Charles E. Pugh, General Manager W. W. Atterbury and W. A. Pratt, assistant to the chief engineer, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will leave tomorrow for a trip over the line between here and Pittsburgh. Owing to the immense amount of work which is being done by the company the executive officers are desirous of keeping in touch with it.

The outlook for the fall business is very good and it is believed that if extra precautions are not taken the line will become congested again, as it did early in the year. The inspection is for the purpose of seeing how much headway has been made with the new work, especially that part pertaining to the enlarging and rearranging of the various freight yards.

Don't Stay Home When You Have Such an Elegant Opportunity to Visit the Seashore.

The Pennsylvania railroad will run their fourth seashore excursion to Atlantic City, Sea Isle City, Cape May, Anglesea, Wildwood, Ocean City, etc., on Thursday, August 13, 1903.

Special train of Day coaches and Pullman parlor cars will leave Union station at 8:55 a. m. Rate ten dollars for round trip in coaches, or twelve dollars in parlor and sleeping cars, when accompanied by usual Pullman tickets. Evening trains leave at 4:50 and 9 o'clock, with coaches and sleeping cars to Philadelphia, and at 10 p. m., with sleeping cars through to Atlantic City without change.

STOCK MARKET WAS DULL BUT FIRMER

Decline in Sterling Exchange and Low Call Money Rates Induced Shorts to Cover—Local Market Dull and Heavy.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

During the greater part of the session yesterday the course of the eastern stock market was irregular. The real turn for the better did not occur until late in the day, when on the decline in sterling exchange to the lowest level of the year, and the offering of call loans down to 1 per cent, started shorts to cover. A sharp rally ensued, which carried prices to the highest of the day, and on the advance the offerings were not so large as on former occasions, reviving the hope that the selling had exhausted itself—for the time being at least. Sterling is now down to within a fraction of the point at which gold was imported last year, while rates for call and time loans are lower than they were last August when the greatest bull movement of the year was in progress. It is now within the probabilities that we shall import gold the coming fall, instead of exporting it, and it is also possible that the reaction from the long downward movement will begin with the first announcement of gold imports. There is, however, at the present time a strong and confident bear party which will fight any advance, and at the same time there is an army of cripples in the street which will be in no shape for a long time to come to take any active part in an upward movement. When the current of liquidation does come, therefore, the best that can be expected is a dull and slowly improving market.

Contrary to expectations London was a seller of American stocks at the opening, but after these offerings were absorbed, there was a moderate advance. On the rally traders sold and bears attacked the list, using reports of unusually low temperatures in the corn belt as the principal argument; but there was an absence of unsettling rumors affecting houses in the street, and altogether a relaxation of the tension that has been so noticeable of late. The street did not pay very much attention to the government crop report, and although Atchison and Missouri Pacific have a larger mileage in Kansas and Missouri—the short corn states—than any other road, they did not decline more than St. Paul or Rock Island, and they were leaders in the late advance. St. Paul had declined from 135¾ to 134¼ on a revival of rumors as to the intentions of the company relative to a stock issue, but it later recovered to 136¼ on the positive denial that such issue was contemplated. Mr. William Rockefeller was quoted as saying that "the rumor that the St. Paul Company proposes to issue new securities in order to finance some operations is absolutely untrue. The company has ample funds for its present purposes, having on deposit upwards of $20,000,000 in different trust companies. At the time the new stock was authorized its authorization was for a specific object connected with the possibilities growing out of some threats of competitors. These threats have not materialized, so there is no need of issuing stock." A similar story relating to Atchison was also denied. Union Pacific, which had sold off to 68⅜ rallied 2 per cent in the final dealings. Southern Railway preferred, which on Monday broke to 76, rallied to 80, and Louisville & Nashville, which sold off to 99½, rallied to 101¼. The report of the latter for the year ended June 30, showing an increase in surplus of $1,360,000, was favorably commented upon. Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and New York Central fluctuated within a narrow range, but rallied with the rest of the list in the late trading. The traction stocks also made a strong rally.

Canadian Pacific was one of the quietest stocks on the list. It opened higher at 125, in response to the action of the directors in increasing the dividend to a 6 per cent rate—which action was not announced until after the close of the market on Monday—but the premium on borrowed stock disappeared and there was no sign of a squeeze of the shorts. In this connection a story was current that the banks, which are lending money to the Canadian Pacific pool warned the latter that if it attempted to corner the stock and squeeze the shorts, the stock would be thrown out of collateral for loans. The object of this warning was to prevent the introduction of another disturbing factor into a situation that was already sufficiently complicated.

The industrial stocks were less active than for some time past, and while they followed the course of the general market, fluctuations were narrower. United States Steel was steadier than for several days. The common opened at 21⅛ and late in the day advanced to 21¾. An attempt was made to break it through 21 by reviving the dividend rumors, but the latter were promptly and emphatically denied. The preferred stock was moderately active, declining from 68⅝ to 68¼, but later recovering to 69½. Amalgamated Copper was firmer, advancing to 40¼, and Consolidated Gas recovered 4 per cent from the low point of the morning, advancing to 169¾. The minor industrials were inactive. The noticeable thing about the afternoon market was that as prices recovered trading became less active. During the first two hours the sales reached 267,000 shares, while for the five hours the total was 518,000 shares.

Call loan rates ruled nominally unchanged at 2@2¼ per cent, until the early part of the afternoon, when there was a decline to 1 per cent, the lowest of the year, and the final loan was made at 1 per cent. Heretofore when money rates declined sterling ruled firmer, but yesterday the latter also declined.

Grain markets were unusually narrow, and both wheat and corn closed only a fraction above the lowest. Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 2,948,000 bushels in the world's visible supply of wheat and a decrease of 602,000 bushels corn. A London authority estimated European requirements at 10,000,000 bushels wheat a week for the current year. Thus far the primary movement in this country has been light, compared with last year; but an increase in foreign demand would have a good effect upon both financial and commercial conditions.

The tone of the local stock market at the opening yesterday was heavy, and initial prices generally showed declines. The volume of trading was light and pretty evenly distributed among a few stocks. Crucible common declined to 10⅛, its former low price, and the preferred made a new low record on this movement by declining to 71. A very small fraction covered the fluctuations in United States Steel common, which closed at 21¾, while trading in the preferred was less than 200 shares at 68¾ to 69. National Fire Proofing common and preferred were fractionally lower, as was also Brewing common, which was quoted ex-dividend. Pittsburgh Coal common sold off from 26¾ to 26¼, but the preferred remained unchanged at 83. River Coal preferred was unchanged at 37½. Westinghouse Electric and Airbrake were unchanged. Only two small lots of bank stocks changed hands all day. A block of $10,000 River Coal 6s changed hands at 113½, an advance of ¼ per cent. The market closed dull, but with a little better tone.

Local Money Market Tight.

The local money market is tight, and there was some calling of loans yesterday and on Monday. A member of the stock exchange, who is also a director in several banks, remarked after the close of the market yesterday: "The buying is restricted almost exclusively to the investor who pays cash. The purchaser on margin is practically shut out of the market because of the scarcity of loanable funds and the feeling among commission brokers that they do not care to increase their liabilities in bank just at this time, even if they were able to do so. A slow recovery, averaging say 5 points on the active stocks, would do more than anything else to stimulate investment buying. A quick advance in one or two specialties would not attract investors. That would look like manipulation, and the investor has been 'fooled' so often of late in buying on what he thought was the bottom, that he is getting very timid. A slow recovery, steadily held, would look like a genuine reaction; it would be a healthy sign, and it would attract the cash buyer. The margin buyer, however, will have to wait some time longer for accommodation."

Nearing the Turn.

"This was one of the weakest days on our board this year," remarked one of the oldest members of the Pittsburgh stock exchange after the close yesterday. "The business and prices do not reflect the actual feeling which was prevalent during the early part of the day. There was a more decided note of discouragement in the talk on the floor and in the offices than at any previous time this year, but this gave way to a little better feeling at the close of the day. I look upon this as a good sign. I have been in our market for years, and I have noticed that Pittsburgh stocks are always slow to respond to a general movement in the east. New York stocks were declining for weeks before any change was noticeable here. If you will recollect, we were bulling bank and trust company shares when the best stocks in the east were declining earlier in the year. Now the local market appears to be getting weak, which makes me feel that the long downward movement in Wall street has about reached the turning point. I cannot explain why it is that Pittsburgh stocks are slow to decline and slow to rally, but I know that this is the case."

The Trust Company Deal.

There was no response in the market to the announcement of the practical consummation of the local trust company deal. The latter had been hanging fire for so long, and its consummation comes at a time when the money market is unfavorable for speculative operations, that its effects have apparently been discounted. There were no transactions in the stocks of the various institutions affected by the deal. Farmers Deposit National bank was offered at 1,700, but closed without bid. Colonial Trust was offered at 500, but was also without bid. American Trust was offered at 425, a concession of 10 points from the recent asking price, and was nominally quoted at 380 bid. Until there is an actual transaction in one of these stocks, it is impossible to calculate the parity of each. The asking price of 1,700 for Farmers Deposit National is equivalent to about 485 for Colonial and 422 for American. On the other hand, the asking price of 500 for Colonial is equivalent to 1,750 for Farmers. The bid price of 380 for American would be equivalent to about 438 for Colonial and 1,520 for Farmers. The last public sales were at 1,600 for Farmers, 500 for Colonial and 460 for American. In some quarters it is estimated that dividends at the rate of 25 per cent per annum will be paid on the new capitalization of $6,800,000. If that rate were paid it would be equivalent to 87½ per cent on the old stock of the Farmers Deposit, which is exchangeable on the basis of 3½ shares Colonial for one share of Farmers. To pay 25 per cent on $6,800,000 would require $1,700,000 net per year, or $32,700 per week, over and above all expenses.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

At the close of the market 25 shares Home Trust stock was offered at 132½.

Commonwealth Trust was offered down to 218 and Real Estate Trust to 268, and both closed without bids.

Standard Oil stock closed at 591 bid, an advance of 6 points.

Pittsburgh Brewing books close today for the dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common and 1¾ per cent on the preferred, and reopen August 21.

The sale of Philadelphia Company at 37¾ marks the low price of the year.

The following roads reported increases in gross earnings for the first week in August: Canadian Pacific, $126,000; Missouri Pacific, $42,000; Missouri, Kansas & Texas, $17,900; Texas & Pacific, $4,800.

Bank stocks in Chicago have declined to the lowest point in the year in sympathy with the general shrinkage in securities and owing to the enforced liquidation by many who subscribed to increased capitalization and were unable to carry it. Prices are off 5 to 60 points, and in a few instances are below the actual book value. A majority are now about on the basis of their book values.

The suit of John F. Doyle against the Metropolitan Street Railway to compel it to show its books so that its financial condition may be known, will come up today in the supreme court of Manhattan.

Fifty-seven bond offerings were made by municipalities throughout the country during July and found no satisfactory bidders. Twenty-six of these were 4s, seven were 4½s, and 16 were 5s.

It is not generally known that John D. Rockefeller is a member of the New York stock exchange. He, of course, never appears upon the floor, but has been a member for over 30 years. William Rockefeller is also a member. Through their memberships the Rockefellers save a large amount of money in commissions, as they both buy and sell stocks on a large scale. The commissions which they save amount to considerably more than the interest to carry the two memberships. Neither J. P. Morgan nor James R. Keene are members of the stock exchange.

A London dispatch said: "The larger financial interests here are at the moment attaching more importance to the reported patching up of differences among prominent financiers on your side than to anything else. Information has been received in this city from exceptionally well informed American quarters that peace now prevails between rival financial forces and that good relations for the future are assured."

There are good reasons for believing that all of the recent estimates of the short interest in the market have been entirely too small. Most of these estimates have placed the outstanding short contracts at between 200,000 and 300,000 shares. The statement that the outstanding short interest in the market has at times been in excess of 1,000,000 shares will doubtless be discredited by many, but such is the belief of experienced floor traders. The statement was made some weeks ago that Harry Weil at one time had personally 60,000 short contracts outstanding. This may or may not be an exaggeration. It must be remembered, however, that there are several hundred room traders, all of whom deal extensively on their own account. During the boom in the market which followed McKinley's second election many of these traders became millionaires, and they now think little of buying or selling from 10,000 to 20,000 shares. Up until the last two weeks professional traders were bearish on the market to a man, and the outstanding short interest was at times far larger than was generally suspected. At one time Oliver, Field, Savin, Weil, Content, Codner and fully a dozen other room traders were short of the market from 10,000 to 40,000 shares each. There were at least a hundred other traders who had outstanding short contracts ranging between 500 and 8,000 shares. Experienced observers of the market believe that at several times during the last six months room traders alone had fully 500,000 short contracts outstanding. Then there are the larger traders to remember. John W. Gates thinks little of backing his judgment to the extent of 50,000 to 75,000 shares. There are other capitalists included in what is known as the "western crowd" who speculate on almost as extensive a scale as Gates. William Rockefeller and H. H. Rogers are believed to have been among the heaviest short sellers in the stock market during the last six months. When the miscellaneous short interest is considered the statement made by traders that at times the short interest in the market amounted to over 1,000,000 shares does not appear so incredible.—New York Commercial.

THE MONEY MARKET

BAG OF DIAMONDS FOUND BY ICEMAN AT ROADSIDE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Arthur Bates, an ice wagon driver, picked up a chamois bag containing $3,000 worth of diamonds belonging to Mrs. Douglass Dickinson of Bay Ridge yesterday. Bates delivers ice at Mrs. Dickinson's house and knew about her losing the diamonds several days ago. Yesterday he noticed a bag lying near the road. He decided to annex it for a tobacco pouch. When he untied the string and saw the diamonds he whipped up his team and drove to Mrs. Dickinson's. She found all the jewels intact and paid him the $100 reward.

PUBLIC STILL ABSENT IN SECURITY MARKET

Buying Appeared to Be Entirely Professional in Wall Street Yesterday.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.

Stocks were highly irregular yesterday, but the market maintained a very firm undertone, and after a series of alternating declines and recoveries closed firm and higher. While the street heard much of the increased volume of investment buying, several of the movements of the day bore all the earmarks of professionalism. There was a decided increase in this feature of business. In the end it served the purpose of forcing short covering and influenced the closing rally.

Speculative sentiment appears somewhat more hopefully inclined, but the street was not overconfident, realizing that in view of the very extensive declines the rally has not been very sharp and that stock taken over from weak holders or acquired in supporting the market was sent to be liquidated. The best feature of the day was the cessation of disturbing rumors.

The news developments of the day were of a mixed variety, but the favorable features outweighed those of an adverse nature. The favorable showing as to the corn crop outlook was, however, somewhat offset by the poorer condition of wheat, by the less satisfactory weather returns of the weekly bulletin and by the firmness of cereal prices.

WITNESS WAS ARRESTED.

Alderman Lang Has a Grievance Against the Allegheny Police and Threatens Trouble.

The Allegheny police and Alderman William Lang clashed yesterday over the arrest of Mike Ludwichak, a Pole, and Lang threatens to go before District Attorney John C. Haymaker because Special Officer Benjamin Ehrhardt arrested Ludwichak. The latter on Friday made information against Officer John Burns and Watchman William Rodgers of the Lindsay-McCutcheon plant in Allegheny, charging them with assault and battery. Ludwichak was discharged from the works on Friday and refused to go until he had been paid the wages due him. In resisting ejection he was beaten, it is said, by Burns and Rodgers.

While on his way to the alderman's office yesterday Ludwichak was arrested by Ehrhardt on a warrant sworn out by Burns and Rodgers charging him with disorderly conduct. After waiting half an hour Alderman Lang learned that his witness was locked up. He demanded his release, but could not get it until he had put up a $30 forfeit. At the hearing both Burns and Rodgers waived hearing for court.

Magistrate Samuel Abernathy fined Ludwichak $10 and costs on the charge of disorderly conduct. He paid the fine.

Alderman Lang is very indignant at the Allegheny police for arresting a witness on his way to a hearing and threatens to prosecute Special Officer Ehrhardt.

MAJORITY OPPOSES THE CANAL TREATY

PANAMA, Aug. 11.—The latest news from Bogota is not favorable to the ratification of the canal treaty. A correspondent writes that seven senators favor and 17 oppose ratification, and that unless some radical change occurs soon all efforts to secure its ratification will fail.

In the Oil Fields

Developments in the Lower Southwest yesterday were of the routine order. The new strike on the Bickel farm, south of Petroleum, Harrison county, is attracting some attention. It is thought that the first estimate of its production—200 barrels a day—is not too high, and in consequence there is quite a demand for leases in that locality.

On Cowe run, 2½ miles east of Hartley-Postoffice, in Calhoun county, the Olympia Oil Company has drilled its test on the B. R. Raybuck farm through the salt sand and has developed a small showing of oil.

On Bens run, Pleasants county, Queen, Mercer & Co. have completed a test on the Selmon Wells farm and have a show for a small well in the Maxon sand. In the same district, Griffith, Lawrence & Co. have completed a test on the James Holdren farm and have a show for a 10 or 15-barrel pumper.

North of Cairo, Ritchie county, the Hudson Oil Company's No. 22 on the Harkness tract has declined to 185 barrels a day. This is the first time this well's production has fallen below 200 barrels a day since it was completed and shot.

In the fifth sand development at Fairview, Marion county, the Fisher Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the C. M. Toothman farm and has a producer good for 110 barrels a day.

Northeast of the Pine Grove extension the South Penn Company's No. 1 on the T. J. Showalter farm is producing 252 barrels a day. In the extension the same company has completed No. 2 on the Sidell-Moore farm and has a 50-barrel producer from the Gordon. The same company has shot No. 5 on the L. E. Delaney farm and it responded by producing 40 barrels the first 18 hours.

The South Penn Oil Company has drilled its second test on the Taylor Talkington farm, in the Folsom district, into the stray and has a show of oil. The same company has completed No. 5 on the S. P. Starkey farm and the hole has filled up 2,000 feet with oil from the Gordon.

In the lower end of the district the South Penn is drilling at 26 feet in the sand at No. 40 on the Robinson tract, and has some gas but no oil.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Company has drilled a second test on the James Frye farm into the stray sand and have a small showing of oil.

West of Weston, Lewis county, the Reserve Gas Company's No. 1 on the Snyder Bros. farm is producing 26 barrels a day.

In the "Little Germany" district, in Marshall county, the South Penn has shot its No. 5 on the Gertrude Stein farm with 60 quarts and the well produced 90 barrels the ensuing 16 hours.

Four miles northeast of Dexter City on the Ohio side, in Noble county, H. J. Parker & Co.'s No. 12 on the Casper Schott farm has been completed and shot. The well produced 180 barrels the first 15 hours. The well has been tubed and is flowing through the tubing and 8-inch casing.

In the Newport district the Boston Oil Company has completed its test on the F. E. Dennis farm and has a show for a 25-barrel producer in the Berea grit.

Near Baden, Beaver county, Pa., Ferguson & Co. have completed a test on the Dunn heirs' farm and have a duster.

TWO MEETINGS OF RIVERMEN.

Hearing on the Location of an Ice Harbor at Cincinnati Tomorrow.

Two meetings of special interest to rivermen will take place in the next few days. J. Frank Tilley, at the head of a delegation of local Ohio river pilots, will go to Cincinnati tomorrow and present the pilots' side of the case in the mater of the location of the ice harbor which is to be erected at or near Big Hocking. Col. G. J. Lydecker, who is in charge of the improvements in that district, will conduct the hearing. It is the contention of the Ohio river pilots that the ice harbor will be a serious obstruction to navigation if put in on the right side at the curve in the river at Big Hocking.

The executive committee of the national board of steam navigation will meet in New York next Monday. J. Frank Tilley, E. D. Blackburn and James A. Henderson are the local rivermen who are members of the committee.

ARRIVALS.

DEPARTURES.

Kanawha, Poe, Charleston.
Columbia, Demaine, Morgantown.
Rose Hite, Hoag, Brownsville.

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 3.7 feet and the river was stationary.

News of the Rivers.

The Dave Wood tied up at Logstown yesterday on account of low water.

The Rival is the name of the new boat which is to be built by Capt. J. H. Hammitt for the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company to take the place of the Nellie Walton.

The water in the local rivers continues to fall slowly and there is no immediate prospect for a raise. The Kanawha was the only packet to leave yesterday for down river ports and the Columbia left for Morgantown. Both steamers had big trips.

The Mayflower took out a big excursion yesterday. Several parties from Wheeling and Wellsville have been in Pittsburgh looking her over in anticipation of making arrangements for the two-months' trip which Capt. C. E. F. Sayre has planned to take this fall.

Major W. H. Bixby of the United States engineer corps, estimates that the total fall of the Ohio river between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, 466 miles, is 280 feet. The falls at Louisville are 25 feet and the river slopes 94 feet from Louisville to Cairo, a distance of 388 miles.

Receiver's Report Accepted.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 11.—The affairs of the United States Carbon Company, which failed about a year ago, were wound up today by the court's acceptance of the receiver's report and by the latter's discharge. The property was sold for $87,000 and the sum was used in paying off creditors, netting them a trifle over 36 per cent. The total due creditors was $222,894.

WEEKLY CROP REPORT.

Summary Compiled by Weather Bureau on Data from All Parts of the Country.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions says:

The northern districts east of the Rocky mountains have experienced temperatures too low for rapid growth and maturity of crops, but elsewhere the temperature has been very favorable. The rains have been general and well distributed, but limited areas in the South Atlantic and Gulf states and portions of the upper Ohio and lower Missouri valleys continue to need rain. The west gulf coast districts and southeast Minnesota have suffered from excessive rains, and cloudy, rainy weather has been unfavorable for farm work in New England and the Middle Atlantic states.

Corn is making favorable progress in the central and western portions of the corn belt, but in the upper Ohio valley and Middle Atlantic states the outlook is less promising. While the improvement has been generally decided in the states of the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys, in the more southerly portions of these states the crop is in need of warmth.

Rains have checked somewhat the progress of spring wheat harvest, which, however, is now general throughout the spring wheat region. In North Dakota recent weather has been favorable for the development of late grain, while in southern Minnesota rust, fly and chinch bugs have seriously affected the crop.

Oat harvest is nearly finished except in New York, where it has just begun. The yields are disappointing.

Generally cotton has made favorable progress, but continues unusually late. No picking is reported, and it is estimated that this work will not be general in Texas before September 1.

In Pennsylvania and New England tobacco is in need of sunshine and warmth, and in Ohio its condition is only fair, but elsewhere the crop is doing well.

In Iowa, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and Maryland the outlook for apples ranges from fair to good. In New York less than an average crop is promised; elsewhere the crop is light.

GRAND CHIEF CHOSEN.

W. S. Stone Elected to Fill the Vacancy in the Brotherhood of Engineers.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug 11.—(Special.)—W. S. Stone of Iowa division No. 1 has been elected to fill the term of grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, made vacant by the deaths of P. M. Arthur and A. B. Youngson. Stone has been railroading for 24 years on the Missouri division of the Rock Island system and has been chairman of the general board of adjustment of that road for a number of years.

The members of the order feel certain that the new chief will continue the policy of the organization placed in execution by the late P. M. Arthur, whose conservative principles are said to have done much toward giving the brotherhood its strength. Stone will at once take up a residence in this city.

NO DIRECTIONS NECESSARY; ALL KNOW THE GAZETTE

That the magenta colored wrapping paper used in The Gazette's mailing department is widely known to the postal clerks was cleverly illustrated yesterday. A small package, about 2x8 inches in size, containing the headings of some papers returned for credit, was mailed at a distant office. There were no directions whatever placed on the outside—not even the word "Pittsburgh"—though the package was properly stamped and postmarked. In this condition it was promptly delivered at this office. The mail clerk on the train had no other guide as to the destination of the package than the wrapper. He was evidently accustomed to seeing packages wrapped in this distinctively colored paper and upon the strength of this knowledge sent the package to its proper destination.

SCHOOL HOUSE WILL BE SOLD

Twenty-Second Ward Property in South Linden Avenue Is Valued at $20,000.

PADEN VALLEY, W. VA., PLAN

John Dimling Has Two Oakland Building Projects That Will Involve $175,000. Two New Factory Buildings—Novel Method of Cleaning Walls.

The school directors of the Twenty-second ward have voted to dispose of the old school house property at the northwest corner of South Linden avenue and Edgerton street. The lot is 120x168 feet and has on it a four-room brick school house. It is a very desirable property for residence purposes, as it is near the $60,000 residence of Joseph A. Langfitt and only a short distance from the handsome homes of S. J. Macfarren and Dr. J. O. Bockstoce. The property is valued at $20,000. Three squares up Linden avenue, between Fair Oaks street and the boulevard, the new school house, which is called the "Linden Avenue School of the Twenty-second Ward," is nearly completed and will be occupied in September. This is one of the handsomest and best arranged buildings in the city and will accommodate fully one-third more pupils than the old school house.

Big Lot Plan in West Virginia.

Pittsburghers are largely interested in a big allottment which is to be put on the market, October 1, at Paden Valley, W. Va. It will be owned by the Paden Valley Land Company of which Thomas A. Watkins of the Prudential Trust Company of the East End, is the prime mover. D. Behen & Son have secured the exclusive agency for the plan and are now on the ground locating two new manufactories. The property consists of 200 acres 42 miles southwest of Wheeling, on the Ohio River railroad. To give it a good outlet the promoters have built a street car line from Martinsville to Sistersville. Paden Valley will be the center point on this line, and here the power house and car barns are being erected. Four large manufactories are already located on the river bank next to the allotment. A water works is now in course of erection and the company is arranging to put in gas and water connections this fall. The lots will be large, 40 and 50 feet front, and most of them will face in streets that are graded and paved.

Oakland Buildings to Cost $175,000.

John Dimling is preparing to start two more building projects in Oakland that will together involve an expenditure of nearly $175,000. Bids are now being taken by Architect F. C. Sauer for two three-story brick apartment houses which Mr. Dimling proposes to build on the south side of Oakland street, opposite the Harry, George, Mathilda and Laura apartments, in the same street. The new flats will cost $60,000 and will be ready for occupancy by next April. On the large plot of vacant frontage which Mr. Dimling owns at Forbes and Halkett streets, he is contemplating the erection of 50 houses to cost $2,500 each. These will be six and eight-room bricks, and in this locality should be excellent renters.

Bids are being taken by Architect M. Nirdlinger for a three-story brick building for the Pittsburgh Label Company, in Liberty avenue, near Fortieth street. The building will measure 153x80 feet and will cost about $35,000. The same architect is preparing plans for a four-story brick warehouse for Hausman & Wimmer in Locust street, near Gist street, to cost $20,000.

Cleaning Building by Sand Blast.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the cleaning of the old Merchants and Manufacturers' National bank building, at Nos. 215-219 Fourth avenue. The building is perhaps the blackest in the avenue, and the change to a pinky white front is plainly noticeable for blocks away. A novel method is used in cleaning. Instead of the customary way of turning on a hose with water or scrubbing the wall with a soapy preparation, as is generally done on big city buildings, the sand blast is used. Fine white sand is drawn up to the scaffold in buckets and there forced through a rubber and steel hose by pneumatic pressure. When the hose is turned on a block of stone it leaves a clean white streak behind it and does not disfigure the front.

Architect James T. Steen is ready for estimates on a four-story brick factory building, 72x90 feet, for Mameaux & Son. It will be at No. 2468 Fifth avenue, and will contain an awning factory, offices, operating department and stable.

The First Presbyterian church of Thornburg has commissioned Architect S. J. McClarren to prepare plans for a brick church to cost $40,000.

Architect Harry S. Bair has plans for two residences, a $1[illegible] house for J. P. K. Miller in Scottdale, and an addition to the residence of Dr. Robert Taylor in Friendship park.

Revised bids are being taken by Architects E. J. Carlisle & Co. on the Union National bank building in Braddock avenue, Braddock. It will cost approximately $30,000.

The Summit Park Land Company will build a $60,000 hotel on its plan from plans by Architects Ernst & Hanselmann.

New Owner Made Known.

The buyer of the Robert D. McGonigle property on the north side of Wallingford street, Twentieth ward, proves to have been Ellen G. Miller. The property consists of a large two-story brick house on lot 50x181.5 feet, and was sold recently through A. Z. Byers & Co. for $20,000.

Junilla street: W. J. White sold for Attorney J. O. Petty to Mrs. Jane Jardine a two-story brick house, lot 24x100 feet, at Junilla and Payton streets, Thirteenth ward, for $4,300.

Chaplin street: Samuel W. Black & Co. sold for Harry Hastie to M. Sebeck No. 5016 Chaplin street, a four-room frame house, for $1,400.

Belmar place: Hhe Westmoreland Building and Loan association sold to John B. Flint and others three properties, 33x93 feet each, on the north side of Race street, near Collier street, Twenty-first ward, for $9,000.

Idlewild street: Charles P. Brown sold to Z. L. Estep an improved lot, 28x100 feet, on the south side of Idlewild street, Twenty-first ward, for $5,250.

Doings in Ambridge.

Saturday will be a field day at the new town of Ambridge, adjoining old Economy town, on account of the opening of the new bank of the Ambridge Savings and Trust Company. The company's handsome new building at Charles and Merchant streets has been splendidly furnished. The building cost $40,000.

The Ambridge Lumber and Building Company, of which Max G. Leslie of Pittsburgh is president, has broken ground for 10 new residences to cost $3,500 each, in Mapiewood avenue. F. and D. Bryola have also broken ground for a $25,000 business building in Merchant street, a few doors from Charles street, to front 60 feet, three stories high. Miles J. Eastman has plans completed for a new residence on Melrose avenue, to cost $9,000, and John Bell, Sr., of Monessen will build a new block in Mapiewood avenue, to cost $10,000.

Wylie avenue: Samuel Rothman sold to Benjamin Marcus No. 1534 Wylie avenue, a three-story brick house, lot 20x85 feet, for $6,300.

Wyoming street: S. Kaufmann sold to Richard Shields and Fred W. Miller two properties, 20x145 feet each, on the west side of Wyoming street, near Greenbush street, Thirty-second ward, for $5,000.

At the office of the building inspector the following permits were issued yesterday: C. A. Finley, for alterations and repairs on his residence at Linden avenue and Beechwood boulevard; Twenty-first ward, cost $9,000; Harry Blair, for extension to building in Lincoln avenue, Twenty-first ward, cost $1,800; James Finn, frame dwelling, Boston and Belan streets, Fourteenth ward, cost $1,800.

Building Boom in July.

The monthly report of the bureau of building inspection, issued yesterday, showed that a great many permits for valuable houses were issued during the month and was a large increase over June. In June 135 more permits were issued than there were in July, but with a decreased value of $695,262. The July report showed that permits were issued for 169 new buildings, valued at $2,838,810; 27 additions to buildings, costing $82,775, and 21 buildings repaired, costing $307,851. This makes a total of 217 permits issued for buildings costing $3,229,436. Of the buildings, 43 were brick, 96 were frame, 25 were brick veneered, 1 was ironclad, 2 were brick and frame and 1 was of stone.

The Third ward led in the cost of buildings, there being two permits issued for building to the amount of $750,000. The First ward followed with three permits, the cost of the buildings being valued at $724,000. The Fourteenth ward in June led either of these wards, there being permits issued to the amount of $823,000. Eight permits were issued, however, in July in this ward, one of them being for St. Paul's catherdal at Fifth avenue and Craig street, which is to cost $800,000, the other seven buildings costing $23,000. In July 217 permits were issued and in June there were 352. The values, however, differ greatly, the cost of building in July totaling $3,229,436; and the cost of the ones in June, although there were 135 more, totaling only $2,534,174.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 11.—Spirits turpentine firm at 49c bid. Rosin, nothing doing. Crude turpentine firm at $1 75, $3 25. Tar firm at $1 65.

The Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Cotton, spot dull; middling uplands, 12.75; middling gulf, 13.00; sales, none; cotton futures closed very steady; August, 11.99; September, 10.62; October, 9.92; December, 9.71; January, 9.72; February, 9.70; March, 9.72.

SWEET POTATOES ARE LOWER IN PRICE

Scarcity of Home Raised Tomatoes Continues—Hay Market Easier.

While there is a firmer feeling in white potatoes, owing to a reduction in receipts, which have not been as liver for several days as they were a week ago, sweet potatoes are more abundant and prices are lower. Sweets are coming forward in excellent condition, and quality so far has been above the average. Tomatoes continue scarce, and quotations are advancing; there is plenty of fruit on the vines, but ripening is very slow, and shippers have few to offer. Home grown tomatoes have been hard to get at any price for a few days, and shipments from nearby points are almost as limited. Lima beans are now coming forward in quotable quantities, and are offering at 25 to 30 cents a quart. Cabbage is firmer and quotations are higher, on account of reduced offerings. Fruits remain just about as last quoted, with receipts yesterday light.

The hay market is easier, and timothy is offered at slightly reduced figures. Demand is fair, but there is no great haste to buy displayed on the part of consumers, and there is enough for all. Straw holds its own, except that rye is down 50 cents a ton. Oats are steady with arrivals light. Corn remains firm, and dealers are evidently expecting the market to advance before long. Millfeed is unchanged, with bran holding its own firmly.

Nominal flour quotations are unchanged, though some jobbers are again allowing a concession of 5 cents a barrel for attractive orders. Mills are firm, however, and there has been no recession from the advanced position taken a few days ago. Sugar is quoted as at the beginning of the week, but rumors of price cutting again fill the air, and the market is disturebd. Coffee remains without excitement, with local selling fairly steady. Primal markets are kept unchanged because Brazilian receipts are running below expectations. Navy beans are dull, and prices are lower.

Canned goods present no new features, and prices continue without special change, although the tendency in corn is steadily upward. Tomatoes are in a peculiar condition, as crop reports from different parts of the country vary, and it is hard to know just what to expect.

The egg market is quiet, although there is an improved demand for strictly fancy stock, and, for this grade, prices are hardening. Shippers are not inclined to let consignments come forward at figures ruling a week ago. Butter is steady at the advance of Monday, and cheese is unchanged, although the market is easier.

The only change in poultry is an advance in old fowls, which are scarcer, and, until spring chickens grow to larger size, will be held for highest prices. Springers are coming in freely, but are too small for some purposes.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

HORSE MARKET.

The auction sale at the exchange yesterday was not so well attended as was that of last Tuesday, nor were there so many horses offered. About 100 head, of all grades, were disposed of, the reduction in the number of offerings holding prices steady.

Retail selling continues quiet, and there are no special features in the market. Demand will not pick up much until after the first of the coming month, when business for the fall gets under way.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—In drygoods a good business has been done with jobbers, and while this has not been reflected at first hands a more urgent request for prompt shipment is noted as well as a desire to secure pledge of such a course on all new orders. Collections are not altogether satisfactory and very few houses are discounting.

WHEAT AND OATS HIGHER; CORN LOWER AT CLOSE

Mixed Sentiment in Chicago Pits Resulted in Considerable Uneasiness.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Wheat opened firm on the government crop report, which was construed as moderately bullish. Local traders were disposed to sell on the small advance which resulted in an easier tone, but with a strong corn market prices soon rallied. Some of the large interests that were such persistent sellers yesterday were again on that side of the market, and on the least show of strength the selling pressure became so great that reaction always followed. During the last hour the market became quite weak. Primary receipts were 872,100 bushels, against 1,273,800 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 195 cars, which, with local receipts of 254 cars, 22 of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points of 314 cars, against 332 cars last week, and 622 cars a year ago.

Unseasonably cool weather throughout the corn belt caused firmness in corn in spite of the bearish construction placed upon the crop report. Opening prices were easier, but a good demand from prominent bull operators who were influenced by the fears of early frosts soon caused a rally and the market became quite strong. The late weakness in wheat, however, had a depressing effect and all of the early strength was lost, the close being at about yesterday's figures. Local receipts were 234 cars, with 27 of contract grade.

Oats ruled firm, respite the fact that the government report was in some respects bearish. Local bulls were active buyers of the distant months and there was little on the market at any time. Local receipts were 225 cars.

Provisions were firm at the start on buying by foreigners, but in the absence of speculative interest the market gradually turned easy. September pork closed 5@7½c lower at $12 35@12 37½. September lard was unchanged at $8 07½ and ribs were off 5c at $7 92½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 95 cars; corn, 185 cars; oats, 185 cars; hogs, 26,000 head.

The leading futures reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., members of the Chicago board of trade, Farmers Bank building, are as follows:

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The market for coffee futures opened steady, but at a decline of 10 points, following larger primary receipts and offerings by holders who were presumably disappointed over the lack of further advices concerning the need of rain in Brazil. There was no demand, however, and the market ruled very quiet. In the afternoon offerings were partially withdrawn and the close was steady net 5 to 15 points lower. Sales were 5,300 bags, including September at 3.70@3.75c; November at 3.90c; December at 4.00c; May at 4.65c. DRASTIC MEASURES FOR SHIPPERS WHO HOLD UP CARS

Eastbound lines out of St. Louis have hit upon a scheme to relieve the car shortage by forcing the release of cars when held by shippers. When shippers do not comply with the requests of the railroads, embargoes will be placed on them for a period not to exceed three days. It is believed that a similar plan will be put in force in this district. Railroad officials admit that the main trouble is with the shippers themselves. Many of them have an accumulation of cars and still cry for more.

The situation has not eased by any means, although the coal operators are being brought to terms by the transportation men. An official of the Pennsylvania railroad said yesterday:

"It has been stated that the coal men complain of a scarcity of cars with which to get their product to the lakes, and on the other hand the railroads say that there are not enough steamers at the various lake ports to take care of the shipments.

"These statements seem to be somewhat conflicting. I venture to say, however, that both sides are right. I know from personal knowledge that at some of the ports there are from 400 to 600 cars of coal waiting to be unloaded, and the steamers will not take the coal because it is not the size wanted at this time of the year. The case is exactly the same as selling apples. The biggest and best will go first."

The St. Louis officials have adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That each member of the Terminal association place an embargo in the regular manner on any and every industry situated on their tracks promptly when it is found that such industry has an accumulation of cars. No embargo should be made for less than three days."

Good for Baggagemasters.

The plan of the postoffice department to make railway mail service employes of all baggagemasters handling newspapers in bundles outside of pouches, is looked upon in a favorable way by railroad officials in Pittsburgh. The baggagemasters have been handling the papers for years without any compensation, although neither the railroad nor mail service could be held responsible for the loss of bundles mailed separately. The baggagemasters will now be sworn in as special officers of the railway mail service and will be held accountable for the safe delivery of papers.

Will Build More Plants.

It is reported that the Pennsylvania railroad will build two additional car plants at Altoona. One is now in course of construction, and the other, it is said, will be built by next spring. Something over $1,000,000 will be the total cost. It is the intention of the company to build all of its steel cars. It will likely be years, however, before the company will be in such a position.

B. & O. Orders New Cars.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11.—A contract was awarded today by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for additional passenger equipment involving an expenditure of about $600,000. The new rolling stock will be used to handle world's fair business next year. The order covers 40 passenger cars and 40 baggage and postal cars. Deliveries will begin in December and be completed by April 1, 1904.

Railroad Notes.

The Bessemer has begun work on a rest house at Greenville, Pa.

B. F. Bond, district passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Baltimore, was in Pittsburgh yesterday.

R. S. Porter, chief clerk in the secretary's office of the Pennsylvania Company, is spending a vacation in the east.

The old Lincoln car has been sold by the Union Pacific, which has owned it for over 37 years. It was built in 1864 at the military car shops at Alexandria, Va., for the use of President Lincoln. Between the walls is armor plate. The car will be exhibited at the St. Louis fair.

The report of the voluntary relief department, Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, for July, 1903, shows that there are 11,827 employes on that division, which is an increase of 432 over June. During the month 144 men were rejected for membership to the fund. The total number of members is 10,230, against 10,000 for June.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The activity of the mines in Leadville Basin is one of the indications of the district's strength. The Bon Air, Caribou, Home, Sixth Street, Midas and Coronado are all on the active producing list. The development work of the past six months has shown great improvement in the grade of the ore.

Among the substantial developments of the La Plata district is a double compartment shaft being sunk by the La Plata Mining & Developing Company on one of three patented claims on the same vein. So confident is the superintendent, W. W. Parshall, that the property will become a shipper as soon as opened, that he is making every preparation to get the property ready for winter work. Until the company now operating the property took hold, there was no surface improvements and very little development. The vein is from six to ten feet as shown by croppings for nearly a mile, and lies south of and parallel with the Neglected vein, about a half mile distant. The vein material appears to be of the same general character as the Neglected.

The Big Indian, four miles from Helena, made another clean-up from a 14-day run amounting to $6,300. The previous 14 days gave over $7,000. As this ore is mined and milled at a cost of less than 50 cents a ton the profits are enormous.

J. M. Graves has discovered a rich vein of gold ore in Miller creek, Missoula county. Assays show over $70 per ton in gold and silver.

The lead in the High Ore mine near Basin has been cut at the end of the 2,100-foot tunnel and a large body of concentrating ore has been opened up.

William J. Kinney has sold his Snowshoe group of placer claims on Cedar Creek, Missoula county, the price running well up in the thousands. It is said that over $700,000 in placer gold has been taken from this district in the past.

The report of the Helena United States assay office for the month of July shows that the total receipts for the month were $214,152 28 as compared with $217,760 46 for the same month last year.

From Montana gold to the amount of $180,548 32 was received as compared with $172,601 95 for the same month of the preceding year.

The principal producers of gold for the assay office in Montana are as follows, for the month: Fergus county, $68,740; Jefferson county, $16,818; Lewis & Clark, $17,395; Madison, 28,081; Park, $19,689.

The most notable event in a mining way in Helena was the bonding of the noted Jay Gould mines by the Standard Ore Company of Helena. The Jay Gould is located in Canyon Creek range, 20 miles north of Helena, and was worked for years, over $1,000,000 in gold and silver being taken out. It paid hundreds of thousands in dividends. There are miles of underground workings. The mine has not been worked for some time.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Spot tin broke sharply in London, closing about £1 lower at £127 10s, while futures were 12s 6d lower at £123 15s. MOB CONFERENCE AT CHAUTAUQUA

John Temple Graves Creates Excitement and His Views Are Opposed.

SEPARATION OF THE RACES

This, He Says, Is the Only Solution of the Lynching Question—He Justifies Mob Law and Says It Is Protection for Women.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Unique among all summer gatherings is the "Mob Conference" now in progress here. The increase of mob spirit shown by feuds, lynchings, riots, assassinations and other lawless happenings gives great importance to this conference. Among today's speakers was John Temple Graves of Atlanta, Ga., who defended lynch law as a remedy for the crime of rape, holding that though lynching is a crime, it is justified by the crime which provokes it and will never be discontinued until that crime is eliminated. This can be done only by the separation of the two races. Mr. Graves said further:

> The problem is not how to prevent lynching, but the larger question: How shall we destroy the crime which always has and always will provoke lynching? The answer which the mob returns to this vital question is already known. The mob answers it with the rope, the bullet and sometimes with the torch. And the mob is practical. Its theory is effective to a large degree.
>
> The lyncher does not exterminate the rapist, but he holds him mightily in check. As a sheer, cold, patent fact, the mob stands today as the most potential bulwark between the women of the south and such a carnival of crimes as would infuriate the world and precipitate the annihilation of the negro race. The masses of the negro are not afraid of death coming in a regular way. They love display and the spectacular element of a trial and execution appeals to their imagination.
>
> There is no real remedy but one. No statute will permanently solve this problem. Religion does not solve it. Education complicates it. Politics complicates it. "The truth which lies beyond and above all these temporizing expedients," he concluded, "is that separation is the logical, the inevitable, the only solution of this great problem of the races."

The conference which followed Mr. Graves' lecture was a scene of the wildest excitement, not equaled even by those on the liquor question last week. All the southerners on the grounds were present to defend their representative, and the northerners turned out in masses to learn the true state of affairs. Contradictions and interruptions were made continually from all parts of the house, but Mr. Graves never wavered from his calm, quiet manner.

A statement that raised a storm of opposition was that since the education of the negro had begun there was more crime among them than before. In closing the conference Mr. Graves aimed a blow at Dr. J. B. Buckley, editor of the New York Christian Advocate, who lectured this afternoon on "Mental and Moral Contagion," treating the question of mobs from a psychological point of view.

Mr. Graves said: "I heard Mr. Buckley say this afternoon in tones of thunder that the Lord made all nations of one blood. What surprised me was that a man of Dr. Buckley's learning and culture should split a verse of scripture to make a point. He is a saint, while I am a sinner, but I can quote the rest of the verse, which says: 'And He set a boundary to their habitation.' The Lord never meant alien nations to dwell together."

WAS NOT CONVINCED BY TRACTION CLAIM

Supt. Nicewanger Insists That Pittsburgh Ralways Co. Must Abide by Its Agreement.

The repaving of Forbes street with asphalt, from Craft avenue to Craig street, is being delayed on account of a misunderstanding of the respective proportions which the Allegheny County Light Company, the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the city are supposed to pay. It was understood by E. G. Nicewanger, superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers, that each of the three was to pay one-third of the cost of repaving.

It appears, however, that the traction company thinks it ought to pay only for repaving but one-third of the space from the curb line of Forbes street to the edge of the ditch which the Allegheny County Light Company is digging for its conduits. As the Allegheny county company is owned by the Philadelphia Company, which also owns the Pittsburgh Railways Company, it is evident that by this arrangement the Philadelphia Company would save considerable money, which the city would then have to pay.

Supt. Nicewanger has been conferring with the officers of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and has been unable to see the force of their arguments. In fact, he informed them that it would be only fair if they were required to pave all the street from Craft avenue to Craig street, on the ground that the present placing of new rails and the consequent tearing up of the street puts the thoroughfare in bad shape.

The railways company has been criticised for the apparent careless way in which the Ligonier block paving on the rise ending at Craft avenue, has been replaced, after the new tracks have been laid, but the superintendent exonerates the company.

"The street will be paved properly in time, at the traction company's expense," he said. "I instructed the company to lay the blocks taken up as soon as possible, and when the torn-up street has settled the company will do the work over again. I wanted the temporary paving to be done as expeditiously as possible, so that the street could be used for traffic."

The superintendent said that in Fifth avenue there is a stretch of paving that was laid by the company a year ago, and it is only now, when the street bed has settled, that he has told the company to lay the pavement again.

ALLY FOR SAM PARKS.

President of the Bridgeworkers' Union Takes Hand in Troubles of New York Workmen.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Frank Buchanan, president of the International Bridgeworkers' union, has joined the local housesmiths' trouble and he sides with Sam Parks. In a letter just made public, Buchanan explains how "in the latter part of April, agreements were reached through officers of the international organization, between the employers of bridge and structural iron men applicable to the cities of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and other large cities. These agreements were substantially copies of each other."

Mr. Buchanan declared the arbitration agreement of the employers conflicted with the present agreement between the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's unions and structural iron manufacturers and erectors. He believes the union cannot consistently agree with the employers.

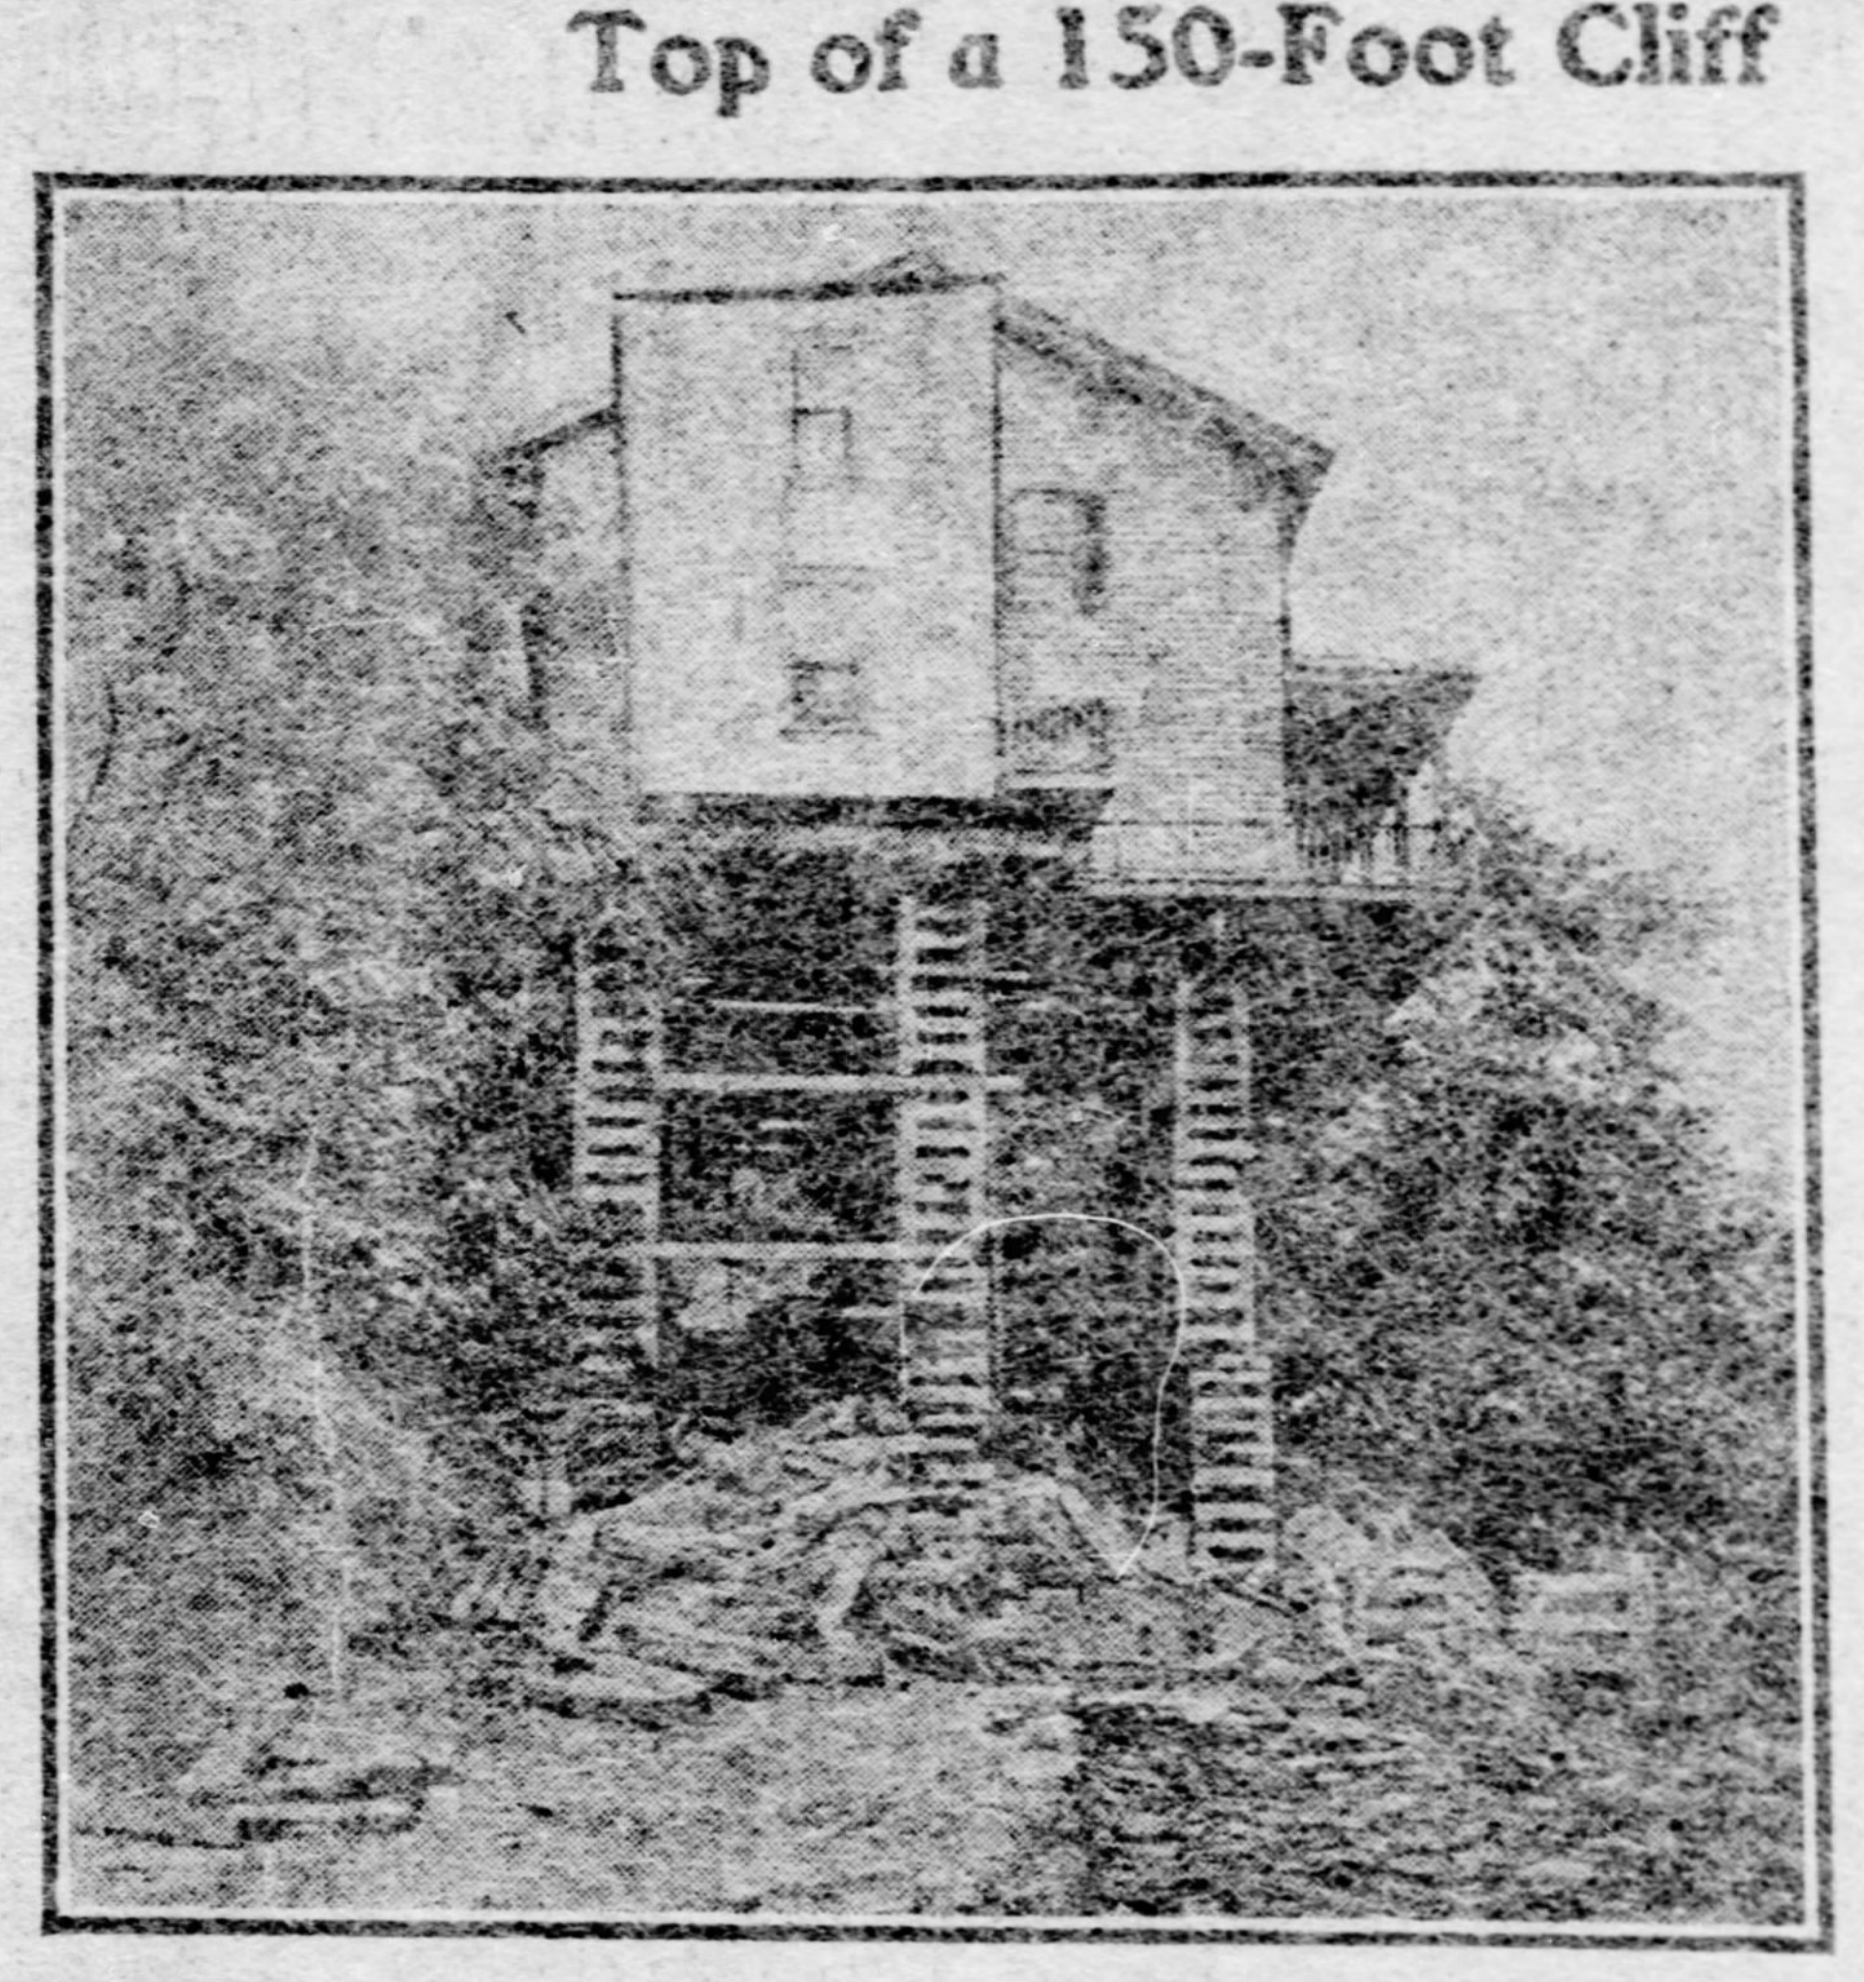
The action of Buchanan only affects the situation in New York and prevents the men employed by the Fuller Construction Company and American Bridge Company from joining the union advocates of arbitration in the local builders' strike.

FRANK A. PARKER.

SAW ALL THE SHOWS ON STOLEN MONEY

Leo Daugherty, aged 14, of White street, McKeesport, was arrested at Kennywood park yesterday afternoon and confessed that he had stolen $67 from a woman in McKeesport. The boy, in company with two companions of nearly his own age, attracted the attention of the visitors at the park by their lavish display of money. They had visited all the amusements and produced large-sized bills to pay for tickets.

Raising Big Residences to Top of a 150-Foot Cliff



The greatest feat in house moving ever attempted in Allegheny county, and perhaps this state, is now in progress at Brown station, where the massive Brown homestead and two other large houses owned by Capt. Samuel S. Brown are being raised 150 feet, to the top of a high cliff overlooking the Monongahela river. When they get up there they will be rolled back nearly 200 feet to the site of a new town that is being built by Capt. Brown.

The house shown in the accompanying picture is a frame structure, 30x32 feet, and contains 12 rooms. It is a short distance from the Brown homestead and G. Dauenhauer & Sons, who have the contract for moving it, expect that a month will be required in getting the building to its final resting place on top of the hill. The work is dangerous, as the building is being moved along the edge of a steep cliff, and the slightest mistake on the part of the workmen would send it crashing to the bottom of a deep ravine. The Brown homestead has already been raised several feet off its foundation and a large frame house a short distance from it and occupied at present by Capt. Brown, will be started within a few days.

DOES NOT EVEN REACH DIGNITY OF A DENIAL

Supt. McTighe Says the Talk of Friction in Police Circles Is All Rot—He Is Very Well Satisfied.

Supt. of Police McTighe is of the opinion that the talk of lack of harmony in the safety department is all tommyrot. In an interview yesterday he omitted the tommy, fearing, doubtless, that it might be construed as a slap at Supt. of Detectives Thomas McQuaide, and that would never do, during these days of perfect peace and tranquility.

"It's all rot!" said McTighe yesterday, "this talk that things are going to the bad in this department. It is so rotty that it doesn't even reach the dignity of a denial. Everything is lovely. We're a happy family over here in the safety building. Nothing doing in strife; we leave that to the newspapers.

"I had officers at the Wylie avenue house last Sunday, and an effort was made to arrest Sadie McGinley. We haven't got her yet, but we will as soon as we can prove anything.

"I am going to keep at this job and there will be no resignation on my part, nor any removing by the director or the mayor. I know what I am doing. This talk of a lack of harmony may sound well in print, but it's absurd, and those closely connected with things know it is. It's all rot, r-o-t, rot."

Mayor Hays will preside at the trials before the police board this morning, in place of Director Moore, who is on his vacation. It was said at police headquarters that the session of the board would not last longer than a half hour. Four policemen, among whom is John A. Kennedy, who accuses Capt. Matthew Gorman and Lieut. Charles A. Grimes of assaulting him in the public safety building, will be tried.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE TAKES UP NEW DUTIES

New Division of Labor in Steel Corporation Being Put in Practical Operation.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The advisory committee of the Steel Corporation, composed of E. C. Converse, Daniel C. Reid and William Edenborn, has taken charge of all questions relating to manufacturing, transportation and production, matters heretofore handled in detail by the president.

The new division of labor will make it incumbent upon the hands of subsidiary companies to report to the advisory committee as well as the president. The advisory committee finds that the transportation branch, so far as it applies to the corporation's own roads and fleets, is in excellent condition. The lake fleet is handling an enormous tonnage, which for the season will be as great if not greater than in 1902. Some of the big steamers of the fleet have been breaking all carrying records this year, and the prediction is made that the gross earnings for the present season will exceed $10,000,000.

The advisory committee will pay especial attention to the threatened freight blockade in an endeavor to prevent another congestion such as that of last spring.

FRANK A. PARKER.

Bank Robber Released.

After serving six years in the Western penitentiary, Samuel Freeman was released yesterday. Freeman gained no commutation by good behavior and was known as an ugly prisoner. He was implicated, with three others, who escaped, in the robbery of the Indiana bank in 1897.

Mrs. Tupman, a prominent lady of Richmond, Va., a great sufferer with woman's troubles, tells how she was cured.

"For some years I suffered with backache, severe bearing-down pains, leucorrhœa, and falling of the womb. I tried many remedies, but nothing gave any positive relief.

"I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in June, 1901. When I had taken the first half bottle, I felt a vast improvement, and have now taken ten bottles with the result that I feel like a new woman. When I commenced taking the Vegetable Compound I felt all worn out and was fast approaching complete nervous collapse. I weighed only 98 pounds. Now I weigh 109½ pounds and am improving every day. I gladly testify to the benefits received."—MRS. R. C. TUPMAN, 423 West 30th St., Richmond, Va.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women. Perhaps she has just the knowledge that will help your case—try her to-day—it costs nothing.

BRITISH PLANT TO BE REMODELED

American Engineer Is Hired at Big Salary to Americanize the Concern.

JOHN BULL LEARNING HOW

Superiority of American Methods Acknowledged and First Effort to Utilize Yankee Ideas Has Begun—Young Engineer Promises Results.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Great Britain has pocketed her pride and is now looking for young Americans to Americanize her manufacturing establishments. The latest American who will Americanize a British business is Alfred M. Mosscrop, who for many years has been one of the Steel Corporation lieutenants. He will sail on the Cedric Friday, accompanied by his wife and two children.

Mr. Mosscrop is under contract to the Dorman & Long Company, limited, of Middleborough, in the northwest riding of Yorkshire, on the River Tee, one of the largest rolling and structural stell mills in Great Britain. It is understood that he will receive a salary larger than that of a bank president. He is asked to show results the second year, and he is quoted as saying that if he did not do this in the first nine months the firm could cancel the contract. Among other things Mr. Mosscrop will do will be to make a new plan of the English works and a good bit of the machinery now used will go to the scrap pile.

Mr. Mosscrop was born in Brooklyn 38 years ago. He attended public school, where he graduated, and later the Polytechnic institute. He entered Cornell university in the civil engineering course in 1881 and graduated in 1885. He became assistant engineer on the Kings county elevated railroad. From there he went to Osage, Kan., and was assistant engineer in laying the railroad to Fort Dodge. Cornell then called him back as instructor in civil engineering. During vacations he was occupied as draughtsman in the bridge works at Rochester.

While in Rochester the attention of the Steel Corporation was drawn to Mr. Mosscrop and he was made engineer and manager of one of the plants in that city, which position he held for about 15 years. Eighteen months ago he remodeled the big steel plant of the Baltimore Steel Company and he has just resigned.

HAIR GROWTH

Promoted by Shampoos of Cuticura Soap

And Dressings of Cuticura the Great Skin Cure

Purest, Sweetest, Most Effective Remedies for Skin, Scalp and Hair.

This treatment at once stops falling hair, removes crusts, scales and dandruff, destroys hair parasites, soothes irritated, itching surfaces, stimulates the hair follicles, loosens the scalp skin, supplies the roots with energy and nourishment, and makes the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp when all else fails.

Millions of women now rely on Cuticura Soap assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, for annoying irritations, or too free or offensive perspiration, for ulcerative weaknesses, and many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet and nursery.

Cuticura remedies are the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the world. Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, in the severer forms, take Cuticura Resolvent, to cool and cleanse the blood. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp and blood humours, from pimples to scrofula, from infancy to age, when all else fails.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), Ointment, 50c., Soap, 25c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props.

The People's Store

"TRANSFORMATION" is the watchword at Campbell's. Hundreds of feet of the modern low plate glass show cases coming in. Exit hundreds of feet of counters and tables. Welcome whatever pertains to the most advanced ideas of the up-to-date storekeeping. A fond farewell and a certificate of honorable retirement to the fixtures that pertain to the past decade.

THE RIBBONS have taken a new stand in the middle of the store away from the wind and dust that were the drawbacks of their former location.

LADIES' NECKWEAR has come over to the main aisle and has gone under glass—everything in sight—nothing getting soiled.

ART LINENS and the Embroidery Materials have been brought to the front and are now at home opposite the elevator and main staircase.

HOSIERY AND GLOVES are shifted to a new location, where they have more room and better light.

SHOES have gone downstairs, where they have abundant room, together with that semi-privacy that a woman courts when she tries on new footwear.

COTTONS AND LINENS have given up part of their space to shoes, and by way of compensation get the large light area under the sidewalk vault lights, formerly occupied by the baggage.

TRUNKS AND BAGS and with them the Dress Suit Cases and Telescopes, will now be found on the Fourth Floor.

These are only some of the shiftings, expansions, contractions, and rearrangements that will contribute to the betterment of our store service when the Autumn trade begins.

No Summer Bowel Troubles

Not for me! I'm safe from all of them and happy. The heat of summer causes organic matter everywhere to decay. All dead vegetable or animal matter rots if not kept on ice. All undigested food in the human body will ferment a hundred times as quickly in summer as in winter. Consequence—stomach, liver, bowels poisoned, thrown out of order—sour stomach, gases, colic, diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera, appendicitis, and in some regions yellow fever and the plague. Little children suffer terribly everywhere. What does good sense tell you to do? You can't keep the human body on ice, and the drinking of ice-cold drinks does more harm than good because it stops digestion and chills the internal organs. The proper thing is to keep all impure and unnecessary matter out of the body every day, not give it a chance to sour and decay in the stomach and bowels, and poison the blood and the whole body. In this way you will stop all hot, feverish conditions, and keep your insides cool and healthy. To do it, use a medicine that is not offensive to the taste and not harsh and violent in its action. There is only one safe system-cleaner to take in the summer time, because it will not cause diarrhoea or griping, and that is

The meaning of the word "Economy" is often misunderstood. If you can make an expenditure of twenty-five dollars return a good profit, wouldn't it be economy to spend FIFTY DOLLARS and double the profit? Economy, in brief, means the using of money to GOOD ADVANTAGE—Tengwall Talk.
